Administration Uncovers $3.1 Billion Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, suddenly and perhaps with a bit of embarrassment, has surprisingly found the federal government had a $3.1 billion budget surplus last year.

The bonanza, which came after months of administration predictions that the surplus would be less then a billion dollars, resulted from income that was higher and outlays that were lower than the fledgling administration expected last January.

Preliminary figures, issued Monday by the Treasury Department and Bureau of the Budget, showed rounded-off receipts of $187.8 billion and outlays of $184.8 billion for fiscal year 1969, which ended June 30.

The surplus caused some Democrats in the Senate to comment that the administration's case for extending the income tax surcharge had been weakened.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., a leading supporter of extension, said the administration is using a new budget basis which counts things as Social Security payments. Without the change, he said, there would have been a deficit.

The most puzzling element of the unexpectedly large surplus was why there was no advance notice. As late as last week, Undersecretary of the Treasury Charles E. Walker predicted a surplus of "a little more than a billion."

That was consistent with the forecast Budget Bureau Director Robert P. Mayo made last May: About $900 million. The Johnson administration predicted almost the same figure last December and the Nixon administration echoed it in January.

The surprising surplus came primarily because the government's income was higher than it expected. Most of the bonanza came from individual income taxes, which were $2.8 billion above estimates. Corporate taxes were $1.4 billion below.

Part of that, the report said, was traceable to lower-than-expected refunds for individuals and higher-than-expected refunds to corporations. Most was due to payments of final taxes on 1968 liabilities and declaration payments on 1969 incomes higher than expected.

The surplus, no matter what its size, was a dramatic reversal from eight red-ink years, led by last year's record deficit of $25.2 billion.

It was the first surplus since a meager $240 million was recorded in 1960, the last year of the Republican Eisenhower administration. And it was the largest since 1957, when the surplus was $3.2 billion—on total outlays of $76.7 billion, less than half the size of the 1969 budget.

Commission Urges Drive On Handgun

WASHINGTON (AP) — A domestic arms race has turned many homes into arsenals and created a situation so dangerous its elimination must be national policy, President Nixon has been told.

In a message that said 24 million pistols are now in private hands, the President's anti-violence commission called for the near-total removal of the concealable handgun from American life.

The President was urged to ask Congress for laws enabling states to license all owners of pistols, restricting their possession only to those who can prove they need them. Stiff penalties would be provided for illegal possession.

Under the plan, the federal government would move to license handgun owners if a state failed to act within four years after passage of the federal law. Licenses would be limited to police officers, security guards, small businesses in high crime areas and others with a special need for self-protection.

The federal government should earmark $500 million — about $20 a gun—to pay owners for the pistols turned in under the proposed law, the commission said.

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, chairman of the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence, urged at a news conference the quick start of a federal crash program to develop an efficient nonlethal weapon to replace the pistol.

In its statement, the commission supported the essential findings of a staff report which said the quadrupling of handgun sales has edged the nation closer to mass violence.

"Civil disorders have stimulated gun buying and the growth of black and white extremist groups, leaving this country with a dangerous legacy: the highly explosive combination of fear and firearms," the staff report said.

The study report said most rightwing paramilitary groups have turned their attention from the fear of external Communist invasion to the fear of internal black maurauders. This has led to the proliferation of neighborhood protective associations, it said.

"Now arms are stockpiled in the home as well as in the hills," the staff report said.

The commission also noted 66 million rifles and shotguns are in private hands.

President Schedules Visit To War Zone In Vietnam

U.S. Moves To Reduce Casualties

Modified Strategy Sets Program Of Limited Response

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. commanders in Vietnam have modified their battlefield strategy of "maximum pressure" in recent weeks to a strategy of limited response to enemy tactics, U.S. sources said today.

Termed "protective reaction," the new strategy is designed to hold U.S. casualties down and dates from about the time the current battlefield lull began nearly six weeks ago.

"We are not abandoning the maximum pressure concept, but this certainly does represent a change in it, said one source.

The new strategy is being applied primarily in the 3rd Corps tactical zone which include Saigon and the 11 provinces around it, the area in which most of the fighting has occurred since the lull began June 18.

The sources said that one important aspect of the shift in strategy is that while reconnaissance and ambush patrols and other small units are continuing to circulate freely in the field large-scale forces are now dispatched only in response to intelligence data that indicates a good chance of meeting the enemy.

Prior to the onset of the lull, the sources said, large U.S. units were on the prowl daily in searching operations.

"About the time the enemy stopped moving in big units, so did we, said one source. "We now are relying primarily on our intelligence which is much improved, to respond in kind to whatever the enemy is doing.

The source said this apparently was what Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird referred to when he said on a television program Sunday that American battle actics had changed because the enemy had changed his.

Meanwhile, U.S. troops swept a familiar battleground northwest of Saigon today in search of North Vietnamese stragglers from the sharpest fight the Americans have reported in more than a month.

The U.S. Command said 53 enemy soldiers were killed in a lightning-like pincer thrust Monday into the often contested area known as the Citadel. It is 25 miles from Saigon.

U.S. officers said documents found afterward indicated the fight spoiled plans for a series of attacks on American patrol and artillery bases.

The 25th Infantry Division threw more than 1,000 troops along with tanks and armored personnel carriers into the day-long fight.

Three Americans were killed and 14 wounded, the U.S. Command reported. The enemy toll was the highest reported in an engagement with American forces when other troops of the 25th Division killed 62 in a battle 50 miles northwest of Saigon.

The troops on Monday also captured six prisoners, several suspects and a quantity of arms.

Despite the size and intensity of the battle, U.S. spokesmen said there was no indication of an end to the lull in enemy attacks, now in its sixth week.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton Abrams Jr., the commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, flew to Bangkok to meet with President Nixon, who arrived there Monday to review the war picture.

Full Details Are Veiled In Secrecy

Brief Conference Also Slated With Nguyen Van Thieu

BANGKOK (AP) — President Nixon will visit South Vietnam Wednesday and confer with President Nguyen Van Thieu, responsible sources reported today.

Details of Nixon's visit to the war zone were shrouded in security precautions, and White House spokesmen would give no confirmation. But neither would they deny the report.

It was expected that the President would be in Vietnam only a few hours.

Meanwhile, Nixon's top military and diplomatic officials in Sagon flew to Bangkok today to review the situation in Vietnam with the President.

Amid conferences on Southeast Asian security with the leaders of Thailand, Nixon scheduled an up-to-the-minute review of the war with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton Abrams Jr., the commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam.

Nixon has said these talks would influence his thinking on further withdrawals of U.S troops and his assessment of the significance of the battlefield lull in Vietnam, now in its sixth week.

Nixon's published schedule for Wednesday is blank until the evening, when Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn gives a dinner for the President and Mrs. Nixon.

White House spokesmen and American military sources remained silent on the possibility of a Vietnam trip during the day, but there were no denials of the rising speculation.

There was also a possibility that Nixon would drop in on one of the six big U.S. bases in Thailand to speak to the troops.

President Lyndon B. Johnson twice visited American bases in Thailand and Vietnam, stopping each time in Vietnam at the ultra-secure American base at Cam Ranh Bay.

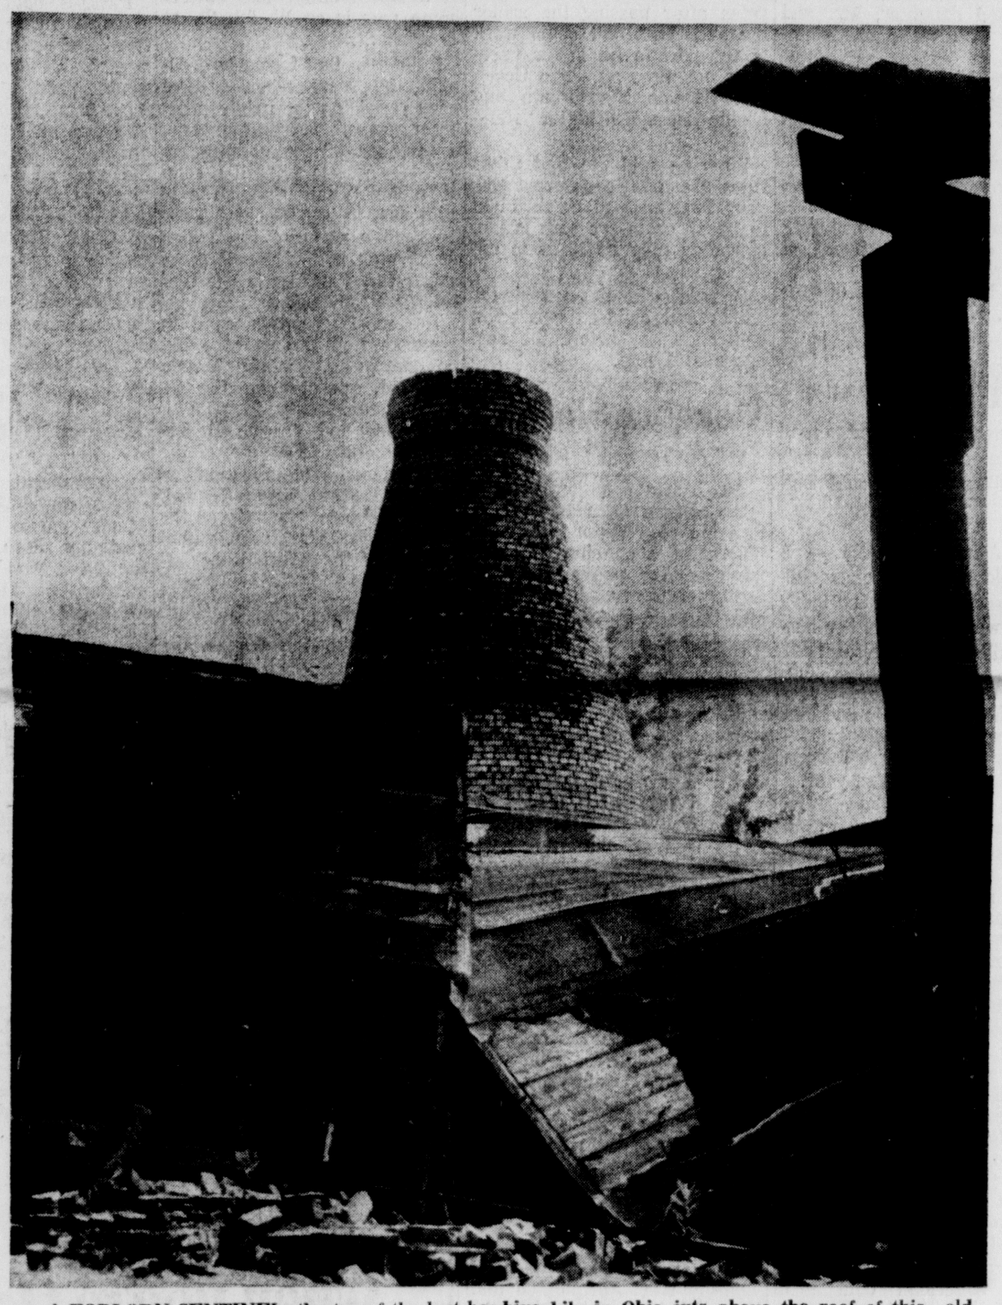

It was believed that Nixon would prefer some other stopping place, perhaps even Saigon. This would impose extra security precautions, but with the war in a lull, it was believed that a visit to the South Vietnamese capital was possible.

The President's second day in Bangkok began with a visit from Gen. Jesus M. Vargas, the Philippine secretary general of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. Then Nixon drove to Government House and met with Prime Minister Thanom, Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman, and Air Marshal Dawee Chullasapya, one of the most powerful members of Thailand's governing military clique.

Central to Nixon's meetings with the Thais were questions of regional security and what military help they can count on from the United States after the Vietnam war.

Hunt Intensified For Girls' Killers

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A special task force of 25 detectives from five police agencies today mounted an intensified search for the killer or killers of seven young women slain over the past two years. Formation of the task force was the latest move in a manhunt which in recent days has included:

—Mounted posses scouring the woodlands around Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti in search of clues to the spot where the girl was killed.

—A computerized search for a mysterious young motorcyclist with whom the latest victim, Karen Sue Beineman, 18, an Eastern Michigan University freshman, was last seen.

Miss Beineman's nude and battered body was found Saturday night, more than three days after she disappeared.

She was the eighth young woman slain in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area in the past two years and the seventh in a string of unsolved and possibly related killings.

A laborer has been charged in one of the eight killings and police have discounted his possible role in the other seven.

William F. Delhey, Washtenaw County prosecutor, in charge of coordinating the manhunt, said the task force consists of detectives from the police departments of Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Eastern Michigan Univer-

Contains Beehive Kiln

Demolition Work Begins On Ancient Local Pottery

Work started today on demolition of an ancient pottery building, at E. 2nd and Market Sts. that is of particular importance to historians because it contains what has been termed the last beehive kiln in Ohio.

The work was proceeding slowly on razing the structure, which once housed the Eagle Pottery operated by Samuel and William Baggott and later was the home of the Mountford & Son plant, which manufactured potters' supplies.

The structure was condemned months ago as unsafe by Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne. Demolition had been delayed for a variety of reasons, including the fact that the Ohio Historical Society and the East Liverpool Historical Society were interested in the possibility of preserving the old kiln.

The Ohio Society once proposed building an Ohio Pottery Museum at or near the site of the kiln. But it was dissuaded by the local society, which pointed to a number of disadvantages in the site — particularly the proximity of the railroad, the noise and dirt in the industrial area and the possibility of a river rise inundating the building and its valuable exhibits.

A lone workman was at the site today, burning old timbers that formed the roof over the rear of the plant. The roof had collapsed into the interior, one of the reasons why the fire chief condemned the building. VanDyne cited the hazard to youngsters of the neighborhood, who had been playing inside the crumbling structure.

The front of the building, which faces on E. 2nd St., is more intact. But the roof is full of holes, the floor is littered with debris and the walls obviously are unsteady. The kiln is

Petunia Plucker

For the past four years, the 2200 block of North Sydenham Street has taken first place in the Pretty Street contest. According to block chairman, Naomi Lewis, judges have been swayed by decorative window boxes displaying petunia arrangements in front of the 60 homes on the block.

This year, someone took the petunias. She told police she suspects the culprit may be a poor loser because even the roots are missing.

Debriefing Continues

Apollo Moonmen Reflect On Significance Of Voyage

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 11 moonmen have been reflecting on the significance of their momentous mission and the place they will take in history, a spokesman quarantined with them reports.

"As you know, they are not outspoken people," he said. "But they feel the significance of what they have done."

They will be released from quarantine Aug. 11 if they have not developed any illness and if nothing harmful has been found in the rocks they brought back from the moon. The rocks, collected by Armstrong and Aldrin when they explored the lunar surface July 20, are being examined in another section of the laboratory.

The astronauts today conclude what is known as a "first blush" debriefing in which they report general impressions of things that occurred during the eight day mission. Generally, they discuss the operations of various spacecraft systems.

On Thursday the moonmen meet with key Apollo officials to

Youths End Walkout At Midland Pool

Lifeguards at Midland's Veterans Memorial Swimming Pool reported back to work Monday following settlement of a dispute for higher pay which began Thursday.

After a meeting with Councilman William Vinovich, pool committee chairman, the employes agreed to return. There will be no wage increase, but Vinovich said there may be a change in scheduling to allow the lifeguards more time off.

Most of the other pool personnel walked off their jobs with the lifeguards. The pool was closed Thursday. Following a meeting Friday, the lifeguards reported to work at 1 p.m., but walked off again at 2:30 p.m.

Out-of-town lifeguards were hired to work Saturday and Sunday. The lifeguards earn $300 for the summer work. It has been the policy of the pool committee to hire as many youths as possible to allow more to make the extra money for school clothing and spending money, Vinovich explained.

Vinovich said he will tolerate no more walkouts, and the pool will be open the rest of the year. He said a possible pay raise will be considered in next year's budget.

He said the employes left the meeting Monday with a "good understanding." David Frable and Joe Honacker, who recently received Red Cross certificates after passing the senior lifeguard test, will begin work at the pool to fill in for vacations and time off. John Uccellini, Bernice Newman and Elaine Sepos will be on "stand by."

Vinovich said the Red Cross rules are a little different this year. Previously a lifeguard had to be 17 or in the 11th grade, now they may be 15 or in the 10th grade.

He said swimming lessons for adults and children are being held each day before the pool opens at 1 p.m.

Affects W. 6th St. Area

Zoning Change Approved For Site Of Funeral Home

The City Planning Commission gave quick approval Monday night to a proposed change in zoning on the north side of W. 6th St. between Jackson and Jefferson Sts., clearing the way for the Martin Funeral Home to build a new facility on part of the tract.

After conducting the required public hearing at City Hall, in which no comments were presented either for or against the change, the commission approved the application to change the zoning classification from "R-3" (medium high density residential) to "B-5" (central business district).

RURAL LN., midway between W. 6th St. and W. 7th St., forms the northern boundary of the rezoned area. The original proposal called for rezoning a tract about twice the size—taking in properties fronting on W. 7th St. But because of objections from the residential area fronting on W. 7th St., the size of the area was reduced to take in only the property bounded by W. 6th St., Rural Ln., Jackson St. and Jefferson St.

The application for change in zoning was filed several months ago. The Martin Funeral Home, Inc., acquired property in the area early this year and announced plans for construction of a new facility. The funeral home now is on W. 5th St. at Jackson St.

Buildings that formerly occupied the tract already have been razed. As the public hearing convened, Frank Mangano, a member of the commission and its secretary, read a copy of a legal notice which was published in The Review. Then he read a copy of the notice which was mailed to all property owners within 200 feet of the affected tract.

The meeting was opened to remarks from the audience, but no one spoke. Richard Martin attended, representing the funeral home. Lester H. Null, president, and George Barbaree, secretary treasurer, of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, also attended. The IBOP owns property on the south side of W. 6th St., within 200 feet of the affected area. It also sold to the Martin Funeral Home the property covered in last night's hearing.

In approving the change, the commission referred it to Council for the legislative action that will make it final. John Parsons moved for approval and asked that the record show that "there were no objections, either oral or written."

IN OTHER business, the commission gave its approval to a request from the Ferro Corp. for closing a block-long section of Putnam St. between Harvey Ave. and the Penn Central right-of-way to allow the firm to expand its Louthan plant on property which it already owns to the east of Putnam St.

The Putnam St. closing question also was referred to Council for legislative action. The commission first received the request at its July 14 meeting, discussed it and referred it to Council. At its July 21 meeting, Council indicated it would approve the request and referred it back to the commission for a formal recommendation.

Planning Coordinator Don Eckert again reviewed the history of the Ferro request. He said if Putnam St. is closed, Bushwick St. will be opened to provide access between Harvey Ave. and the east end of Klondyke. At present Bushwick is not a through street because there is no crossing over the Penn-Central right-of-way.

The proposal calls for Ferro to pay about $8,400 for relocation of the crossing protection equipment from Putnam St. to Bushwick St. The city will pay the expense of shifting a traffic light from Putnam St. to Bushwick St.

The railroad is slated to build the basic crossing and the city has promised to blacktop it. J. Clifford Conley, a member of the commission, asked if the railroad "will assume the responsibility for proper drainage at the junction of the new crossing and Bushwick St." He said the railroad now does not provide adequate drainage at its crossings at Mulberry St. and Virginia Ave., resulting in flooding of the streets.

Parsons said residents of the area should be "given due notice" of the proposal to close the stretch. George Steele, chairman, replied that a public hearing will be required by law before the segment can be closed officially. Eckert emphasized the proposal affects only one block of Putnam St.

As the discussion ended, Mayor George Willshaw made the motion to recommend to Council that it close the stretch. The motion was approved unanimously. The commission's next regular meeting will be Aug. 11.

Today she flies to Sacramento to urge passage of a pending bill outlawing cigarette advertising in California. She wants to visit each member of the Assembly Committee on Commerce and Public Utilities, now considering the bill.

Hearing Slated In Auto Mishap

An Irondale motorist will face a hearing Saturday before Mayor William Daugherty of Wellsville on charges stemming from a two-car collision Sunday afternoon that moderately damaged two vehicles, a pine tree and the corner of a private dwelling.

Charges with "reckless operation" is Tony Fortune, who Police Chief John Hephner said was cited at approximately 1:55 after the 1962 sedan he was driving struck the rear of a halted 1962 sedan driven by Robert W. Arnold of Lisbon RD 2, bounced off the Arnold vehicle, crossed a private yard, striking a pine tree, and came to rest against a corner of the home of Gale G. Williams of 1919 Clark St.

In another weekend mishap, cars driven by Earl W. Campbell of 1136 Mick Rd. and Terry R. Medley of 1339 Main St. were involved in a collision at 3rd St. and Broadway.

Hephner said the Campbell car, halted at a traffic light, was struck from behind.

By Task Force Leader

Bad Money Management Cited In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — Hugh A. Latimer, American Telephone and Telegraph Co. executive and leader of Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr.'s management task force, has pointed to poor money management as one of the major problems in state government.

Speaking at a Charleston civic club meeting Monday, the task force found that every three months the state issues 2,400 federal withholding deduction checks when four could do the job.

He explained that each of the approximately 100 "payroll units" or departments of state government issues its own checks for federal withholding taxes, Social Security, state income taxes and pension deductions twice a month.

Latimer pointed out that the practice in the business world is for corporations to issue only one check for each deduction, not separate checks for separate units.

So, that, while corporations would issue one check each for the four deductions every three months, the 100 state departments issue 600 checks for each of the four deductions every quarter.

Other examples of inefficiency and duplication in state government Latimer outlined included:

— A loss of about $1.5 million a year in interest because of the average 15 days required to process and send checks to banks. Latimer said the delay results in about $27 million "floating" in state agencies all the time.

— A 25 per cent turnover in male employes each year, necessitating the recruitment and training of about 6,000 new employes every year. Latimer said this compares with about five or six per cent turnover in industry.

— Lack of intra-agency cooperation which causes duplication. Latimer said "nearly every agency has its own reproduction equipment," and there are 16 independent data processing centers in state government.

— Loss of interest on money held in limbo because of the "encumbrance system" of purchasing, which causes money to be set aside while the ordering and billing for items to be bought is completed.

— No set of job standards for clerical workers.

Latimer said that 80 per cent of the changes recomended by the task force in its lengthy report to Moore could be accomplished by executive order. The remainder would require constitutional amendments or legislative action, he added.

He reiterated the claim that if the recommendations were followed the state could realize a savings of $50 million—about $32 million in general revenue fund expenditures and another $18 million in State Road Commission operations.

Latimer is a former vice president and general manager of Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. Since completion of the task force report, he has moved to New York and his AT&T position. He said he will return often to West Virginia to meet with task force leaders and Moore in helping implement the recommendations.

Editorial Raps Young Agitators

BALTIMORE (AP) — "Obviously," says an editorial in a Baltimore newspaper, "it is high time for the educators and civil authorities to quit coddling the student agitators, and to treat them as they deserve."

The editorial continues:

"Something that the schools and colleges of America ought to do right away is to weed out and throw out all the young radicals who defy authority and preach or practice sedition.

'And they are not looking for education.

"Not only should they be thrown out of the institutions they disgrace—they should be thrown out of the counry.

The editorial, under the headline "Oust The Reds!," appeared in the Nov. 6, 1934 edition of the old Baltimore News and the Post. It was uncovered recently in a closet of a vintage Baltimore home by its new owner.

Newspaperboy Loses $3 T 4 Young Thugs

A newspaperboy told police he was robbed of $3 Monday night by four young thugs who accosted him on Ambrose Ave. while he was collecting from customers on his route.

Robert D. Pelly, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pelly of 907 Vine St., reported to police he was walking past the former McKinley School about 9:15 when four older boys overpowered him, held him on the ground and removed the change from his pockets.

Truce Plan Suggested By Biafrans

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — The Nigerian government had no immediate response today to a Biafran proposal for a truce in the civil war while Pope Paul VI is in Africa this week.

But African sources in Kampala said intensive efforts to get a new round of peace talks started would be made in the Ugandan capital during the pontiff's visit there.

Pope Paul will arrive in Kampala Thursday for a three-day church conclave. He said on Sunday his visit also has "an ardent and painful intention—that of peace," and he expressed willingness earlier to do anything he could to mediate between the Nigerians and Biafrans.

Gen. Odumegwu Ojukwu, the Biafran leader, said Monday that he was proposing the truce because "if Africa cannot have a permanent peace now," it should "respect the pontiff's presence and honor his lofty purpose by ensuring that peace reigns in Africa during his stay on the continent."

The Nigerian government has rebuffed past proposals for a truce, contending that the Biafran secessionists would use a cease-fire to regroup without solving the basic problems involved in the war.

Observers in Kampala also noted that the presidents of two African countries that have recognized Biafa, Julius Nyerere of Tanzania and Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia, are due in Uganda Wednesday.

"I would be very much surprised if they did not talk about Biafra with President Obote and anyone from Nigeria or Biafra," a top African diplomat observed.

Pope Paul is officially visiting Africa to honor 22 Ugandan martyrs who died in the 19th Century. He also will address the closing session of the first all-Africa conference of Roman Catholic bishops the day he arrives.

Explorer Plans South Pole Trip

MONTREAL (AP) — Jean-Luc Bombardier, who traveled to the North Pole overland with the Plaisted Expedition last spring, plans to head a four-man team on a trip to the South Pole starting around Nov. 1.

Bombardier, 30, said Monday the team would start at McMurdo Sound, Antarcitca, and planned to complete the snowmobile trip in about 30 days.

Cost Revisions Sought

Buying Order Delayed On C5A Supertransport

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has served notice it may hold up further purchases of the C5A supertransport in order to get major revisions in its multibillion dollar contract with the plane's manufacturer.

Air Force Secretary Robert C. Seamans Jr. said Monday "I am reserving judgment" on buying the remaining 39 of a proposed 120-model purchase pending negotiaions with Lockheed-Georgia Corp.

Asked if the orders holdup isn't a negotiating weapon, he told reporters: "It certainly is."

Seamans met with newsmen as his assistant secretary for installations and logistics, Philip Whittaker, presented a 150-page report on the controversial C5A program requested last April 30 by Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird.

The inquiry was ordered after Congress became increasingly critical of large cost overruns once purported to be as much as $2 billion in the program to build the world's largest air transport.

The Whittaker report said the over-all program cost has gone up 52 per cent, from an original $3.369 billion to $5.125 billion. Both he and Seamans contended this compares favorably with other aircraft programs.

Both made it clear the Air Force wants more C5As for rushing huge amounts of military equipment overseas and that they believe it is a good aircraft.

But Whitaker said his study —based on reports from 11 Air Force groups and an outside civilian advisory committee— turned up "ambiguities and deficiencies" in the contract.

Among these is a repricing clause under which Lockheed could recoup certain losses by and getting dollar readjustments for the second 57-plane run.

Some have referred to this as the "golden handshake" provisions, but Whitaker said the company doesn't stand to make a huge profit.

The repricing formula, he said, "was intended to prevent a catasrophic loss; it was not intended to turn a contractor loss into a profit, and, in fact, it does not do so."

Average flyaway cost for each C5A is now $26.9 million and could go higher, the report stated. Further cost increases are possible, Whittaker said, and if they become significant the program might be jeopardized.

The report found "no clear evidence" Lockheed had "bought" the C5A contact in 1965 with a phoney bid.

Whittaker said, however, Lockheed's cost estimate was too low and the company was "overly optimistic" about how it could handle expected technical problems. A sharp increase in inflation paralleling the Vietnam war also helped bloat the cost of building he plane.

Only five models have actually been built. These are test models which have been performing satisfactorily in flight, Seamans said.

Humphrey Says Offensive Weapons Trouble Russians

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey says Soviet leaders indicated to him much more concern about American development of offensive missiles than deployment of the Safeguard antimissile system.

The 1968 Democratic presidential nominee said in an interview after a 13-day visit to the Soviet Union the Russians "are less concerned about the ABM than about our offensive weapons, the MIRVS (multiple targetable re-entry vehicles)."

The former vice president said he favors continued research on the Safeguard ABM but opposes deployment.

"The ABM is only symbolic," he said. "If we step up our defenses, they feel they have to step up their offensive weapons. But it is our offensive missiles that worry them most."

He said Russian concern over differences with China and their own economic and social needs "requires them to think in terms of a better relationship with the United States—they are more open to discussions." But he added:

"Russia is more Russian than communistic and it moves slowly. There are contesting forces at work. There is a power struggle and no one can predict what will happen."

On other matters, Humphrey said he is "seriously considering" returning to the political wars by seeking election to the Senate from Minnesota next year.

Humphrey said he discussed the American position on international cooperation in space, the Middle East, Vietnam and arms control with Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin.

In talks with scientists, Soviet editors and others, Humphrey said he found universal interest in reaching an agreement in arms control talks.

National Steel Lists Earnings

PITTSBURGH — The National Steel Corp. Monday reported second - quarter net income of $21,396,799, or $1.30 a share, versus $23,390,386, or $1.44 a share, in the same 1968 period. Sales were $320.1 million against $334.1 million a year ago.

George A. Stinson, president of the Pittsburgh - based steelmaker, pointed out, however, that National's second quarter earnings represented a 44 per cent gain from the first quarter.

He said "encouraging" steel demand is continuing into the third quarter, but that it will show the effects of "seasonal declines" from the second quarter results.

Production has started at National's jointly-owned magnesium plant in Texas and start-up aluminum production is scheduled for a jointly-owned Kentucky facility in the fourth quarter, the firm reported.

City To Warn Penn Central To Fix Drain

Solicitor J. Michael Kapp said today he plans to warn the Penn Central railway it will face possible legal action in Common Pleas Court if it fails to act promptly to clear a storm drain underneath its right-of-way that has been blamed for frequent flooding of Virginia Ave.

Kapp made the announcement after a conference with Mayor George E. Willshaw on the municipality's long - standing complaint against the railroad. The mayor said the end of Virginia Ave. at the railway tracks has been subject to flooding for months or years because of the blocked sewer on railroad property.

The railroad's Pittsburgh office has been notified repeatedly by registered letter to open the drain, but has not acted, the mayor said. The firm also has refused to grant a city request to send a street department crew onto the railway property to open the drain, he added.

Officials have attempted repeatedly to telephone a track maintenance man about the complaint, but he never has been "available," Willshaw said.

The solicitor and the mayor conferred on the problem Monday afternoon. Kapp said he will obbtain all the pertinent facts from the mayor and then write a letter to Penn Central requesting the firm to open the sewer. The railroad will be warned that the solicitor will seek authority from Council to proceed against it in Common Pleas Court if it does not comply within a reasonable time, the solicitor said.

The flooding condition was aggravated by weekend rains which deepend the puddle on Virginia Ave., the mayor said. A street department employe told the mayor a man who attempted to drive his car across the pond stalled in the middle after the water "drowned" the ignition system of his car.

Chief To Retire

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP)—Walter Menges, 75, Wapakoneta police chief for 30 years, announced Monday he will retire at the end of this week. Menges bcame chief nine months after he joined the force as a patrolman in 1938.

Crews Begin Blacktop Job

The Tri-State Asphalt Corp. of Martins Ferry started work Monday noon on the preliminary phases of paving Lisbon St. between W. 8th St. and the city limits, which wiil get a new blacktop surface as part of a $311,060 Ohio Highway Department contract.

Tri-State, a subcontractor for the United Excavating Co. of Youngstown, is scheduled to apply the so-called "tack" coat and a leveling course on the entire stretch except for areas around two curves where the existing pavement will be ripped out and replaced.

The firm said the preliminary work would have the effect of smoothing the surface and eliminating motorists' complaints on the rough pavement. The final course is not due to be applied immediately.

The project has been under way since spring. United Excavating holds the $311,060 contract, which also calls for widening, easing of the curves, installation of a storm sewer system and replacement of curbs which are removed.

The job was at a virtual standstill for about three weeks before it resumed last Thursday. It also was interrupted briefly by a strike in late May. The contract calls for completion by Oct. 30.

A parking ban was set up on the west side of the Lisbon St. Hill Monday morning to allow the preliminary paving work to begin. It actually began at midday after the weather cleared.

Police Chief At Lima Submits Resignation

Davenport said he was resigning because exception had been taken to some of his recent decisions. He did not elaborate.

Palissey St. Garages Looted By Intruders

Two Palissey St. garages were looted of tools and other items by intruders who gained entry between 11 p.m. Monday and 5:30 a.m. today, the owners told police.

Franklin Mercer of 502 Palissey St. reported an intruder broke a window on the east side of his garage and then crawled through the opening, taking a quarter-inch electric drill, three sets of drill bits, a cold chisel, a torch kit, a pair of shoes, an army duffle bag, a 50-foot electric extension cord and various tools that were in the glove compartment of his car.

Harold Dopler of 518 Palissey St. said the intruder gained entry to his garage by raising a window and then stole various small tools worth a total of $5.

Kennedy's Explanation

The heart-clutching drama of Massachusetts Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's confession and supplication to the people of his state and nation was almost Shakespearean.

Millions of Americans, in a sad and depressing follow-up to the glorious moon odyssey, hung on every word of the handsome young senator whom misfortune had cast in the lead role of the tragedy.

The blood-drained whiteness of his clenched fingers indicating the tension under which he spoke, the senator flagellated himself for his "indefensible" conduct in the hours following the drowning of Miss Mary Jo Kopechne.

But he concluded by suggesting hopefully to his constituents and the millions of Americans beyond the borders of his state that they would encourage him to continue in political life.

THE STATEMENT AS READ by Sen. Kennedy came across as the work of the top professional writers employed by the Kennedy machine. It was expertly done and went a long way to make the best of a very bad political situation.

It was adroitly worded in such a way that its final thrust tended to put the responsibility on the shoulders of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Citizen of Massachusetts for cutting short the political life of Sen. Kennedy if that, indeed, should occur.

Actually, however, the senator's statement left unanswered several questions which disturb the average American. He failed to mention, for example, why he drove along a dead-end dirt road to the bridge instead of along the main paved road to the ferry.

In one brief sentence he dismissed the possibility that he was under the influence of alcohol.

But, accepting every word that he said as truth, the picture that the young senator painted of himself at the time of the drowning, and for some hours afterward was one of a man completely disintegrating under pressure.

Admitting numerous irrational thoughts and describing out-of-his-head behavior in which he re-endangered his own life by jumping into the water and swiming 150 yards across a channel, the Senate whip outlined a series of actions which seem incredible when associated with a member of the United States Senate.

Although many Americans, in a great outpouring of sympathy for the charismatic Teddy, will respond emotionally to his plight and wish to help him, a sober look at his conduct should clearly indicate that he is definitely lacking in some of the major qualities required in a president of the United States, and office to which he most certainly has aspired.

Pilot candidates in the Air Force who reacted to a crisis situation as Sen. Ted Kennedy did to his personal crsis would have been "washed out" immediately. For the lives of other men would be in their hands.

If any man needs steel within him, control under the most distressing conditions and great strength when the going is toughest, it is the president of the United States whose actions can drastically affect the lives, safely and welfare of all of us.

WE ALL ARE HUMAN, all have faults. But even the average hit-skipper incurs the special enmity of society although he, too, usually is overcome by a jumble of emotions.

Sen. Kennedy's comportment in a crisis situation was a far cry from what would be expected of a man of presidential timber.

It is hard to visualize any of the imediate past presidents performing, as did Sen. Kennedy, if such a tragedy had struck them. If the senator had been under the influence of alcohol, his behavior might be more readily understood.

The people of Massachusetts may not "wash him out." THAT IS THEIR BUSINESS. But he should abandon any idea he may have of becoming president of the United States.

Filling The Vacuum

An offer by Pennsylvania officials to assist Ohio, West Virginia and three other states in solving environmental problems might just be the spur to solving some of the air and water pollution problems which have assumed serious proportions.

A three - day meeting at New Castle ended Sunday with the offer and the acceptance of aid. Although one Pennsylvania legislator said he feared the Keystone State might be accused of interfering with other states' affairs, John Tyler, president of the Virginia Wildlife Federation, said the question would never arise.

"We have not been about to carry out the vast program of research and development you have done in Pennsylvania, and we can use your knowledge."

David Bramter, president of the Weset Virginia Wildlfie Federation, told the meeting his states' problems are the same as Pennsylvania's. "We are looking forward to working with you."

Wesley Gilbertson, Pennsylvania Deputy Secretary of Health for Environment, declared a mutual assistance program among the states was "a splendid idea. "I think we're eventually going to have to work out our environmental problems through interstate cooperation, because I don't think the federal government is going to be much help."

Certainly the East Liverpool district is aware of the need for greater cooperation among states in connection with air pollution and water pollution. The discharges which come down the Ohio River from Beaver County, Pa., and the dust and fumes which drift from the Toronto power plant over Hancock County, W. Va., are only a few examples of this need.

State officials and local officials are becoming increasingly impressed with the legal and administrative vacuum which exists along their borders at times, and if the residents of our states are to be protected properly from some of the offenses which trouble us, this gap must be filled.

Playing Safe

So far there is no evidence that the astronauts were accompanied back to earth by "moon bugs."

Dr. William Carpentier, who is staying with the three space travelers in their quarantine trailer, reports there is no sign of moon contamination.

We have our fingers crossed that the same report will be forthcoming at the end of the 21-day quarantine period.

We sympathize with Neil Armstrong's father who is irritated that the isolation is interfering with family welcomes for the astronauts.

However, this is a first-time thing and it is important to be careful.

Such elaborate precautions will no doubt prove unnecessary in the future but since we are new at the moon-hike-and-return game, it is essential to play it safe.

And Beyond The Moon?

The United States is assured of a continuing space program as a legacy from the successful Apollo moon landing.

Big questions surrounding America's Space future right now are how big a program and what should be its direction.

PROPONENTS OF A "full-speed-ahead" policy are now riding a triumphant crest and will continue to do so for some time. When the enthusiasm wears down and the hard appropriation decisions have to be made, practical considerations will be in the limelight.

At this point, the thrilling, knowledge-gaining and beneficial spin off from the space program will be weighed against domestic realities, economic stability and, ultimately, what Russia does.

Members of Congress, who will be responsible for determining how much money will be allotted to space, must not be misled into believing that a drastic reduction in space spending will automatically bring progress in other areas.

Neither should they keep their eyes so focused on the stars that they overlook other areas of need to the detriment of the nation.

Money alone cannot solve our ills. Allocation of money does not guarantee the success of a program nor that the funds will be properly administered.

On the other hand, judicious spending on the part of the government will demonstrate where a nation puts its values, and build badly needed confidence in the integrity of the government from the standpoint of national priorities and fiscal soundness.

It will be a tough decision for Congress and will be debated at length.

The final judgment, if we read the stuation correctly, will be in favor of a continuing but limited space effort combined with an on-going program aimed at solving pressing domestic issues without an excessive jump in spending.

RIGHT NOW it is imperative that the economy of the United States get on solid footing for if it collapses no one knows what the outcome will be.

If the economy can be steadied, private capital can be channeled into spending areas that are of concern to the government—housing and city improvement projects.

National, world and space spending has merit but without economic stability there won't be any funds to divide up.

'Looks Like You're Due For A Change!'

VICTOR RIESEL

Informed Labor

WASHINGTON — There is firm belief deep inside labor's inner sanctum that President Nixon will withdraw virtually all American troops from South Vietnam by next March or April. These sources rarely have been wrong.

Victor Riesel

Regardless of administration they have rad the most intimate and confidential relations with the White House and State Department. Mr. Nixon's regime is no different. American labor chiefs — albeit a tight handful of them — always are kept informed of vital moves since, officially, they do speak for almost 14 million members working the inner gut of U.S. production for war and peace.

There is evidence of the close and easy relationship between Richard Nixon and George Meany — an odd couple, indeed.

Recently, the President of the U.S. put in a transatlantic telephone call to the president of the AFL-CIO when the latter was in Geneva, Switzerland, along with Pope Paul at the International Labor Organization's global congress. The two men talked for quite awhile.

They did discuss foreign policy. This call was not merely Mr. Nixon's way of extending greetings to His Holiness. The President already had sent along a personal letter to the Pope.

MR. NIXON and Mr. Meany did discuss the antiballistic missile crisis. It can be presumed that the President, during the conversation, did thank Mr. Meany for the AFL-CIO's, forceful support of the administration's Safeguard System program. Fact is that the AFL-CIO is Mr. Nixon's most powerful backing on the boondocks and on the Hill.

He is being politically lacerated by the Teamster-Auto Workers coalition — another odd couple. Apparently Walter Reuther, who has been known never to permit a coma to escape him, now is ghostwriting for the combine, meaning the Teamsters' Frank (Fitz) Fitzsimmons who, as acting head of the Brotherhood, now is distributing James Hoffa Scholarships like mad.

On July 15, Messrs. Reuther and Fitzsimmons dispatched what appears to be a 10,000-word letter in the name of the new Alliance for Labor Action to all U.S. Senators flaying Mr. Nixon, his policies and the ABM in a literary style to which "Fitz" is unaccustomed.

Countering this, the AFL-CIO distributed an article by William R. Kintner entitled "The Sane Case for U.S. Safeguard ABM Deployment." And, most certainly, the labor federation has let many of its senatorial friends know how the AFL-CIO feels — it wants those ABM sites, its technicians are ready to supply the technical labor and it believes that Messrs. Reuther and Fitzsimmons are paper tigers.

BUT ALL THIS doesn't insinuate that the odd couple will continue to live happily after the ABM Senate vote — which is expected to back President Nixon. Influential labor leaders are unhappy over the absence of any union official from Mr. Nixon's diplomatic troupe.

For this they blame White House foreign policy adviser Henry Kissinger. They've a strong feeling they should not have been ignored. They believe they have contacts in Asia and Europe which no government official has.

Meanwhile, back here, no one is sulking. But the word has gone out that Henry Kissinger would do well to take lessons in how to win friends and influence people who influence people — not to mention senators.

Odd Facts

The Hall of Fame of Great Americans has honored 12 U. S. Presidents. At its first election in 1900, the Hall of Fame elected five presidents — George Washington, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and Ulysses S. Grant. In elections since, elected were James Madison, John Quincy Adams, Andrew Jackson, James Monroe, Grover Cleveland, Woodrow Wilson, and Theodore Roosevelt. One of the qualifications for election is that 25 years must have passed between the death of the nominee and his election.

Although life impriosnment may be imposed instead of death as the maximum penalty for first - degree murder in all the states of the U. S., the states in which there is no capital punishment are Alaska, Hawaii, Iowa, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Oregon, Rhode Island, West Virginia and Wisconsin—also in Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

On the ceiling of the famous Sistine Chapel, in the palace of the Vatican at Rome, are painted magnificent Bible stories by the great artist Michelangelo in the 1500's. It took him four and a half years to complete this ceiling, whose stories tell of the creation of the world, the fall of man and the flood. And on the wall above the altar is the "Last Judgment," a painting 60 feet high and 30 feet broad, which Michelangelo began when he was 60 and worked on for eight years.

The number of different local community governments within a major metropolitan area in the United States often exceeds several hundred. In New York City's metropolitan area, for example, there are more than a thousand separate governments, in Chicago there are more than 960 and in Philadelphia more than 700 local governments.

A Plaque For Mars

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON—As I watched the two American astronauts on television go through their paces on the moon, I couldn't help thinking:

Art Buchwald

Suppose two Martians named Neil and Buz made a space trip to this world and by accident landed in one of our city's parks.

"Yeah, well I don't care what you call it. You're not supposed to put up nutty sculpture in the park."

"We're only going to be here two hours and 40 minutes," Buzz says. "It's very important that we get earth samples for our scientists to study."

COPS ASKS SUSPICIOUSLY, "What kind of samples?"

"Earth samples," Neil says. "You see, I take this little scoop with the plastic bag on the end and dig it into the surface like this, and then I put the bag in the pocket of my space suit."

"You're pushing pot!" the cop yells.

"We don't know what pot is," Buzz says. "But we're supposed to pick up rocks and put them in a box."

"And then," the cop says, "after you put the rocks in the box, you're going to take off in that crazy piece of sculpture?"

"AFFIRMATIVE," says Neil. "But first we have to put the plaque up."

"What kind of plaque?" the cop asks as he takes out his notebook.

"It's a plaque which says, 'We came in peace for all Marskind.' "

"I get it. You're a bunch of anti-Vietnam peaceniks. Where are the rest of the creeps?"

"Well, Mike ain't the only one. Let me ask you a question, and I wish to precede it with a warning that you may have the service of an attorney and that I am apprising you of your constitutional rights. Are you guys on a trip?"

"Of course we are," says Neil. "Why else would we be here?"

"Wait a minute, wait a minute," the cop says. "What kind of flag is that you're sticking up?"

"It's our national flag."

"No flag flies in this park but the American flag. Now you take down that flag this minute or I'll knock those crazy motorcycle helmets off your heads."

"But we have to put the flag up or our parliament won't give us any future monies for our space program."

"What are you doing with the camera?"

"We have to take pictures of the earth's surface, so we can pinpoint where we've been."

"Of course," the cop says. "There's no sense taking a trip if you can't remember where you've been. Now listen to me, you blankety blanks. Don't either one of you move until I tell you to. Stay right where you are."

"But we have to set up the sun experiments."

THE COP GETS out his gun. "I said stay where you are." He picks up the microphone in his car. "Hello, gimme the Chief.. .Hello, Chief. This is Pulanski here. What would you say if I told you I've got two hippies dressed in silver motorcycle suits and goggles with packs on their backs, picking up rocks and dirt in the park and sticking them in their pockets?. . .That's what I thought you'd say. . .No, No, everything's fine. . .it's just a quiet Monday morning.. .yeah, I'll speak to you later.

"All right, you two weirdos," the cop says, "I'm going to drive around the park and then I'm coming back; and if you and that piece of junky sculpture ain't out of the park when I return you'll be picking up the rest of your rock samples in the yard of the county jail."

The DOCTOR Says

Choose Sunglasses With Caution

Every year, over $100 million is spent in this country on sunglasses of various kinds. Some are worn just for show, some to reuce glare and some to hide corneal scars or other blemishes. The normal eye does very well in the sunlight without sunglasses but, if you are one of those in whom bright daylight causes watering of the eyes or squinting, sunglasses may help you.

In selecting a pair, it is important to get a type that does not reduce your vision or your ability to distinguish colors, especially if you us them for driving. They should never be worn for night driving or for reading indoors, with or without artificial light.

THE BELIEF that the world looks better through rose-colored glasses is more fanciful than factual. Neutral gray or smoke-colored glasses that filter out 70 to 80 per cent of the intensity of the light are best, with green a close second. The constant use of sunglasses may cause you to develop too great a dependence on them and reduce your natural ability to tolerate bright light.

There are three types of sunglasses — light-absorbing, polarizing and coated. Absorptive lenses are made by adding certain chemicals to the lenses to remove ultraviolet and infrared rays. Polarizing lenses are specially valuable in reducing glare, which is not the same as intensity. This is a boon to motorists who must drive facing the sun and to fishermen who want to see beneath the water's surface but can't because of the reflected glare.

Coated or reflectorized sunglasses have a thin metallic film over the front or back surface. They are a boon to persons who must wear glasses all the time and prefer to have their sunglasses incorporate their prescription instead of wearing clip-ons.

SO CHOOSE the type best suited to your individual needs but avoid cheap sunglasses. In the long run, they are no bargain. No matter what type you wind up with, never use them to look directly at the sun. The danger of permanent damage to your eyes is less when the sun is near the horizon but, even then, it is still present.

Action Set On Bills

Ohio General Assembly Plans For Adjournment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 108th General Assembly begins mopping up operations tonight with optimistic plans for adjournment by the end of next week.

Both houses go into session at 8 p.m.

Conference committees are expected to be appointed by both houses to iron out differences over the administration's $2.27 billion education package.

The Senate added 85 amendments to the House version of the bill. Rep. Mark C. Schinnerer, R-49 Lakewood, chairman of the House Education Committee, said he finds two of the amendments "distressing."

One would allow supplemental contracts for teachers who perform additional duties such as coaching and band directing.

The other would set standards for teacher aides but let the classroom instructor determine how they are used.

Both amendments were earlier offered as bills by the Ohio Education Association but reportedly stood little chance of passage.

The Senate is to take up in floor action tonight a bill to implement the $500 million highway bond issue provided by the voters last year.

Still facing Senate attention are bills for Sunday liquor sales and the administration's Department of Public Safety proposal.

Both bills have passed the House but have been tied up in Senate committees.

Legislators backing the bills feel if they don't make it out of committee this week they will have little chance of passage before adjournment.

Of the two, the liquor bill which would permit municipalities to decide if they want Sunday sales, appears to have the better chance.

The Department of Public Safety measure sailed through the House but ran into trouble in the Senate where several voiced fears it would concentrate too much power in the governor's office.

The department, as first outlined by Gov. James A. Rhodes Feb. 5, would take all the crime - fighting agencies from the attorney general's office and put them in a cabinet-level post under the governor.

In addition, the Highway Patrol would be placed in the same new agency. The Highway Safety Department, under which it now operates, would be abolished.

Even if the bill does make it to the floor it will undergo several amendments, sources said. The House did not basically change the bill.

22 Students Plead Guilty In Takeover

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Twenty-two students who were among 34 Negroes accused of taking over the Ohio State University administration building in April 1968 pleaded guilty to misdemeanor charges Monday.

The common pleas court action came after the prosecution dropped a dozen felony charges brought against each student and dropped all charges against 10 of the original 34.

No action was taken on two students, one now in the military service and one who has not been in touch with the court recently.

The youths, allegedly members of the Black Student Union on campus, were accused of holding OSU Vice President Gordon Carson and staff mebers in the second floor of the building.

A grand jury in May 1968 indicted each of the 34 students on charges of unlawful detention, conspiracy to detain and blackmail, all felonies and a charge of menacing threat and trespassing on school property, the misdemeanor to which the 22 pleaded guilty Monday.

Among the students entering guilty pleas was John S. Evans, reported leader of the group.

Going Up Or Down?

Different Opinions Given On Future Costs Of Meat

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top Nixon administration farm economist predicts consumers soon may be paying less for beef, but some industry spokesmen say the day of $1 per pound round steak is gone forever.

Dr. Don Paarlberg, chief economist for the Department of Agriculture, said he sees hope for a cooling of retail prices as the result of cattle prices dropping some from their early June peak which was an 18-year record.

"The price has come down at the farm level—and sometimes these things don't work as promptly as they should—but my anticipation would be that we'd see, and have seen, some reaction on the retail market," Paarlberg said in an interview.

Contrary forecasts came from an industry spokesman, declining to be identified, who said retailers will not drop prices significantly because of what he sees as small or short-term declines in live cattle prices.

"Really, I don't think anybody in this country can ever again expect to see $1 round steak again, and certainly not less than about $1.39 for sirloin," the industry man said.

Last December consumers paid an average of $1.20 a pound for choice sirloin steak. In June, after months of rising cattle prices, the same meat cost Mrs. Average Housewife $1.40.

Retail beef prices made their biggest jump during June when there was a 4.5 per cent gain in the cost of meats, poultry and fish. The government statistics showed a gain of six -tenthsof one per cent in the cost of living during the month.

Why the big boost in beef prices?

Economists cite inflation and the rising demand among beef-hungry consumers who ate an average of 110-pounds per person last year, compared with 85 pounds in 1960.

Paarlberg discounts what some observers believe is the heart of the beef-price situation —the failure of cattlemen to turn out as much beef as needed.

A soon-to-be-published report is expected to show beef production for the first half of 1969 at or near the level of last year despite a larger population and demand.

"This has been a factor," Paarlberg said, "but it has not been a major factor. I think the major factor is the high purchasing power, the exhuberance of the economy, and the fact that a lot of people in the lower income brackets who haven't in the past been really part of the affluent society have experienced a considerable increase in income ... and they're now in the market to buy beef, which they formerly were not."

An industry spokesman said retailers had tried to hold the price line prior to the June hike but could not absorb higher costs any longer.

"All of a sudden the pressure got too great and they had to say 'Well, let's just find out how many people want to pay $1.79 for a sirloin steak'—and they sold it. So now they've got a whole new plateau."

Fight Proposed To Changes In Black Lung Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An attorney for the United Mine Workers Union says backers of Ohio's pending black lung disease bill will launch a fight on the Senate floor to remove weakening amendments.

Donald M. Colsaurd said Monday he has lined up several senators to fight amendments put in the bill by Sen. Robin Turner, R-14 Marion, chairman of the Elections, Commerce and Labor Committee.

The amendments would require claimants in some cases to prove their cases by autopsies, biopsies or x - ray and would require miners compensated for the disease to stay out of coal mines.

Similar provisions were stricken from the bill before it passed the House.

Supporters of the bill note that autopsies are valid only after death and contend that x-rays cannot always spot black lung. They say biopsies are dangerous to persons afflicted with black lung.

Backers also contend that it is unrealistic to expect a person who has worked in the mines all his life to go into another line of work.

Colsaurd and other backers were irked because Turner amended the bill without going through normal procedures.

Lisbon Accident Results As Door Opens On Turn

LISBON — The rear door of a station wagon flew open on a turn last midnight on the Square and struck the left front fender of a southbound car stopped for the traffic light at N. Market St. and Park Ave.

Police said the halted car was operated by Edward House Jr. of Center St., East Liverpool, and the station wagon by Eugene Tolson of 340 E. Chestnut St.

House said Tolson told him he did not know the door had swung open and did not realize what had happened when he passed the stopped car. Tolson pulled over and stopped a short distance up the street, House said.

He said the station wagon was turning from E. Lincoln Way onto N. Market when the door opened. The impact broke the fiberglass fender on House's sports car.

Road Crews Fill Chester Rd. Hole

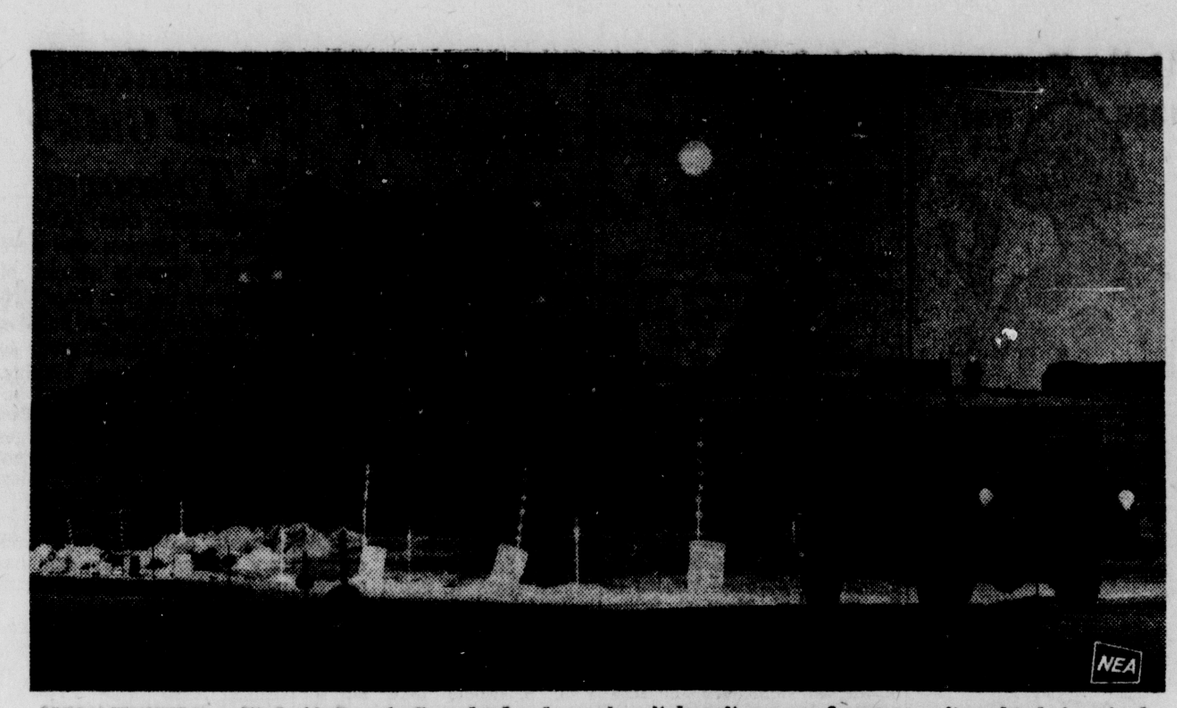

A portion of the Chester-Newell Road near Hart's fruit stand which keeps sinking, troubling the West Virginia State Road Commission and area motorists since March 1968, had to be repaired again Monday due to the heavy rains Sunday, Jack Evans, Hancock County superintendent of the SRC, said today.

Evans said the hole has been re-filled, and more materials will be used to fill and smooth the surface this week.

One of the crew members of the SRC, after being informed by Hancock County Sheriff's deputies that the spot was endangering the flow of traffic Sunday and placed in the hole a timber with a flag on it and an oil lamp nearby to warn motorists of the danger.

The depression in the highway surface has been repaired twice this year. in each instance the repairs lasted only three days.

They were expected to urge continuance of the present U.S. strategy with no curtailment of operations.

Newsmen at the airport questioned Abrams about the lull and whether it meant a de-escalation by Hanoi. He replied the lull was "just decreased activity on the enemy's part, but what it means, I don't know."

"I don't think anyone can really say whether it is cyclic, or a lack of capability on the enemy's part, or (a de-escalation) as you suggest. I don't think anyone really knows."

Abrams' admission of inability to fathom the enemy's intentions was in marked contrast to some of his top commanders who have been insisting that the only reason for the lull was that the enemy was regrouping and building up his supplies in preparation for another offensive.

Abrams said there is "some indication of an autumn period" of enemy attacks. He did not elaborate.

"The way we run," he said, "we have to anticipate enemy high points. We have to keep in a state of readiness so if such a thing occurs, it will not cause a lot of trouble. We have to be prepared."

Responsible sources in Bangkok reported meanwhile that President Nixon would fly to Vietnam for a brief visit Wednesday and would confer with President Nguyen Van Thieu. But any arrangements being made for a presidential visit were kept secret for security reasons.

In other action today, the U.S. 25th Division had 11 men wounded in a clash 35 miles northwest of Saigon. Enemy losses, if any, were not known.

In the same general area, 1st Infantry Division troops killed 10 enemy in a three-hour fight not far from their base camp at Dau Tieng. U.S. casualties included two killed and 24 wounded.

Some hours later, the base camp at Dau Tieng was hit by more than 35 rounds of rocket and mortar fire, but U.S. spokesmen said damage and casualties were light and there were no deaths.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I most easily remove spilled talcum powder from a carpet?

A.—Don't try to sweep it with a broom, since that only spreads it. Instead, hold the vacuum cleaner over the powder to draw all the loose particles. Then what's left can be removed by rubbing the spot gently with a damp cloth. Rinse frequently, so that the powder that sticks to the cloth will not go back into the carpet.

Q.—How can I add new life and luster to my costume jewelry?

A.—Try soaking it for an hour or so in hot water and ammonia — half and half. Dry well, and chances are you'll be delighted with the new sparkle in your baubles.

Q.—How can I forestall unpleasant odors in my kitchen sink?

A.—If you'll drop a handful of baking soda into the sink overnight, it will purify and clean that unfragrant drain.

ELTA Airs '70 Salaries With Board

A salary increase and fringe benefits for certifiated personnel of the East Liverpool School District are being discussed in negotiations between representatives of the East Liverpool Teachers Association and board of education.

A spokesman for the association said today that meetings are being held, but that no statement as to the results of the meetings could be made without mutual agreement from the negotiation teams. This, it was explained, is part of the agreement between the East Liverpool Teachers Association and the board of education.

Members of the ELTA have signed a statement that they would back the negotiating committee to the fullest. even if it would mean a walkout, but the spokesman for the group indicated belief this will not happen.

Supt. Paul Blair confirmed that three meetings had been held. He said he talked with the group in one meeting, and two meetings had been held with the board's financial committee.

He added that the relationship between the committees was good and there was no indication that an amiable agreement would not be reached. "No reference to a walkout has been made," he asserted.

Nixon later issued a statement saying America's SEATO obligations were not inconsistant with his aim for a postwar cutback in the U.S. military presence abroad.

The chief executive said he would be talking to Thai leaders about a possible reduction in U.S. military forces in Thailand, numbering about 45,000 men. Most are on the six big bases from which the Air Force does much of its bombing in Vietnam and Laos.

Thailand has sent some 12,000 combat troops to South Vietnam.

Scientists Await Pictures Of Mars From Mariner 6

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mariner 6 has clicked its cameras at Mars, snapping and storing for transmission to earth tonight the first 33 of a long series of pictures which may show whether life can exist on the red planet.

The space probe took its first photograph at 10:26 p.m. PDT Monday. Scientists said the camera was working well.

Mariner 6 was scheduled to start transmitting the pictures more than 58 million miles to earth at 6:35 p.m. today.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who as head of the President's Space Advisory Council advocates manned exploration of Mars, arranged to be at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory to watch the photographs come in.

The same radio commands which activated the cameras also started instruments designed to measure the surface temperature of Mars and to analyze the chemical make-up of its thin atmosphere.

The quality of the initial pictures will not be known until they reach earth. A spokesman said Monday night that signals from the spacecraft indicated the camera platform was properly aimed, that light was entering the lens, and that a picture was being recorded on tape.

Mariner 6 carries a small computer which converts the light and dark areas of a scene into numbers. The numbers, representing the dots on a television screen, are stored on tape for later transmission to the laboratory here, where a computer translates them into an image.

They are expected to have little more detail than photographs made with earth telescopes, but will show all phases of the planet as it rotates during the spacecrafts approach.

Much sharper pictures, with details as small as 900 feet across, are to be taken Wednesday night as Mariner 6 flies within 2,000 miles of Mars.

Mariner 6 will require almost 20 hours to shoot the first 33 pictures—one every 37 minutes. Transmission will take less than 3 hours, with a new one received every five minutes.

Mariner 6 will take a total of 74 long-range and close-up pictures.

Its sister craft Mariner 7, launched last March—a month after Mariner 6—will snap 117 photographs beginning Friday and ending Aug. 4 when it, too, passes within 2,000 miles of Mars.

Some of these pictures should be far superior to the 21 taken by Mariner 4 when it swung past Mars at a distance of 6,000 miles in 1965.

Scientists believe the new pictures may help solve the mysteries of the planet's vast dark areas which some believe to be vegetation, the long lines which were once thought to be canals and the light polar caps which some think could be ice or frozen carbon dioxide—"dry ice."

The detectives will also have 25 administrative workers assigned to help them.

Delhey said an attempt to trap Miss Beineman's killer Saturday by placing a department store mannequin where her body was found had been unsuccessful.

Police did not immediately announce the finding of the body and replaced it with the dummy in the hopes that the killer would return to the scene, he said.

Delhey said a man was seen walking along the road after midnight and was ordered to halt by police who had the site staked out.

"The guy was told to stop and instead ran," said Delhey. "As far as I know the guy did not actually lay eyes on it (the dummy)."

Delhey said it was possible the man was just a stroller who did not realize his challengers were police, since the officers were plainclothesmen in unmarked cars.

Using a computer printout of all the motorcycles registered at Eastern Michigan University, police checked off all that did not match the description of the one on which Miss Beineman was last seen.

begin several days of more detailed discussions.

McLeaish said that Monday they discussed the lunar orbit and landing phases of the flight.

Armstrong reported the engine of the lunar module Eagle kicked up considerable dust as it settled in for a touchdown. This reduced visibility but did not jeopardize the landing.

"It was not unexpected," McLeaish said of the dust.

He also reported Armstrong and Aldrin talked about the near-landing in a rock-filled crater, which had been reported earlier. Armstrong said the automatic controls had them zeroed in on the craggy area and that he took manual control of the Eagle to steer to a smoother spot a half-mile away.

The astronauts also reported that working in the moon's one-sixth gravity field was much easier than working in zero G—or the weightless world of an orbiting ship.

"They reported one disadvantage," McLeaish said. "It tended to produce muscular laziness."

Film used by the astronauts to photograph flight and moon activities has been quarantined with them, undergoing a decontamination process.

The first pictures were expected to be released late today. They were made through the window of Eagle as it sat on the lunar surface.

members, two of them members of Congress, dissented from the majority view and said they believe states should be free to act—or not to act—as they choose in the gun-control field.

The American Rifle Association, which the commission singled out for a possible key role in a mass education program on the responsible use of firearms, disagreed with most of its conclusions and recommendations.

The commission said, however, "We can make substantial inroads on firearms violence without imposing major inconveniences on hunters and skeet and trap shooters and without impeding other legitimate activities of millions of long gun owners."

Eisenhower pressed hard for development of a nondeadly weapon. "You see," he said, "the importance of this is that an awful lot of people in this country are keeping handguns for self-defense.

"The gun is much more an incitement to murder than a protective device," he said.

His statement was echoed by the commission which indicated the belief that a gun in the home is a protection against intruders is a myth.

"The evidence is convincing," the comission said, "that the home robber most often has the advantage of surprise, and the armed segment of our population is paying a heavy price in accidents and in the shooting of family member, friends and acquaintances for whatever deterrent effect their possession of self-defense firearms may be providing."

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Cartons For Cutworms

DEAR HELOISE: You mentioned trying to grow tomatoes, and I wondered if you were ever bothered by cutworms feasting on the young plants. If so, try this:

Heloise

Cut the top off clean milk cartons (half-gallon size). Then cut the cargons in half, and place a half-carton around each plant as protection against wind, etc.

Then sprinkle a teaspoon of tobacco around the stems of each tomato plant and you will find the cutworms won't bother them at all. The carton also keeps the tobacco from scattering.

I do this with all my tender, young plants.

MRS. DeB.

Well, piddle, paddle. Now I know what's been happening to my tomato plants! They are absolutely shoulder high (which really means nothing 'cause I'm only 5 foot 2), and when they bloom, three days later all the blooms are cut off. I can't find any cutworms, but my neighbors say that they come out at night and can come from anywhere. I truly hate it when they come "calling." Especially if a plant is about to bear.

So thanks to you, Mrs. DeB., I may finally have some tomatoes.

The one thing I did was pull off the bottom leaves. (They don't need to be there, anyway, 'cause they only suck the sap from where the bloom or fruit is produced. Since my plants were large, I slit the carton down one side, and put it back together with paper clips in a triangular form. Tape or string could also be used.

Then I wet the ground thoroughly and smashed the ends of the carton down into the damp earth.

Not only did I find that your idea was the greatest, but now, instead of carrying three kettlss of water and flooding the ground, I pour the water right down inside the milk cartons.

You are a honey child to share you ridea. We all love you.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: I often take care of my little granddaughter and read to her (including your column).

The other day, after I had read your hints, she said, "Grandma, why don't people get some nylon net of their own and not use Heloise's all the time"?

I had a real good laugh and thought you might too.

MRS. E. J. CONKLIN.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Just read the suggestion about freezing the grease from oven-fried chicken to use the next time for gravy.

I like that idea but have also used this method:

A (whole) frying chicken usually has a large chunk of fat on the lower back. I cut that off, trim it into three or four little pieces, fry it slowly to get out the grease and use it for making gravy.

In case I forget to save the grease from the last chicken, I can still make that wonderful chicken gravy.

MRS. JOHN ELE.

DEAR HELOISE: Since I prefer to wash dishes in half of my double sink and rinse in the other half, I had no problem. It was placing the draintray on the flat counter—no slant.

So I removed the legs of a wide paint-roller tray, turned it upside down and placed it under the drain-tray.

Success . . . I had an adjustable, tilted drain-tray that can be easily stored.

BONNIE LUETKEMEYER.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a hint from hikers and picknickers.

Did you know that you could freeze small cans of fruit juice? Nothing carbonated, of course, or it may burst.

After about three hours of hiking on a hot day, it will be thawed to just the right point for cool refreshment. The metal being very thin will cause the juice to melt just the right amount.

And Promptly Stop The Itching, Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a medication with the ability, in most cases — to promptly stop itching, relieve pain and actually shrink hemorrhoids.

The secret is Preparation H®. There's no other formula like it! Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

Scientists Use Gamma Rays In Mosquito Battle

RECIFE, Brazil (AP) — Scientists in this tropical port are using nuclear radiation in an effort to wipe out dangerous mosquitoes.

Because of this insect, Recife is one of the few places in the world where people still suffer from elephantiasis — an infection which swells their arms and legs to several times normal size.

The Federal University of Pernambuco is trying to eradicate "culex anopheles" by sterilizing male mosquitoes with gamma rays emitted by radioactive cobalt. Under "Operation Gamma," as the project is called, about 1,000 insects are captured every day in Recife, exposed to the rays and then released.

Experts believe the average male mosquito has about 25 sexual contacts a day with females. Thus, hundreds of thousands of "culex anopheles" eggs that normally would produce more mosquitoes are laid unfertilized and never hatch.

The directors of "Operation Gamma," Carlo Borgi of the University of Pernambuco, and Karamjit Ray, an Indian biologist, say the disease-bearing mosquitoes eventually can be eliminated in Recife by this method. But they caution that it might take as long as five years for any positive results to show up.

ANN LANDERS

Just Wait 'Till Birthday

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My brother died two months ago. His widow has asked me for advice and I don't know what to tell her. The question is in regard to her 19-year-old son. He wants to get married.

The boy is 4-F so he is not worried about the Army. He's been kicked out of two colleges so he's not worried about his education. (He can't get in any place). He works in his grandfather's business (when he works) so he's not worried about a job.

Here's the question: The boy wants his mother to advance him $3,000 against his inheritance so he can get married and take his bride to Honolulu on a honeymoon. His father left him $20,000 but the will states that the first payment of $5,000 is to be made on the boy's 21st birthday. The second payment comes due in 1974. Subsequent payments of $2,000 are to be made at two-year intervals.

The boy keeps badgering his mother and repeating, "I don't want a gift, all I want is an advance on what is legally mine. I'll pay you the $3,000 in 1971 when I get the $5,000.

What should she tell him? She's leaving it up to me.—KEEPER OF THE KEYS.

Dear Keeper: She should tell him NO. Her husband knew what he was doing when he wrote his will in such a way that his son would not come into any money until he was 21. All she need say is, "Sorry, we're going to leave things as Dad wanted them."

She's A Pick-Nik

Dear Ann: I have a neighbor who thinks I have the most beautiful garden in town. She can hardly wait until the flowers are in full bloom so she can ask permission to "pick a few."

This woman insists she cannot grow flowers because her children need a place to play. You should have seen the look she gave me yesterday when I refused to allow her to pick a bouquet for her company table. Her face was so full of hate it ruined my day.

It takes a great deal of patience, weeding, spraying, watering and luck to grow beautiful flowers. Am I selfish because I want to enjoy them as long as possible?

There must be countless readers in your audience who have this same problem. Will you kindly give us a word or two?—WILTED FRIENDSHIP.

Dear Friend: Some people make a living selling flowers. They are called florists. Their phone numbers are listed in the telephone directory. Enough said.

Name Trouble

Dear Ann: No lectures, please. I know right from wrong. Just tell me if a married woman can put the real father's name on the child's birth certificate instead of the name of her legal husband.

The real father is married and has several daughters. He wants a son to carry on his name. Our baby will be born next month and I'm almost certain I'm going to have a boy.

Dear Sky: Don't make the mess any messier by putting your lover's name on the baby's birth certificate. According to law your husband is the father of the child.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Strike Planned By Pa. Workers

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Public employees throughout the state will reportedly "strike" state agencies Friday unless the legislature comes up with a 10 per cent pay hike.

Leaders of groups claiming to represent more than one-half of the state's 110,000 workers make the pledge to strike at a meeting Monday in Pittsburgh.

"It's a shame people dedicated to their work are forced to take such action, but we'll stay out until we get the raises," said Lawrence Collura, president of the United Public Employes Union, and Allegheny County group.

Collura said 200 leaders attending the meeting represented about 60,000 state workers.

Previously state workers called off sick to back their demands, because they are forbidden to strike by state law.

WRINKLES

by Marie Davant

New York: — Chemical science has found a white substance made with quicksilver that works wonders in wrinkled, roughened face and hands. Use it one time and it is entirely possible you will see improvement next morning. In a few days dry-skin wrinkles start to vanish. Many of the small ones around the eyes and mouth have already disappeared. But that is not all! "Old - Age" (weathered) brown spots on hands and arms — brown "age" darkness on surface of face and neck fades away! Rich oils lubricate pores so blackheads can slip out without squeezing. Surface pimples and blemishes and scars outwardly caused, dry up or become less noticable! But don't take my word for it. Make a 6-day test without risking one penney. Just get a jar of Peacock's Imperial Creme at your favorite department or drug store. Use this thrilling cream for 6' days — satisfaction guaranteed by The Mitchum Company or return unused portion to retailer for full refund. No questions asked. Peacock's Imperial Creme can work wonders for wrinkles, lines, brown spots and other weathered blemishes. You may obtain Imperial Creme for $2.00 at Ogilvies.

Work Rushed For Schools And Playlots

Modernization programs at four Hancock County schools are proceeding on schedule, the board of education announced at its meeting Monday night in New Cumberland.

The Chester and New Cumberland projects are to be turned back to the board by Aug. 18 along with the Weirton Heights building. The Liberty Elementary work is nearing completion, with the turn-back to the board scheduled Aug. 11.

Bids on the conversion of a kitchen at the Chester building into four classrooms were reported "far in excess of the projection" and board members delayed action pending a decision on whether they be resubmitted early in the fall or whether the work should be handled by the maintenance department.

Board members conceded this will cause some difficulty in the placement of classrooms for September, but explained that the multi - purpose rooms at both the Chester primary and intermediate buildings can be used on a temporary basis to fill the gap.

The development of the playgrounds also is progressing smoothly, according to the board.

The playlot at the Chester primary school is scheduled to receive fencing and blacktopping the first week in August along with new equipment. The Newell basketball court also is scheduled to be resurfaced shortly.

Girl Injured Has Birthday

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A girl who suffered severe head injuries when a tree fell on her in the July 4 thunder storms that rake Northern Ohio and was given only the slimmest chance for survival celebrated her 19th birthday at St. John Hospital Monday.

Monte Adkins and his wife Linda, newlyweds of a month, were at Edgewater Park for July 4 fireworks when the storms came. They and four others were struck by the tree.

Firemen on a passing fire pumper threw away the rules and instead of calling an ambulance rushed the girl to the hospital. The quick action by the firemen helped save Linda's life, doctors said.

Doctors told the family that only a miracle could save Linda. The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kartune, told their minister. The minister told his congregation. Everyone prayed.

Physicians said they were amazed at the progress she had made.

Fast Divorce Bill Approved In California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A bill making it quicker and easier to get a divorce in California has been passed by the State Legislature over protests that it will turn the nation's most populous state into a divorce mill.

Sponsors said Gov. Ronald Reagan had told them he would sign the measure, so it appeared that the first basic change in the state's divorce law since its enactment in 1872 would become law on Jan. 1, 1970.

The main effect is to abolish the seven current grounds for divorce, such as adultery or cruelty, all of which require the court to rule one spouse to blame for a marital breakup. In their place, only two grounds would remain:

The incurable insanity of one spouse or a showing that there are "irreconcilable differences, which have caused the irremediable breakdown of the marriage." The term "divorce" would be replaced—legally with "dissolution of marriage."

A 25-8 Senate vote approving the bill Monday followed earlier Assembly ratification of the sweeping measure, adopted after three years of study and debate.

An opponent, Republican Sen. Clark L. Bradley of San Jose, contended the new law is "a step in the direction of Reno-Las Vegas type of divorce proceedings . . . We do not want California to become a divorce mill state."

The measure cuts to six months the current one-year residency requirement and the time between filing for a divorce and getting it. At present, 11 of the 50 states have residency requirements of six months or less.

Flood Threats Seen

Torrential Rains Taper Off In Mid-Atlantic Area

By The Associated Press

Rainfall during the night generally was light by recent standards. Four- to 6-inch downpours swamped portions of eastern Pennsylvania Sunday night and early Monday.

A state of emergency was declared Monday night in East Stroudsburg, Pa., due to local flooding. Rising flood waters from rain-fed creeks turned the Pocono Mountain resort community of Canadensis into a near ghost town. The precise number of persons evacuated was not determined.

Effects of the heavy rains ranged over most of New Jersey and across a large part of New York. Flooded basements and streets were numerous throughout Monday.

Downpours which swept the upstate New York community of Liberty sent a 3-foot flood of water through the town's main street. Sullivan County authorities declared their Catskill Mountain county a disaster area.

Days of off-and-on rain along the Eastern Seaboard left some residents determined to enjoy life despite the bad weather. A crowd of 2,000 young people sat for five hours Monday night in New York's Central Park—during an intermittent downpour—to hear a concert by the Butterfield Blues band. Only a handful bothered with umbrellas.

The storms also ranged south into Maryland and Virginia. Nearly 3 inches of rain soaked Washington, D.C., through Monday.

Severe thunderstorms swept over Richmond late Monday and dumped almost 3 inches of rain in some parts of the city. Winds accompanying the storms toppled trees, smashed windows and ripped store awnings.

Farther to the south, the season's first tropical storm, Anna, was expected to intensify to hurricane force later today. The storm was more than three days away from any land area, however.

Clear and cooler weather rolled across the Midwest in the wake of the Northeastern rains. Temperatures fell into the 50s and 60s over much of the Plains, Midwest and Great Lakes region.

Conviction Upheld By Appeals Court

CINCINNATI (AP)—The 1st District Court of Appeals upheld Monday the conviction of Albert L. Lederer, 22, serving an indeterminate reformatory term for possession of narcotics.

Lederer was convicted by a common pleas court jury. More than $250,000 worth of marijuana was taken at the time of his arrest, police reported.

Whisky Removed From Stolen Truck

CINCINNATI (AP) — Thieves took a tractor - trailer loaded with whisky from the All Ohio Express Inc., storage terminal here over the weekend and abandoned it after removing 148 cases valued at $7,400.

Police said the rig was found on the city's eastern outskirts Monday and that 652 cases of whisky still were inside.

Clerk's Position Will Be Filled At Cumberland

He will fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Nedra Schlee, effective this coming Thursday.

Mayor Bartley had requested Mrs. Schlee to serve as clerk after he took office July 1. She said she would do so for a month, if given some help with the duties. No assistant was named.

Mrs. Schlee will take her second week of vacation from Aug. 1 to 7, during which time she will be in the city building to complete some unfnished business, namely the water - sewage refunds. She said that although she will be in the building, it will be closed to the public.

At the Aug. 4 session, action will be taken on a request for a salary increase for the city's two employes and on the park board which was set up at the close of former Mayor Jack Watson's administration.

Mayor Bartley reported he has requested an audit of the city books by the West Virginia Tax Department.

Man Claimed While Being Burglarized

WASHINGTON, Pa. — The "Old Grouch" is dead.

Police said the 87-year-old Florence K. Fawcett was trying to load a shotgun when he was overpowered by a burglar Sunday.

Fawcett contributed $84,500 to Pittsburgh's Children's Hospital under the nickname "The Old Grouch." For many years he refused to identify himself for officials of a fund that benefits Children's Hospital and the Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children.

"Just say it's from the Old Grouch who used to chase the children. And don't try to find out who I am, for if you do and I learn about it, my contributions stop," he once said.

But after his wife, Kathryn Gettman Fawcett, died in 1965, the "Grouch" made a $5,000 contribution in her memory and revealed his identity.

State police said they found the old man's body bound and gagged in an upstairs room of his home here Sunday. Officers said money and jewels, including a diamond studded Masonic ring, were missing.

Fawcett apparently heard the burglar entering the back door of the house and locked himself in his bedroom, police said. The bedroom door was forced open and an unloaded shotgun found near the body, according to police.

Fawcett, president of Penn Manufacturing Co., a valve and pipe producer, also contributed to churches in the Washington area. Officials said his contributions bought five or six church organs.

St. Clair Seeks Aid With Mowing

The need for mowing equipment was discussed at a meeting of the St. Clair Township trustees Monday night.

Several requests for roadside mowing have been received, but the township mower is inoperable, and it is too late to advertise for bids and purchase a new machine.

Anyone with a tractor and mower interested in doing township work may notify Robert Simms, trustee chairman.

Street opening permits were granted to the Ohio Valley Gas Co. for Cannons Mills Rd. and Coolidge Ave. Bills totaling $3,428 were paid. The next meeting will be Monday night.

Pa. Senate Studies Big Spending Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — A $2.057 billion general spending bill, largest in the history of the Commonwealth, was under consideration in the Senate today with opponents contending its final passage would force on Pennsylvanians a personal income tax.

Supporters of the measure disagreed that an income tax was inevitable, although they freely admitted that approval of the giant - sized appropriation would commit the state to a need for more than $400 million in additional revenue.

The proposed legislation would authorize the bulk of state spending proposed in a $2.455 billion budget recommended by the House Democratic leadership as an alternative to Gov. Shafer's $2.575 billion spending program.

The bill, approved by the Senate Appropriations Committee Monday, was released to the floor for a final vote which could come on Wednesday. Unless amended, the measure would go to Gov. Shafer, since the House passed it July 16.

House Republicans, who opposed the Democratic-sponsored bill because of its size, were unhappy with the GOP-controlled Senate for allowing the measure out of committee without reductions.

Rep. H. Jack Seltzer, R-Lebanon, ranking Republican on the House Appropriations Committee, charged that a "coalition of House Democrats and Senate Republicans" were working to force passage of a statewide income tax.

Senate President Pro Tempore Robert D. Fleming, R-Allegheny, said an income tax was not inevitable, but added: "Somewhere, somehow the legislature is going to have to come up with $450 million or $500 million in new taxes."

House Democrats maintained that only $400 million in new revenues were needed to finance their budget. In addition to the general spending bill, it includes lesser appropriations for state-aided institutions and a pay increase for state employes.

Income Tax Endorsed By Pa. Chamber

HARRISBURG (AP) — A personal income tax for Pennsylvanians has been endorsed by the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce as preferable to one that would hike business taxes by more than 85 per cent.

Robert Hibbard, executive director of the chamber, said Monday his group was endorsing the personal tax as the most equitable method of solving the state's current and future fiscal problems.

"By comparison, the tax package which is presently being proposed by the House Democratic leadership would deal a severe blow to all of the efforts to develop new industry and expand employment opportunities," Hibbard said.

Hibbard said the business tax increase proposed by Democrats "is a far cry from the 70 per cent general taxes and 30 per cent corporate advocated by the governor's bipartisan Tax Study and Revision Commission."

Generally, the consumer now pays between 70 and 75 per cent of the state's taxes with business paying the rest.

Gov. Shafer proposed a general 3 per cent tax on total personal income in his 1969-70 fiscal budget and estimated it would yield about $495 million.

Grocery stores carried some 867 items in 1928, compared with 7,350 in 1967 and a predicted 10,000 by 1970.

Chester Council Acts On Variety Of Matters

Among other things, the legislators gave second reading to a new franchise for the Monongahela Power Co.; took steps to set up a new insurance program; heard a complaint relative to property damage, and pressed Penn Central for repairs to its bridge on 3rd St.

—:—

A COMPLAINT by Matt Steple of Pyramus Ave. on property damage resulting from digging by Blaine Dotson on adjoining land was referred to Frank DeCaupio, street program chairman, for investigation.

Welty Vulgamore, a representative of the Nationwide Insurance Co., was asked to submit an estimate on the cost of complete coverage for the city at Council's next meeting following a general discussion last night.

The city's present policies, now with the E. G. Jackson Agency, have either expired or will expire in the near future, it was pointed out.

After an inquiry by Councilman Roy Cashdollar, City Clerk Richard Johnson said that warning signs to protect children using playgrounds will be ordered immediately.

After a discussion, Council declared that it would be up to the owner — and not the city— to cut down a tree on the Oscar Six property.

Requests for a re - cleaning of the ditch on Fairview Rd. due to the recent heavy rains and a drainage ditch for Singer Dr. were referred to the street department.

COUNCILMAN William Tuttle remarked that lumber from a house on Fairview St. being torn down has been placed on top of a fire hydrant near the house. He was asked to notify whoever is doing the demolishing to remmve the lumber.

City Solicitor John Hines informed Council that the firm of Jordan and Flowers will represent the city in three sidewalk injury suits.

He noted that a city ordinance requires owners to keep sidewalks in front of their property clean.

Hines also reported that he had sent a letter to Keith Cox instructing him to repair a broken sewer line on his propery, but has received no reply.

A letter also was sent to Albert Murphy of Charles St. instructing him to connect to the city sewage system. Hines reported that Murphy said he will do so when the lines are brought up to his property.. During a discussion on the matter, Councilman Kenny Williams said that "if a sewage line is available, he has to hook onto it." To which Cashdollar replied, "the whole issue is based on what you consider available."

According to a regulation of the city sewer board, the city is required to bring the line within 50 feet of private property.

At the present time, the sewage line does no come within 50 feet of the Murphy property, but the city will be willing to extend the line if he is willing to connect on to it, council decided.

HINES SAID that he had written a letter to the Penn Central Railroad asking that its bridge on 3rd St. be repaired, pointing out if it fails to do so the city will do the work.

He suggested that the city look into the possibilty of having the bridge condemned both above and below instead of repairing it.

"If the city repairs the bridge, it automatically will be responsible along the railroad for any accidents that may occur," Hines warned.

The matter was tabled until the railroad company had adequate time to reply to the letter.

A motion was made, and then retracted, authorizing signing a contract with the M.R.W. Asphal Co. of Hanoverton, Ohio, when it was discovered that the contract as presented by the firm did not state amounts of material to be used or yardage to be covered.

A special meeting will be called with representatives of the company before the Aug. 11 starting date of the street program in an effort to iron out the problems.

Fine, Jail Term Given Driver, 39

Curtis E. Prince, 39, of Staunton Ave., Glenmoor, was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to aa five - day term in the County Jail today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Prince was represented by Francis H. Lang, who entered a plea in mitigation before sentence was pronounced.

Meanwhile, the court granted a continuance until next Tuesday in the case of Melvin L. Harris of 1071 Pennsylvania Ave., cited early Friday on Pennsylvania Ave. on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol, resisting arrest and using indecent language and profanity.

Father Finds Young Genius Summer Job

MIAMI (AP) — Like hundreds of other college teachers, Edith Stern has a summer job. Unlike the others, however, she's working because her father got tired of having her loll about the house.

She's only 16.

"I spent the first couple of weeks of the summer doing nothing . . . just reading and relaxing," said Edith, a plump brunette. "But my father decided I had loafed long enough."

So in late June she went to work for IBM and currently is steeping herself in computer logic and language.

"Space technology is closely tied with computers and that's one big reason I'm so interested in this field, I'm a real science fiction nut," she said.

Edith, a recognized genius, graduated from college last summer—seven years early. She spent last winter teaching basic college algebra and trigonometry at Michigan State University and working part-time on her master's degree in math.

"I was scared to death that first day," she recalled. "I was petrified. I'd never lectured to a class before. But really there's nothing to it—after the first day."

She has mixed emotions about teaching.

"One can lose one's temper with those students who refuse to understand, won't do their home work and so forth," she said. "But it's also a good feeling to see the students who worked so hard finally pull through."

Edith said she had no real discipline problems. "I found a cold look and a simple statement of authority could handle it," she explained.

Several students, upon learning her age, tried to "snow me," she said, "but I quickly put that down."

Enrollment Hits Summer High At Kent State Here

A total of 328 students enrolled in the East Liverpool branch of Kent State University for the summer quarter, Richard Q. King, director, announced Monday.

The summer quarter was divided into two five-week sessions, with 197 attending the first five weeks and 131 the final session.

King said this is the largest attendance for the summer quarter at the center. In 1968, 211 were enrolled.

Thieves ripped a 4-by-8-foot sheet of siding from the rear of the Glenmoor auction building Sunday night and stole a $250 colored television set and a $15 transistor radio.

Owners Dan and Cecile Brand reported the burglary to the sheriff's office Monday. They said they live within 30 feet of the building and have a watchdog, but heard nothing during the night.

Sheriff's Deputy Robert Wellington investigated.

Nixon Aides Disagree On Space Issue

SEATTLE (AP) — Two members of President Nixon's cabinet have called for a lower priority for space expenditures, but Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says he still believes the nation should aim to put a man on Mars in this century.

"We should stop giving space a No. 1 priority," Secretary of Housing and Urban Development George Romney told newsmen after the opening session of the Western Governors' Conference Monday.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert Finch said space officials "will have to show much greater budgetary restraint than has been the case in the past."

"Instead of saying we will spend what it takes to put a man on a certain planet," Finch said at a news conference, "we are going to have to say to NASA (the National Aeronautics and Space Administration) 'This is your chunk of the pie.' "

Agnew, in a television interview after addressing the governors, said: "We should level in on a target that is understandable and meaningful. I think that Mars is a realistic objective."

A Columnist's Mailbag

By HAL BOYLE

American families, despite brief upturns in size, are gradually growing smaller. The average family in 1790, when the first census was made, had 5.7 members. Today it has 3.7 members.

Men are worse litterbugs than women, a survey found. People between 21 and 35 litter twice as much as those between 35 and 49, and three times as much as people over 50. Oddly enough, the survey found that city people litter less than those in small communities.

Armstrong Pleased With Museum Plans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Astronaut Neil Armstrong has expressed pleasure over Gov. James A. Rhodes' proposal to build a museum in his honor at Wapakoneta, Armstrong's home town.

"Tell the governor that I am highly honored and most pleased to accept his proposal," Armstrong told his mother in a telephone conversation shortly after he returned from the moon.

Portions of the conversation were related Monday by Daniel Porter, executive director of the Ohio Historical Society.

Porter said response to the governor's proposal has been "terrific" and construction of the $1 million museum should begin within a short time. He said it will be one of tre "finest educational museums in America."

Stokes Charges Cities Slighted In Crime Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Big cities aren't getting their share of federal aid for police protection, Cleveland Mayor Carl B. Stokes said Monday.

Stokes told the House Crime Committee that present legislation is putting too much money into small communities when the bulk of the crime problem is in metropolitan areas.

Stokes also urged Congress to tighten up existing firearms legislation.

He said efforts in Cleveland to enact gun registration laws have "encouraged stiff opposition from some of those who had been crying most loudly for law and order in our community."

The term law and order, he said, has come to mean "the suppression of protest against injustices and wrongs, the unwillingness to redress grievances, the unwillingness to attack poverty and discrimination."

This house is one in a thousand. For every one of these, 999 homes in this area can be economically converted to electric heat. That's one reason why the switch to flameless electric heat is breaking all records. People who have it are comparing their bills for electric heat against their former fuel bills and are telling their friends it cost (1) "about the same," (2) "a fraction more" or, (3) "a little less." If you're beginning to think your home could be converted and heated inexpensively with electric heat, the chances are 999 out of a thousand you're right. Let us prove it. Get a free estimate.

2 Offer Bids For Cruisers

Two firms filed bids Monday noon with the city government on purchase of three 1970 model sedans for use as police cruisers.

Mike Turk, Inc., submitted the apparent low offer of $5,608 net on three Chevrolet Biscayne four - door sedans.

The city will determine the best offer on the basis of the net price after deductions for trade-in of three vehicles—two 1968 model Dodge sedans and a 1968 Plymouth sedan. The city asked for alternate bids — one covering a new car with the Plymouth in trade and the other on two new autos with the two Dodges in trade.

Turk offered one new Chevrolet at $2,636 less a $700 trade-in on the Plymouth, for a net price of $1,936. It offered two new Chevrolets at a total of $5,272, less a $1,600 trade-in on the Dodges, which made a net price of $7,352 for three 1970 model Ford custom four - door sedans.

Its gross bid on the autos was $8,802, or $2,934 each. Its trade-in offer showed $550 for one of the Dodges, $500 for the other and $400 for the Plymouth, which would cut the net price for the three cars to $7,352.

Mayor George E. Willshaw, Engineer George S. Bloomgren and Auditor L. J. Zollinger represented the city government at the bid - opening. Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey was absent because he is hospitalized. He and the mayor comprise the Board of Control, which will award the contract.

Pope Paul Plans Visit To Uganda

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — Two days before the arrival of Pope Paul VI to honor 22 Ugandan martyrs, Kampala is throbbing with papal fever.

"You might say Uganda has gone on a pope-mania binge," said a local African prelate. "It's as if everyone was trying to outdo his neighbor."

Everywhere around Kampala, and along the more than 50 miles of roads the Pontiff will cover, every telegraph post bears either a white and yellow Vatican banner or the Ugandan flag.

In town, the local movie theater is offering a bill of fare to whet pilgrims' appetite's—"The Shoes of the Fisherman" with Anthony Quinn as a future Pope,

Enterprising Ugandans are peddling everything from books on the lives of the African martyrs to shirts and ties decorated with the figures of Pope Paul and President Milton Obote in garish colors. The government, which has monopolized the souvenir business, had them made in Hong Kong and they are on sale at $3 each.

Other items on sale include a papal medal, engravings, and specially stamped coins.

Schools are holding exhibitions of children's art and several Ugandans will offer the Pontiff a suit specially made for him out of the bark of banana trees, which provide the national staple food.

Twenty-two walkers from Vulu have set out for a trek of 200 miles on foot to Namugongon, where the Pontiff will consecrate a shrine to the first African saints of modern times.

A five-day culture festival offers a martyrs' play and other religious presentations.

Uganda radio has entered into the spirit by blaring a "Pope chachacha song" at regular intervals.

Officials, although gladdened by the display of enthusiasm, fear it might get out of control when the Pope touches down at Entebbe Airport and drives into Kampala on Thursday.

Although Uganda is about 35 per cent Catholic, some officials believe the Pope may have to fight a crush of hundreds of others wanting to touch him in scenes reminiscent of his trip to Bombay in 1964.

Although they can occur at all hours, tornados develop mostly between three and seven p.m., when maximum heating takes place.

Man Treated After Mishap

A Columbiana man was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way at a stop sign as the result of an accident on Route 164 just east of Lisbon Monday at 7:50 a. m.

Stanley J. Gurney of Columbiana, driving a 1968 sedan, pulled his auto into the path of a car operated by Richard J. Dowd, 16, of Lisbon RD 5.

Neither driver was injured.

Gerald Smith, 34, of Rogers RD 1, was driving a tractor-trailer on Route 30 just east of the Stark County line Monday at 9:45 a.m. when, in an attempt to avoid an oncoming car, he left the road and struck a utility pole.

Jerry P. Ryan, 18, of Pittsburgh, driver of a 1964 sedan, was attempting to pass an unidentified vehicle at the time of the incident.

No one was injured. The truck was damaged badly.

Health, Safety Group To Convene Tonight

LISBON — The Columbiana County Health and Safety Council's quarterly meeting at 8 tonight in the extension office, 113 S. Market St., will feature several reports, Mrs. Joseph Mattevi of Lisbon RD 4, president, says.

Southern Local Seeks Vote On $160,000 Issue

The Southern Local School District filed a resolution with the County Election Board Monday seeking a new vote on a proposed $160,000 bond issue to finance construction of six new classrooms at its high school.

A similar issue was rejected at the May primaries. The bonds would be retired over a 16-year period with a 1.1 - mill levy on real estate, the resolution says.

Southern Local also asked a vote on renewal of an 8.8-mill levy to provide funds for current operating expenses. In effect for "a continuing period of time," the levy would begin with the tax year 1969.

Meanwhile, Franklin Township filed a proposed new 1.8-mill levy to raise money for "providing and maintaing fire apparatus." It would be in effect five years.

Crackdown Set On Restaurants

That was the word Monday from City Consumer Affairs Commissioner Bess Myerson Grant in announcing that a dozen restaurants have received summonses for adulterating hamburgers with starch, soy flower or excessive fats.

The burgers are supposed to consist of pure chopped beef, with a maximum fat content of 30 per cent.

"We intend to go out again and again until sellers of hamburgers learn that 'Thou shalt not commit adulteration,'" Mrs. Grant declared in announcing a crackdown.

Cards, Cubs Edge Opponents

BECKERT ERASED. Glenn Beckert of the Chicago Cubs is tagged out by San Francisco first baseman Willie McCovey in Monday's game at Wrigley Field, Chicago. Juan Marichal made the throw from the mound. Umpire Andy Olsen made the call. Cubs rallied to win the 10-inning game, 4-3.

Pinson Just 1 Game Shy Of Hit Mark

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Vada Pinson and Billy Williams attended to their private business in plenty of time to become good company men when the chips were down.

Pinson ran his hitting streak to 19 games with a fourth inning single Monday night, then came up with the deciding hit and saving defensive play in the St. Louis Cardinals' 2-1 victory over San Diego.

Williams also singled in the fourth, for a 17-game hitting skein, before stroking the winning single in a two-run 10th inning rally that sent the Chicago Cubs past San Francisco 4-3 in the day's only other game.

The action picks up in both the National and American Leagues today, with 17 games listed on the schedule.

In the NL, Houston is at New York, Atlanta at Philadelphia and Los Angeles at Pittsburgh for twi-night doubleheaders, San Diego at St. Louis and Montreal at Cincinnati for single night games and San Francisco at Chicago in the afternoon.

New York visits Oakland, Boston is at California, Washington at Seattle and Baltimore at Kansas City in AL night games while Detroit plays a twi-night twin bill at Minnesota and Chicago visits Cleveland for another pair under lights.

Pinson matched the NL's season-high hitting streaks, shared by Pittsburgh's Matty Alou and Willie Stargell, with his fourth inning single, then doubled to score Julian Javier in the sixth and give St. Louis a 2-0 lead.

Cardinals' rookie Chuck Taylor blanked the Padres until the eighth, when they scored on an error by Javier, an infield hit by Ed Spiezio and a double by Roberto Pena.

An intentional walk filled the bases with one out, but Pinson gloved Nate Colbert's foul fly down the right field line and fired to the plate to nail pinch runner John Sipin, completing a rally-killing double play.

Javier cracked a leadoff homer off loser Dick Kelley in the first inning and singled ahead of Pinson's RBI double in the sixth, helping Taylor gain his third victory without a loss.

Juan Marichal walked pinch hitter Willie Smith with two out in the 10th, and Don Kessinger, Glenn Beckert and Williams followed with singles, giving the Cubs their first Wrigley Field victory over the Giants' ace in five years.

The Giants overcame a 2-0 deficit on Willie McCovey's two-run homer off Bill Hands in the eighth and took a 3-2 lead in the top of the 10th on Willie Mays' run-scoring single.

The victory increased the Cubs' East Division lead over second place New York to five games.

AARON FINALLY WINS. Tommy Aaron accepts the Seagr am Gold Cup from Mr. Charles Bronfman, president of Seagram's after the 32-year-old Aaron won the Canadian Golf Tour nament in a playoff Monday. Aaron's playoff round of 70 was two better than Sam Snead who carded a 72.

Bests Snead In Playoff

Aaron's 70 Earns Win After Much Frustration

He's finally shed the stigma of the perennial also-ran by winning a tournament.

The tall, 32-year-old from Callaway Gardens, Ga., made it to the winner's circle Monday after a nine-year wait, capturing the Canadian Open Championship by two strokes in an 18-hole playoff round with veteran Sam Snead—25 years his senior.

"I guess you won't talk about the fact I've never won one now," Aaron gently chided newsmen. "You'll probably quit writing about me because there's nothing unique about me now. I've become one of the guys. I've won one."

Aaron shot a two-under-par 70 over the Pinegrove Golf Club layout while Snead had to settle for a par 72.

His victory was a big one financially as well as psychologically. He won $25,000 to Snead's $14,300 and added $4,500 as his share of the gate.

Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., also picked up $4,500 additional money from gate receipts of $18,000 from the estimated 3,000-strong gallery. Fifty per cent of playoff gates are assigned to the golfers involved, with the Royal Canadian Golf Association and the host club equally splitting the other 50 per cent.

The pair had finished the regulation 72-hole route Sunday with identical 13-under -par 275 scores, with Aaron setting a course record with a eight-under 64 in the fourth round to catch Snead.

The veteran had held a six-stroke lead over Aaron entering Sunday's round.

Aaron had registered eight second-place finishes since turning pro in 1960, but had never been able to better those performances.

However, he did his first victory up in style. Leading by one stroke going into the 18h, Aaron guided in a 25-foot putt for an eagle 3, while Snead had his eagle attempt from 40 feet miss by less than an inch and slide four feet beyond the cup.

Snead birdied the hole, but only after the excitement caused by Aaron's efforts had died down.

Snead, who previously won the Canadian title in 1938, 1940 and 1941, got off to a poor start Monday when he went one-over for a 6 on the par-5 600-yard first hole. Aaron parred that one, but the second saw the situation reversed.

They traded birdies on the third and the veteran moved one stroke up on the fourth only to have Aaron pull his 75-foot birdie putt on the fifth and then get another on the ninth to lead by one stroke at the halfway point.

Aaron was out in a two-under 34 and Snead 35.

However, the tide changed as Aaron was one-over-par on the next three holes and Snead went par-par and then one-over, to take a one-stroke lead.

Aaron evened it up on 14 and then went one up on the next hole when he birdied the short, par-3 15th. Both hit par on 16 and 17 to se the scene for Aaron's eagle finish.

Snead said it wasn't pleasant being beaten, but if he had to lose he was glad it was to a good golfer like Aaron. He had predicted early in the going that Aaron was the golfer to watch.

Outduels Shaw In 1-0 Win

McVay's No-Hitter Gives Riverview Series Lead

By BILL WALTZ
Review Sports Editor

Randy McVay threw a masterful no-hitter Monday night to lead Riverview to a 1-0 victory over Richmond to take the first game in the best-two-out-of-three series in the Colt League.

If Riverview, the first half league winner wins this series, it will be crowned 1969 Colt League champions. If Richmond, the second half season champs, rallies and takes the next two contests, another three-game series will be required to decide the league champion.

In Monday's game, McVay was tied up in a terrific pitchers battle with Richmond right-hander Randy Shaw. But McVay was the best of the two hurlers in the contest.

McVay, who has hurled several low-hit games this season finally got a no - hitter last night. He struck out at least one Richmond batter in each inning. In four innings, he fanned two hitters, and struck out the side in the fifth frame. He added single strikeouts in the second and third to record his 13 whiffs for the evening.

The 16-year old righthander walked three Richmond batters, and his infield committed two errors behind him, but his only anxious moments came in the third inning when McVay's own wildness got him in trouble.

He was involved in three 3-2 counts in that frame, and Richmond had two on and two out.

But McVay rared back for that little extra and fanned Richmond shortstop Greg Hickman to snuff the threat.

That was all McVay needed, and to top things off, he never allowed a hit to the opposition.

Riverview threatened to add to its one-run cushion in the sixth when it loaded the bases with two outs. But Shaw got out of the inning when Plant hit a soft liner to the Richmond shortstop.

For McVay it was a night he'll not soon forget — on the mound he gave up no hits, struck out 13, and walked only three.

But Richmond hurler Shaw pitched quite creditably, too, although in a losing cause. His evening's statistics showed two walks and six strikeouts (He struck out the side in the fourth.) He gave up five hits, and got out of two jams in the third and sixth.

But his performance just could not match that of McVay—it was the Riverview hurler's night to shine.

One interesting fact of the game that showed the effectiveness of both pitchers was that there were no putouts recorded by the outfielders of either squad.

The second game of the current series will be played Wednesday night at 6 p.m. at Richmond. A third contest if necessary, is slated for Colt Field Thursday at the same time.

Dale Baird Ranks Second In National Owner Race

Owner Dale Baird, who annually makes a shambles of the trainer standings at Waterford Park, currently stands in second place in the National Owner Rankings, according to the latest figures released from New York.

Through the first six months of 1969, the Illinois horseman had won 54 races in 255 attempts with his own horses.

Marion H. Van Berg leads the national owner standings with 203 winners, but that veteran horseman had started an amazing total of 858 horses.

Four Waterford Park jockeys were ranked among the nation's leaders in the number of races won and Roy Cave, the current leader at the track, was the local leader.

Cave was in sixth place with 124 victories to his credit.

Other Waterford riders who made the big board were Bill Sollars 11th, 109 wins; Owen Headley, 14th, 102 wins; and Ray Nakama, 19th, 96 wins.

Baird, celebrating the announcement that he stands second nationally in races won by an owner and also in number of scored a consecutive triple at Waterford Park Monday night.

Baird started his string in the sixth race when Bersea proved much the best over Mister Snow Man and Gem's Mike. In the seventh, it was Col. Vaughn and in the eighth, Yankee Go Home proved best.

Bill Sollars rode the first and third winners, but guessed wrong in the seventh race when he took the mount on Biard's Sheapard's Hope, the entrymate to Col. Vaughn. Sheapard's Hope finished a belated seventh in that race.

Zaplata won the jackpot competition with 48 of 50. Second place went to Alfred Cochran with 46 of 50 and third to Bob Cochran with 45 of 50.

Harold Rardon displayed perfect shooting form when he broke 25 of 25 to win the 16-yard shoot. Tied for second with 24 of 25 were Dave Claypool, Andy Mellon, Jack Wilson, Harold Lewis and Bob Schultz.

Eddie Blackburn and Clayton Cochran each captured one win in the redbird shoot. Jerry Cochran. Tolson and Zaplata each had one win in the high gun shoot.

The next shoot will be Wednesday at 7 p. m.

In 1968, the University of Dayton football team tied an NCAA record by only losing two fumbles.

Brokaw Best At 9 Holes; Sons To Perform Friday

G. W. Brokaw took the Selective 9 Holes contest at East Liverpool Country Club over the weekend. Brokaw's 30 was one better than Bill Hocking, Jr. Another shot back were Ed Adkins and Dick Witherow who carded 32s.

In the second division, Grant Stover had a 31 in the same contest.

Rain washed out scheduled Club events Sunday, but officials are hoping for better weather this weekend, especialty Friday when the annual Father - Son golf tournament is slated.

The duos will play nine holes in medal play by selective drives and alternate shots. There will be three divisions. The first division will be for the sons that are 16 years and older; the second division includes those 13-15 inclusively; and the third set is made up of those 12 years of age and under.

There will be prizes available for the longest drive on the no. 1 hole in the third division, and the person that hits closest to the pin on the no. 6 hole from either the second or third division will also be the winner of a prize.

Everything gets under way at 5 p.m. Friday afternoon, and to make the golfers work a little harder on the links, the East Liverpool Country Club has arranged to have a patio dinner immediately after play is completed.

Toot Victim Of No-Hitter

Toot Trucking of Lisbon, leader of the Columbiana County Softball League, was the victim of a 1-0 no-hitter in the Youngstown District Tournament Monday night at Todd Park, Youngstown.

Tom Steele of L. & R. Sports, Youngstown City League champion, pitched the masterpiece. John Stoffer who pitched for the Truckers in their state tourney appearance last year, allowed but four hits but one was a first-inning triple which accounted for the only tally.

The Toot nine has another chance since this is a double-elimination tourney. The Truckers will play another Monday night loser at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Todd Park.

Two league games are scheduled tonight at the Salem Rd. field — Salem vs. Wellsville Appliance at 5:45 and Albco Foundry of Lisbon vs. Uncle Pete's of Wellsville at 7.

The New York Yankees have won 29 pennants, 13 ahead of runnerup San Francisco (formerly New York).

Ella May Hayman Has Birdie

By BILL WALTZ
Review Sports Editor

Several golfers were sacred off by the early morning threat of rain, but most of the 22 women that participated in the Ladies Handicap Golf Tournament at Waterford Park Monday played in the beautiful sunshine.

And the heat bothered some of the golfers, but there were some low scores turned in, and each of the three flights had a close race before the individual winners were determined.

Ella Mae Hayman, thanks to a birdie 2 on the 155-yard 15th hole, won the championship flight (12-17 handicap) with a final score of 78-17-61. That was one stroke better than Helen Hvizdak who carded a 77-15-62.

And in the B flight (27 handicap), Doris Gasaway took honors with a 96-27-69, two shots better than second place finisher Nancy Gryska whose scorecard showed a 98-27-71.

All winners and second place finishers received trophies and gift certificates, and also receiving an award was Ann Smith, who recorded the lowest number of putts for the day — 30.

Waterford Park Pro Mario Carfagno also announced two other golf events scheduled for this weekend at the course. Saturday and Sunday will be the days for two features, the second annual Waterford Open, and also at the same time, the hole-in-one contest.

The $10 entry fee for the Open includes green fees for the 36-hole medal play. Prizes will be decided by the number of entries. Last year, more than 80 golfers tried the tough par three layout, and Buster Graham, a husky West Virginia Wesleyan College student, won the tourney with a two-over-par-60. He'll try to make it two in a row this weekend.

Also this weekend, area golfers are invited to compete in the hole-in-one contest to be held on the course's driving range.

A pin will be placed a decided distance from the tee, with a six-foot circle around it. A ball nearest to the cup will mean a new set of aluminum shaft woods to its hitter, plus anyone who puts his shot in the circle will win a new golf ball.

Petrosol Advances With Win

The two East Liverpool entries in the Mildland tournament split their games in the first round action Monday night.

Petrosol, whipped has Midland, 13-0 behind Tim Fenton's three-hitter. The winners banged out 15 hits, including three by Steve Baker. Fiev other Petrosol batters had two his apiece. Kent Montgomery banged a two-run homer for Petrosol.

Then, in the Monday night cap, Tad's Pontiac was on the wrong end of a 9-0 score, with Miller's Super Service getting the win. Tad's Pontiac is therefore eliminated from the tourney, but local hopes are still alive with Petrosol which will meet Super Service in a semi-final game Wednesday night. If Petrosol wins that contest, it will advance to the finals which are scheduled for Friday night in Midland.

NWU Star Released

All-Stars Elect ND Captains

CHICAGO (AP) — The College All-Stars will send a Notre Dame flavored offense and a highly regarded defense against the New York Jets Friday night in the 36th annual All-Star football game in Soldier Field.

Notre Dame quarterback Terry Hanratty and Irish tackle George Kunz Monday were named co-captains on offense, while cornerback Jim Marsalis of Tennessee State and linebacker Bob Babich of Miami of Ohio will co-captain the defense.

Head Coach Otto Graham, who had requested the players not to make the voting a popularity contest, was pleased with the selections.

"The results prove they took this seriously," said Graham. "These four men not only are outstanding athletes, they have been the hardest workers in our training camp."

Hanratty could be the key of the All-Stars hope to whip the Jets and Joe Namath. In three years at Notre Dame, Hanratty piled up 4,738 total yards to break the offense record of George Gipp and set 15 school records.

The last times the All-Stars won was in 1963 when Ron VanderKelen hurled them to a 20-17 triumph over Green Bay. The victory before that was a 35-10 decision over Detroit on the passing of Jim Ninowski.

Graham is not concerned about his offense as much as he is the defense. He is fully aware that the pros' pass patterns usually baffle the collegians in the All-Star game.

Although he will be without the services of LeRoy Keyes of Purdue, who like O.J. Simpson of Southern California and Ron Johnson of Michigan, will be missing because of contract squabbles with their respective clubs, Graham is high on his defensive secondary.

"All the way along in training camp I have been impressed with our defensive secondary," said Graham. "As a group I think it has the speed and quickness to do the job. I'll be disappointed if the Jets get any cheap, quick touchdowns."

Nevertheless, the All-Stars figure to be somewhere around 13 points underdogs against the Jets, who defeated the Baltimore Colts 16-7 in the Super Bowl to become the first American Football League team to qualify for the All-Star game.

Campy, Stan Enter 'Hall'

By BEN DE FOREST

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Four new plaques hang on the walls of the Baseball Hall of Fame today. Two honor pitchers from the dim past, while the other two are for a couple of sluggers known even to the younged generation of fans.

Officially enshrined Monday in this village where baseball was born were pitchers Stan Coveleski and Waite Hoyt and slugging stars Roy Campanella and Stan "The Man" Musial.

Hundreds of fans jammed into Cooper Park to see the ceremony, then walked a couple of blocks to Doubleday Field for the annual Hall of Fame game. The Minnesota Twins thrashed the Houston Astros 7-2 on homers by Frank Quilici, Tony Oliva and Graig Nettles before the game was called after five innings because of rain.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn introduced the new Hall of Fame members at the ceremony and read the inscriptions on their plaques.

Campanella, in a wheelchair since an auto crash in 1958 ended his catching career with the Brooklyn Dodgers, said, "Regardless of my being here today in a wheelchair this is one of the greatest days in my life. Today means so much to me."

Musial, who played 22 years for the St. Louis Cardinals and still holds a host of batting records, almost broke up when he recalled his boyhood in the steel town of Donora, Pa.

"My father," he said, "was a Polish imigrant and a great baseball fan. I always remember him talking about Babe Ruth. The Musials were poor then, and my first toy was a baseball."

He also reminisced about playing against Campanella and the Dodgers. "Campy was always trying to distract me," he said. "It wasn't the Brooklyn pitchers who got me. It was Campy."

Coveleski, now white haired and bent with age, won 216 games in a 14-season career in the majors in the early 1900s. He choked up, too, when it was his turn to be officially inducted, but he managed to go on.

He told of working for $3.75 a week in the coal mines around his native Shamokin, Pa., and of chunking stones at a tin can dangling from a tree—a pasttime that sharpened his pitching skills.

Hoyt spent 21 years in the majors and won a total of 237 games, many of them for the New York Yankees.

Several openings still remain for this year's Martins Ferry Slo-Pitch Softball Tournament which is scheduled to open this Saturday.

Deadline for entries, according to tourney director Ed Zeroski, is this Thursday night. Entry fee is $25. A drawing will be held shortly after the entry deadline to decide the pairings.

Ferry Civics and The Hut sponsor the annual tourney, with more than $400 offered in cash awards, plus trophies to the top two teams.

Fourteen teams are now entered, according to Zeroski, with room for 20 or 24. Twenty teams participated in 1968, with Murphy's construction of Wellsburg winning the title.

Interested teams are asked to call Zeroski at (614) 633-9036 after 3 p.m.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, July 29, the 210th day of 1969. There are 155 days left in the year.

On this date in 1920, air mail service opened between New York and San Francisco.

In 1792, Carolina became a royal province of England.

In 1883, the Italian dictator, Benito Mussolini, was born in Dovia, Italy.

In 1943, during World War II, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower made an offer of peace to Italy.

Also in 1945, the FBI announced that more than 12,000 American men had been convicted as draft dodgers.

In 1946, a peace conference opened in Paris after World War II. Twenty - one nations attended.

Ten years ago — Hawaii held its first election as a state. Voters elected the first orientals to be seated in the U.S. Congress.

Five years ago — U. N. Secretary - General U Thant met with Soviet leaders in Moscow. The main topics: U.N. finances, problems in Asia and disarmament.

Junior Editors Quiz on OYSTERS

QUESTION: How does an oyster make a pearl, and where does the luster come from?

* * *

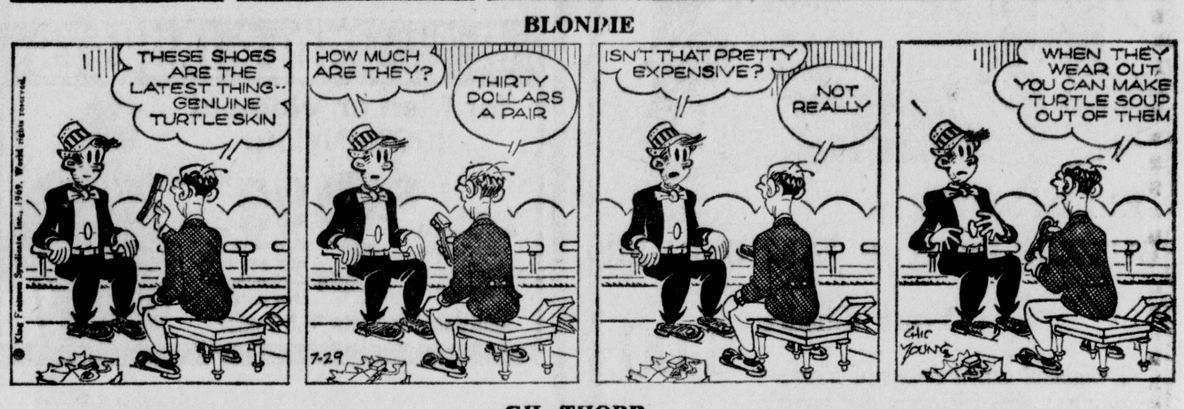

ANSWER: Pearls are spoken of as gems, but they are very different from other gems. Most gems are minerals, stones; their surfaces are hard, their colors usually sharp, glittering. In contrast, the pearl has a unique, soft, irridescent quality. You see partly into it. You see soft rainbow colors which seem to shimmer and move but you can't tell exactly what they are. It is the elusive, mysterious character of the pearl which fascinates you, and it is this quality which gives pearls their great value. Pearls begin when some foreign body, such as a grain of sand, works its way between the shells of a pearl oyster. The soft mollusk between the shells can't stand anything gritty, so it coats the sand particle with a smooth, hard, lustrous substance called nacre. In middle left of our picture, we see a pearl forming, with layer after layer of nacre coating the inside particle. Each layer has tiny crystals which break the light into colors. It is the many layers of such color-producing crystals which give the completed pearl its haunting, shimmering beauty.

(Becky Mooney of Auberry, Calif., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Administration Uncovers $3.1 Billion Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, suddenly and perhaps with a bit of embarrassment, has surprisingly found the federal government had a $3.1 billion budget surplus last year.

The bonanza, which came after months of administration predictions that the surplus would be less then a billion dollars, resulted from income that was higher and outlays that were lower than the fledgling administration expected last January.

Preliminary figures, issued Monday by the Treasury Department and Bureau of the Budget, showed rounded-off receipts of $187.8 billion and outlays of $184.8 billion for fiscal year 1969, which ended June 30.

The surplus caused some Democrats in the Senate to comment that the administration's case for extending the income tax surcharge had been weakened.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., a leading supporter of extension, said the administration is using a new budget basis which counts things as Social Security payments. Without the change, he said, there would have been a deficit.

The most puzzling element of the unexpectedly large surplus was why there was no advance notice. As late as last week, Undersecretary of the Treasury Charles E. Walker predicted a surplus of "a little more than a billion."

That was consistent with the forecast Budget Bureau Director Robert P. Mayo made last May: About $900 million. The Johnson administration predicted almost the same figure last December and the Nixon administration echoed it in January.

The surprising surplus came primarily because the government's income was higher than it expected. Most of the bonanza came from individual income taxes, which were $2.8 billion above estimates. Corporate taxes were $1.4 billion below.

Part of that, the report said, was traceable to lower-than-expected refunds for individuals and higher-than-expected refunds to corporations. Most was due to payments of final taxes on 1968 liabilities and declaration payments on 1969 incomes higher than expected.

The surplus, no matter what its size, was a dramatic reversal from eight red-ink years, led by last year's record deficit of $25.2 billion.

It was the first surplus since a meager $240 million was recorded in 1960, the last year of the Republican Eisenhower administration. And it was the largest since 1957, when the surplus was $3.2 billion—on total outlays of $76.7 billion, less than half the size of the 1969 budget.

Commission Urges Drive On Handgun

WASHINGTON (AP) — A domestic arms race has turned many homes into arsenals and created a situation so dangerous its elimination must be national policy, President Nixon has been told.

In a message that said 24 million pistols are now in private hands, the President's anti-violence commission called for the near-total removal of the concealable handgun from American life.

The President was urged to ask Congress for laws enabling states to license all owners of pistols, restricting their possession only to those who can prove they need them. Stiff penalties would be provided for illegal possession.

Under the plan, the federal government would move to license handgun owners if a state failed to act within four years after passage of the federal law. Licenses would be limited to police officers, security guards, small businesses in high crime areas and others with a special need for self-protection.

The federal government should earmark $500 million — about $20 a gun—to pay owners for the pistols turned in under the proposed law, the commission said.

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, chairman of the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence, urged at a news conference the quick start of a federal crash program to develop an efficient nonlethal weapon to replace the pistol.

In its statement, the commission supported the essential findings of a staff report which said the quadrupling of handgun sales has edged the nation closer to mass violence.

"Civil disorders have stimulated gun buying and the growth of black and white extremist groups, leaving this country with a dangerous legacy: the highly explosive combination of fear and firearms," the staff report said.

The study report said most rightwing paramilitary groups have turned their attention from the fear of external Communist invasion to the fear of internal black maurauders. This has led to the proliferation of neighborhood protective associations, it said.

"Now arms are stockpiled in the home as well as in the hills," the staff report said.

The commission also noted 56 million rifles and shotguns are in private hands.

Hunt Intensified For Girls' Killers

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A special task force of 25 detectives from five police agencies today mounted an intensified search for the killer or killers of seven young women slain over the past two years. Formation of the task force was the latest move in a manhunt which in recent days has included:

—Mounted posses scouring the woodlands around Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti in search of clues to the spot where the girl was killed.

—A computerized search for a mysterious young motorcyclist with whom the latest victim, Karen Sue Beineman, 18, an Eastern Michigan University freshman, was last seen.

Miss Beineman's nude and battered body was found Saturday night, more than three days after she disappeared.

She was the eighth young woman slain in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area in the past two years and the seventh in a string of unsolved and possibly related killings.

A laborer has been charged in one of the eight killings and police have discounted his possible role in the other seven.

William F. Delhey, Washtenaw County prosecutor, in charge of coordinating the manhunt, said the task force consists of detectives from the police departments of Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Eastern Michigan Univer-

Debriefing Continues

Apollo Moonmen Reflect On Significance Of Voyage

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 11 moonmen have been reflecting on the significance of their momentous mission and the place they will take in history, a spokesman quarantined with them reports.

"As you know, they are not outspoken people," he said. "But they feel the significance of what they have done."

They will be released from quarantine Aug. 11 if they have not developed any illness and if nothing harmful has been found in the rocks they brought back from the moon. The rocks, collected by Armstrong and Aldrin when they explored the lunar surface July 20, are being examined in another section of the laboratory.

The astronauts today conclude what is known as a "first blush" debriefing in which they report general impressions of things that occurred during the eight day mission. Generally, they discuss the operations of various spacecraft systems.

On Thursday the moonmen meet with key Apollo officials to

President Schedules Visit To War Zone In Vietnam

U.S. Moves To Reduce Casualties

Modified Strategy Sets Program Of Limited Response

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. commanders in Vietnam have modified their battlefield strategy of "maximum pressure" in recent weeks to a strategy of limited response to enemy tactics, U.S. sources said today.

Termed "protective reaction," the new strategy is designed to hold U.S. casualties down and dates from about the time the current battlefield lull began nearly six weeks ago.

"We are not abandoning the maximum pressure concept, but this certainly does represent a change in it, said one source.

The new strategy is being applied primarily in the 3rd Corps tactical zone which include Saigon and the 11 provinces around it, the area in which most of the fighting has occurred since the lull began June 18.

The sources said that one important aspect of the shift in strategy is that while reconnaissance and ambush patrols and other small units are continuing to circulate freely in the field large-scale forces are now dispatched only in response to intelligence data that indicates a good chance of meeting the enemy.

Prior to the onset of the lull, the sources said, large U.S. units were on the prowl daily in searching operations.

"About the time the enemy stopped moving in big units, so did we, said one source. "We now are relying primarily on our intelligence which is much improved, to respond in kind to whatever the enemy is doing.

The source said this apparently was what Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird referred to when he said on a television program Sunday that American battle actics had changed because the enemy had changed his.

Meanwhile, U.S. troops swept a familiar battleground northwest of Saigon today in search of North Vietnamese stragglers from the sharpest fight the Americans have reported in more than a month.

The U.S. Command said 53 enemy soldiers were killed in a lightning-like pincer thrust Monday into the often contested area known as the Citadel. It is 25 miles from Saigon.

U.S. officers said documents found afterward indicated the fight spoiled plans for a series of attacks on American patrol and artillery bases.

The 25th Infantry Division threw more than 1,000 troops along with tanks and armored personnel carriers into the day-long fight.

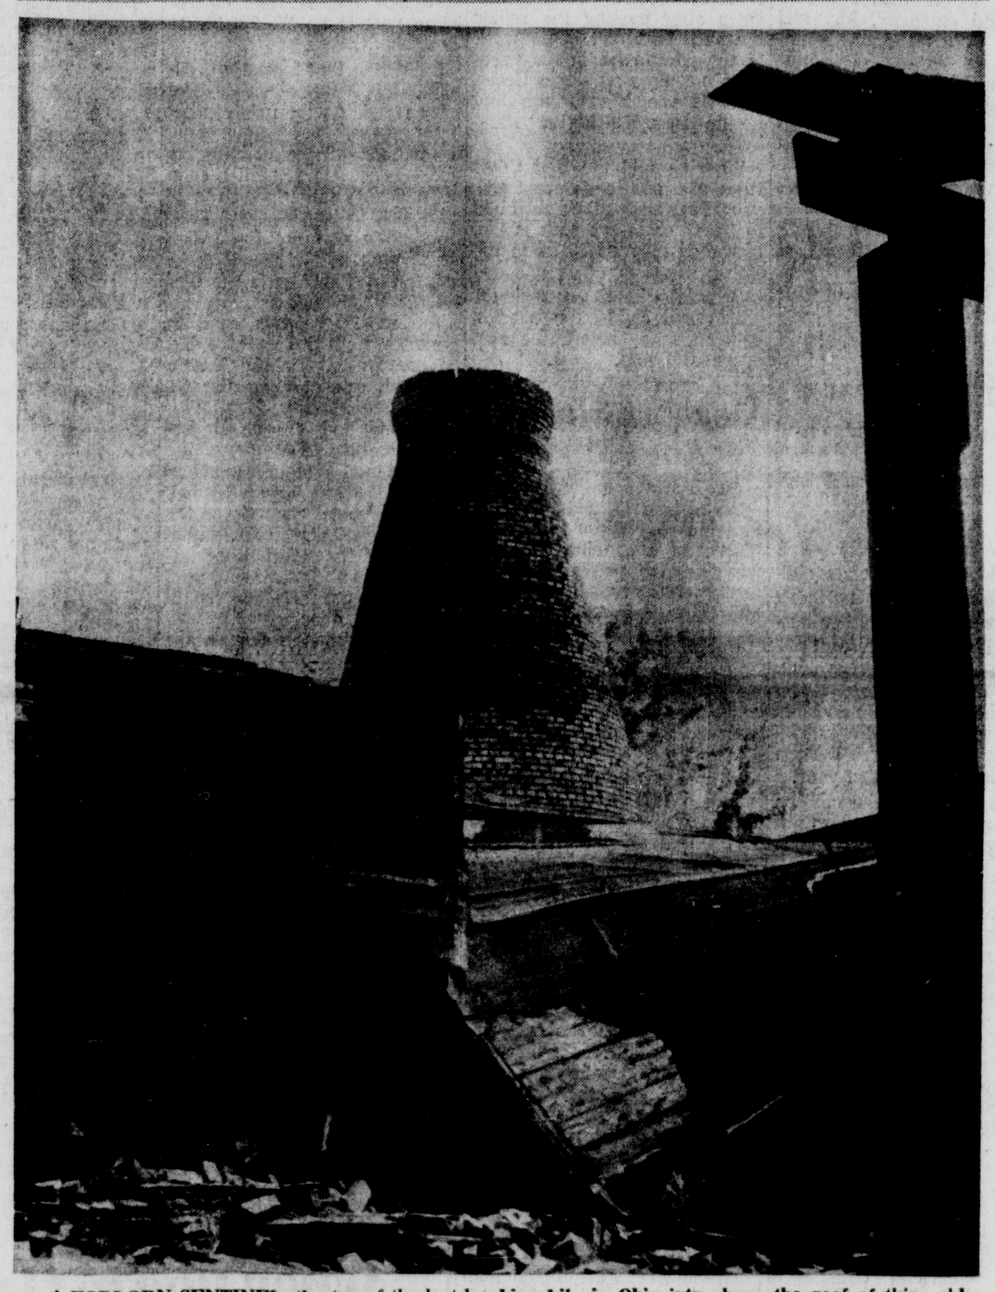

Three Americans were killed and 14 wounded, the U.S. Command reported. The enemy toll was the highest reported in an engagement with American forces when other troops of the 25th Division killed 62 in a battle 50 miles northwest of Saigon.

The troops on Monday also captured six prisoners, several suspects and a quantity of arms.

Despite the size and intensity of the battle, U.S. spokesmen said there was no indication of an end to the lull in enemy attacks, now in its sixth week.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton Abrams Jr., the commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, flew to Bangkok to meet with President Nixon, who arrived there Monday to review the war picture.

Contains Beehive Kiln

Demolition Work Begins On Ancient Local Pottery

Work started today on demolition of an ancient pottery building, at E. 2nd and Market Sts. that is of particular importance to historians because it contains what has been termed the last beehive kiln in Ohio.

The work was proceeding slowly on razing the structure, which once housed the Eagle Pottery operated by Samuel and William Baggott and later was the home of the Mountford & Son plant, which manufactured potters' supplies.

The structure was condemned months ago as unsafe by Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne. Demolition had been delayed for a variety of reasons, including the fact that the Ohio Historical Society and the East Liverpool Historical Society were interested in the possibility of preserving the old kiln.

The Ohio Society once proposed building an Ohio Pottery Museum at or near the site of the kiln. But it was dissuaded by the local society, which pointed to a number of disadvantages in the site — particularly the proximity of the railroad, the noise and dirt in the industrial area and the possibility of a river rise inundating the building and its valuable exhibits.

A lone workman was at the site today, burning old timbers that formed the roof over the rear of the plant. The roof had collapsed into the interior, one of the reasons why the fire chief condemned the building. VanDyne cited the hazard to youngsters of the neighborhood, who had been playing inside the crumbling structure.

The front of the building, which faces on E. 2nd St., is more intact. But the roof is full of holes, the floor is littered with debris and the walls obviously are unsteady. The kiln is

Petunia Plucker

For the past four years, the 2200 block of North Sydenham Street has taken first place in the Pretty Street contest. According to block chairman, Naomi Lewis, judges have been swayed by decorative window boxes displaying petunia arrangements in front of the 60 homes on the block.

This year, someone took the petunias. She told police she suspects the culprit may be a poor loser because even the roots are missing.

Richard Wolf Asks Post On School Board

Richard Keith Wolf of 934 May St. Monday afternoon became the first to file for one of the two seats on the East Liverpool board of education that will be filled in the Nov. 4 general election.

Wolf is a clerk at the Crucible Division of Colt Industries in Midland, where he has been employed 13 years. He is making his third bid for a school board seat.

Harry McConville and William Blair are in expiring terms on the five - member board. Sam Brown, George Ward and Thomas Rodfong are the holdover members.

Married, Wolfe has seven children. He is a native of East Liverpool and was graduated from the local high school in 1950. He also attended Kent State University, leaving when he was a sophomore.

Full Details Are Veiled In Secrecy

Brief Conference Also Slated With Nguyen Van Thieu

BANGKOK (AP) — President Nixon will visit South Vietnam Wednesday and confer with President Nguyen Van Thieu, responsible sources reported today.

Details of Nixon's visit to the war zone were shrouded in security precautions, and White House spokesmen would give no confirmation. But neither would they deny the report.

It was expected that the President would be in Vietnam only a few hours.

Meanwhile, Nixon's top military and diplomatic officials in Sagon flew to Bangkok today to review the situation in Vietnam with the President.

Amid conferences on Southeast Asian security with the leaders of Thailand, Nixon scheduled an up-to-the-minute review of the war with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton Abrams Jr., the commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam.

Nixon has said these talks would influence his thinking on further withdrawals of U.S troops and his assessment of the significance of the battlefield lull in Vietnam, now in its sixth week.

Nixon's published schedule for Wednesday is blank until the evening, when Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn gives a dinner for the President and Mrs. Nixon.

White House spokesmen and American military sources remained silent on the possibility of a Vietnam trip during the day, but there were no denials of the rising speculation.

There was also a possibility that Nixon would drop in on one of the six big U.S. bases in Thailand to speak to the troops.

President Lyndon B. Johnson twice visited American bases in Thailand and Vietnam, stopping each time in Vietnam at the ultra-secure American base at Cam Ranh Bay.

It was believed that Nixon would prefer some other stopping place, perhaps even Saigon. This would impose extra security precautions, but with the war in a lull, it was believed that a visit to the South Vietnamese capital was possible.

The President's second day in Bangkok began with a visit from Gen. Jesus M. Vargas, the Philippine secretary general of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. Then Nixon drove to Government House and met with Prime Minister Thanom, Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman, and Air Marshal Dawee Chullasapya, one of the most powerful members of Thailand's governing military clique.

Central to Nixon's meetings with the Thais were questions of regional security and what military help they can count on from the United States after the Vietnam war.

Arriving in Bangkok Monday, Nixon strongly reaffirmed the Young McGavin and a companion, Scott Anthony Weaver, 19, pleaded guilty June 24. Weaver was sentenced to five years probation Monday. McGavin's sentence was stayed until Aug. 11 so he could complete his high school education at a summer session.

A court spokesman said young McGavin's release from prison would depend on the judgment of parole officials, and that he might serve as long as five years.

LONDON (AP) — A crippled polio victim who is walking the length of Britain on crutches for charity will be met at the end of his walk next month by film star Elizabeth Taylor and her once-crippled adopted daughter, Maria, 9.

The actress and her husband, Richard Burton, decided to give 21-year-old David Rider some practical encouragement after reading he was disheartened at the lack of public interest in his venture.

David set out from John O'Groats, the northerly tip of Scotland, 39 days ago to walk the 900 miles to Lands End, the southwesterly tip of England.

Now the Burtons have offered to pay all his expenses.

"We were very moved to read of this remarkable young man's extraordinary feat," said Burton.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A pretty blonde mother of six children begins a fight today against what she calls her husband's killer—cigarettes.

She's Peggy Talman, 40, widow of William Talman who played the always defeated district attorney on the Perry Mason television show. Talman died of lung cancer this year.

"Since his death, the chidren and I have carried on his fight in any way we can," says Mrs. Talman.

Today she flies to Sacramento to urge passage of a pending bill outlawing cigarette advertising in California. She wants to visit each member of the Assembly Committee on Commerce and Public Utilities, now considering the bill.

"I'm really an amateur at this," says Mrs. Talman. "I hope that I won't do or say the wrong thing." If she succeeds, she'll go to Washington to urge similar national legislation—if she can get a baby sitter. The Talman children range in age from 3 to 21.

Youths End Walkout At Midland Pool

Lifeguards at Midland's Veterans Memorial Swimming Pool reported back to work Monday following settlement of a dispute for higher pay which began Thursday.

After a meeting with Councilman William Vinovich, pool committee chairman, the employes agreed to return. There will be no wage increase, but Vinovich said there may be a change in scheduling to allow the lifeguards more time off.

Most of the other pool personnel walked off their jobs with the lifeguards. The pool was closed Thursday. Following a meeting Friday, the lifeguards reported to work at 1 p.m., but walked off again at 2:30 p.m.

Out-of-town lifeguards were hired to work Saturday and Sunday. The lifeguards earn $300 for the summer work. It has been the policy of the pool committee to hire as many youths as possible to allow more to make the extra money for school clothing and spending money, Vinovich explained.

Vinovich said he will tolerate no more walkouts, and the pool will be open the rest of the year. He said a possible pay raise will be considered in next year's budget.

He said the employes left the meeting Monday with a "good understanding." David Frable and Joe Honacker, who recently received Red Cross certificates after passing the senior lifeguard test, will begin work at the pool to fill in for vacations and time off. John Uccellini, Bernice Newman and Elaine Sepos will be on "stand by."

Vinovich said the Red Cross rules are a little different this year. Previously a lifeguard had to be 17 or in the 11th grade, now they may be 15 or in the 10th grade.

He said swimming lessons for adults and children are being held each day before the pool opens at 1 p.m.

Hearing Slated In Auto Mishap

An Irondale motorist will face a hearing Saturday before Mayor William Daugherty of Wellsville on charges stemming from a two-car collision Sunday afternoon that moderately damaged two vehicles, a pine tree and the corner of a private dwelling.

Charges with "reckless operation" is Tony Fortune, who Police Chief John Hephner said was cited at approximately 1:55 after the 1962 sedan he was driving struck the rear of a halted 1962 sedan driven by Robert W. Arnold of Lisbon RD 2, bounced off the Arnold vehicle, crossed a private yard, striking a pine tree, and came to rest against a corner of the home of Gale G. Williams of 1919 Clark St.

In another weekend mishap, cars driven by Earl W. Campbell of 1136 Mick Rd. and Terry R. Medley of 1339 Main St. were involved in a collision at 3rd St. and Broadway.

Hephner said the Campbell car, halted at a traffic light, was struck from behind.

There were no injuries and no citations.

Zoning Change Approved For Site Of Funeral Home

The City Planning Commission gave quick approval Monday night to a proposed change in zoning on the north side of W. 6th St. between Jackson and Jefferson Sts., clearing the way for the Martin Funeral Home to build a new facility on part of the tract.

After conducting the required public hearing at City Hall, in which no comments were presented either for or against the change, the commission approved the application to change the zoning classification from "R-3" (medium high density residential) to "B-5" (central business district).

RURAL LN., midway between W. 6th St. and W. 7th St., forms the northern boundary of the rezoned area. The original proposal called for rezoning a tract about twice the size—taking in properties fronting on W. 7th St. But because of objections from the residential area fronting on W. 7th St., the size of the area was reduced to take in only the property bounded by W. 6th St., Rural Ln., Jackson St. and Jefferson St.

The application for change in zoning was filed several months ago. The Martin Funeral Home, Inc., acquired property in the area early this year and announced plans for construction of a new facility. The funeral home now is on W. 5th St. at Jackson St.

Buildings that formerly occupied the tract already have been razed. As the public hearing convened, Frank Mangano, a member of the commission and its secretary, read a copy of a legal notice which was published in The Review. Then he read a copy of the notice which was mailed to all property owners within 200 feet of the affected tract.

The meeting was opened to remarks from the audience, but no one spoke. Richard Martin attended, representing the funeral home. Lester H. Null, president, and George Barbaree, secretary treasurer, of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, also attended. The IBOP owns property on the south side of W. 6th St., within 200 feet of the affected area. It also sold to the Martin Funeral Home the property covered in last night's hearing.

In approving the change, the commission referred it to Council for the legislative action that will make it final. John Parsons moved for approval and asked that the record show that "there were no objections, either oral or written."

IN OTHER business, the commission gave its approval to a request from the Ferro Corp. for closing a block-long section of Putnam St. between Harvey Ave. and the Penn Central right-of-way to allow the firm to expand its Louthan plant on property which it already owns to the east of Putnam St.

The Putnam St. closing question also was referred to Council for legislative action. The commission first received the request at its July 14 meeting, discussed it and referred it to Council. At its July 21 meeting, Council indicated it would approve the request and referred it back to the commission for a formal recommendation.

Planning Coordinator Don Eckert again reviewed the history of the Ferro request. He said if Putnam St. is closed, Bushwick St. will be opened to provide access between Harvey Ave. and the east end of Klondyke. At present Bushwick is not a through street because there is no crossing over the Penn-Central right-of-way.

The proposal calls for Ferro to pay about $8,400 for relocation of the crossing protection equipment from Putnam St. to Bushwick St. The city will pay the expense of shifting a traffic light from Putnam St. to Bushwick St.

The railroad is slated to build the basic crossing and the city has promised to blacktop it. J. Clifford Conley, a member of the commission, asked if the railroad "will assume the responsibility for proper drainage at the junction of the new crossing and Bushwick St." He said the railroad now does not provide adequate drainage at its crossings at Mulberry St. and Virginia Ave., resulting in flooding of the streets.

Parsons said residents of the area should be "given due notice" of the proposal to close the stretch. George Steele, chairman, replied that a public hearing will be required by law before the segment can be closed officially. Eckert emphasized the proposal affects only one block of Putnam St.

As the discussion ended, Mayor George Willshaw made the motion to recommend to Council that it close the stretch. The motion was approved unanimously. The commission's next regular meeting will be Aug. 11.

Bad Money Management Cited In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — Hugh A. Latimer, American Telephone and Telegraph Co. executive and leader of Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr.'s management task force, has pointed to poor money management as one of the major problems in state government.

Speaking at a Charleston civic club meeting Monday, the task force found that every three months the state issues 2,400 federal withholding deduction checks when four could do the job.

He explained that each of the approximately 100 "payroll units" or departments of state government issues its own checks for federal withholding taxes, Social Security, state income taxes and pension deductions twice a month.

Latimer pointed out that the practice in the business world is for corporations to issue only one check for each deduction, not separate checks for separate units.

So, that, while corporations would issue one check each for the four deductions every three months, the 100 state departments issue 600 checks for each of the four deductions every quarter.

Other examples of inefficiency and duplication in state government Latimer outlined included:

— A loss of about $1.5 million a year in interest because of the average 15 days required to process and send checks to banks. Latimer said the delay results in about $27 million "floating" in state agencies all the time.

— A 25 per cent turnover in male employes each year, necessitating the recruitment and training of about 6,000 new employes every year. Latimer said this compares with about five or six per cent turnover in industry.

— Lack of intra-agency cooperation which causes duplication. Latimer said "nearly every agency has its own reproduction equipment," and there are 16 independent data processing centers in state government.

— Loss of interest on money held in limbo because of the "encumbrance system" of purchasing, which causes money to be set aside while the ordering and billing for items to be bought is completed.

— No set of job standards for clerical workers.

Latimer said that 80 per cent of the changes recomended by the task force in its lengthy report to Moore could be accomplished by executive order. The remainder would require constitutional amendments or legislative action, he added.

He reiterated the claim that if the recommendations were followed the state could realize a savings of $50 million—about $32 million in general revenue fund expenditures and another $18 million in State Road Commission operations.

Latimer is a former vice president and general manager of Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. Since completion of the task force report, he has moved to New York and his AT&T position. He said he will return often to West Virginia to meet with task force leaders and Moore in helping implement the recommendations.

Editorial Raps Young Agitators

BALTIMORE (AP) — "Obviously," says an editorial in a Baltimore newspaper, "it is high time for the educators and civil authorities to quit coddling the student agitators, and to treat them as they deserve."

The editorial continues:

"Something that the schools and colleges of America ought to do right away is to weed out and throw out all the young radicals who defy authority and preach or practice sedition.

"And they are not looking for education.

"Not only should they be thrown out of the institutions they disgrace—they should be thrown out of the counry.

The editorial, under the headline "Oust The Reds!," appeared in the Nov. 6, 1934 edition of the old Baltimore News and the Post. It was uncovered recently in a closet of a vintage Baltimore home by its new owner.

Newspaperboy Loses $3 T 4 Young Thugs

A newspaperboy told police he was robbed of $3 Monday night by four young thugs who accosted him on Ambrose Ave. while he was collecting from customers on his route.

Robert D. Pelly, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pelly of 907 Vine St., reported to police he was walking past the former McKinley School about 9:15 when four older boys overpowered him, held him on the ground and removed the change from his pockets.

Truce Plan Suggested By Biafrans

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — The Nigerian government had no immediate response today to a Biafran proposal for a truce in the civil war while Pope Paul VI is in Africa this week.

But African sources in Kampala said intensive efforts to get a new round of peace talks started would be made in the Ugandan capital during the pontiff's visit there.

Pope Paul will arrive in Kampala Thursday for a three-day church conclave. He said on Sunday his visit also has "an ardent and painful intention—that of peace," and he expressed willingness earlier to do anything he could to mediate between the Nigerians and Biafrans.

Gen. Odumegwu Ojukwu, the Biafran leader, said Monday that he was proposing the truce because "if Africa cannot have a permanent peace now," it should "respect the pontiff's presence and honor his lofty purpose by ensuring that peace reigns in Africa during his stay on the continent."

The Nigerian government has rebuffed past proposals for a truce, contending that the Biafran secessionists would use a cease-fire to regroup without solving the basic problems involved in the war.

Observers in Kampala also noted that the presidents of two African countries that have recognized Biafa, Julius Nyerere of Tanzania and Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia, are due in Uganda Wednesday.

"I would be very much surprised if they did not talk about Biafra with President Obote and anyone from Nigeria or Biafra," a top African diplomat observed.

Pope Paul is officially visiting Africa to honor 22 Ugandan martyrs who died in the 19th Century. He also will address the closing session of the first all-Africa conference of Roman Catholic bishops the day he arrives.

Explorer Plans South Pole Trip

MONTREAL (AP) — Jean-Luc Bombardier, who traveled to the North Pole overland with the Plaisted Expedition last spring, plans to head a four-man team on a trip to the South Pole starting around Nov. 1.

Bombardier, 30, said Monday the team would start at McMurdo Sound, Antarcitca, and planned to complete the snowmobile trip in about 30 days.

Cost Revisions Sought

Buying Order Delayed On C5A Supertransport

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has served notice it may hold up further purchases of the C5A supertransport in order to get major revisions in its multibillion dollar contract with the plane's manufacturer.

Air Force Secretary Robert C. Seamans Jr. said Monday "I am reserving judgment" on buying the remaining 39 of a proposed 120-model purchase pending negotiaions with Lockheed-Georgia Corp.

Asked if the orders holdup isn't a negotiating weapon, he told reporters: "It certainly is."

Seamans met with newsmen as his assistant secretary for installations and logistics, Philip Whittaker, presented a 150-page report on the controversial C5A program requested last April 30 by Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird.

The inquiry was ordered after Congress became increasingly critical of large cost overruns once purported to be as much as $2 billion in the program to build the world's largest air transport.

The Whittaker report said the over-all program cost has gone up 52 per cent, from an original $3.369 billion to $5.125 billion. Both he and Seamans contended this compares favorably with other aircraft programs.

Both made it clear the Air Force wants more C5As for rushing huge amounts of military equipment overseas and that they believe it is a good aircraft.

But Whitaker said his study —based on reports from 11 Air Force groups and an outside civilian advisory committee— turned up "ambiguities and deficiencies" in the contract.

Among these is a repricing clause under which Lockheed could recoup certain losses by and getting dollar readjustments for the second 57-plane run.

Some have referred to this as the "golden handshake" provisions, but Whitaker said the company doesn't stand to make a huge profit.

The repricing formula, he said, "was intended to prevent a catasrophic loss; it was not intended to turn a contractor loss into a profit, and, in fact, it does not do so."

Average flyaway cost for each C5A is now $26.9 million and could go higher, the report stated. Further cost increases are possible, Whittaker said, and if they become significant the program might be jeopardized.

The report found "no clear evidence" Lockheed had "bought" the C5A contact in 1965 with a phoney bid.

Whittaker said, however, Lockheed's cost estimate was too low and the company was "overly optimistic" about how it could handle expected technical problems. A sharp increase in inflation paralleling the Vietnam war also helped bloat the cost of building he plane.

Only five models have actually been built. These are test models which have been performing satisfactorily in flight, Seamans said.

Humphrey Says Offensive Weapons Trouble Russians

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey says Soviet leaders indicated to him much more concern about American development of offensive missiles than deployment of the Safeguard antimissile system.

The 1968 Democratic presidential nominee said in an interview after a 13-day visit to the Soviet Union the Russians "are less concerned about the ABM than about our offensive weapons, the MIRVS (multiple targetable re-entry vehicles)."

The former vice president said he favors continued research on the Safeguard ABM but opposes deployment.

"The ABM is only symbolic," he said. "If we step up our defenses, they feel they have to step up their offensive weapons. But it is our offensive missiles that worry them most."

He said Russian concern over differences with China and their own economic and social needs "requires them to think in terms of a better relationship with the United States—they are more open to discussions." But he added:

"Russia is more Russian than communistic and it moves slowly. There are contesting forces at work. There is a power struggle and no one can predict what will happen."

On other matters, Humphrey said he is "seriously considering" returning to the political wars by seeking election to the Senate from Minnesota next year.

Humphrey said he discussed the American position on international cooperation in space, the Middle East, Vietnam and arms control with Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin.

In talks with scientists, Soviet editors and others, Humphrey said he found universal interest in reaching an agreement in arms control talks.

National Steel Lists Earnings

PITTSBURGH — The National Steel Corp. Monday reported second - quarter net income of $21,396,799, or $1.30 a share, versus $23,390,386, or $1.44 a share, in the same 1968 period. Sales were $320.1 million against $334.1 million a year ago.

George A. Stinson, president of the Pittsburgh - based steelmaker, pointed out, however, that National's second quarter earnings represented a 44 per cent gain from the first quarter.

He said "encouraging" steel demand is continuing into the third quarter, but that it will show the effects of "seasonal declines" from the second quarter results.

Production has started at National's jointly-owned magnesium plant in Texas and start-up aluminum production is scheduled for a jointly-owned Kentucky facility in the fourth quarter, the firm reported.

City To Warn Penn Central To Fix Drain

Solicitor J. Michael Kapp said today he plans to warn the Penn Central railway it will face possible legal action in Common Pleas Court if it fails to act promptly to clear a storm drain underneath its right-of-way that has been blamed for frequent flooding of Virginia Ave.

Kapp made the announcement after a conference with Mayor George E. Willshaw on the municipality's long - standing complaint against the railroad. The mayor said the end of Virginia Ave. at the railway tracks has been subject to flooding for months or years because of the blocked sewer on railroad property.

The railroad's Pittsburgh office has been notified repeatedly by registered letter to open the drain, but has not acted, the mayor said. The firm also has refused to grant a city request to send a street department crew onto the railway property to open the drain, he added.

Officials have attempted repeatedly to telephone a track maintenance man about the complaint, but he never has been "available," Willshaw said.

The solicitor and the mayor conferred on the problem Monday afternoon. Kapp said he will obbtain all the pertinent facts from the mayor and then write a letter to Penn Central requesting the firm to open the sewer. The railroad will be warned that the solicitor will seek authority from Council to proceed against it in Common Pleas Court if it does not comply within a reasonable time, the solicitor said.

The flooding condition was aggravated by weekend rains which deepend the puddle on Virginia Ave., the mayor said. A street department employe told the mayor a man who attempted to drive his car across the pond stalled in the middle after the water "drowned" the ignition system of his car.

Chief To Retire

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP)—Walter Menges, 75, Wapakoneta police chief for 30 years, announced Monday he will retire at the end of this week. Menges became chief nine months after he joined the force as a patrolman in 1938.

Crews Begin Blacktop Job

The Tri-State Asphalt Corp. of Martins Ferry started work Monday noon on the preliminary phases of paving Lisbon St. between W. 8th St. and the city limits, which will get a new blacktop surface as part of a $311,060 Ohio Highway Department contract.

Tri-State, a subcontractor for the United Excavating Co. of Youngstown, is scheduled to apply the so-called "tack" coat and a leveling course on the entire stretch except for areas around two curves where the existing pavement will be ripped out and replaced.

The firm said the preliminary work would have the effect of smoothing the surface and eliminating motorists' complaints on the rough pavement. The final course is not due to be applied immediately.

The project has been under way since spring. United Excavating holds the $311,060 contract, which also calls for widening, easing of the curves, installation of a storm sewer system and replacement of curbs which are removed.

The job was at a virtual standstill for about three weeks before it resumed last Thursday. It also was interrupted briefly by a strike in late May. The contract calls for completion by Oct. 30.

A parking ban was set up on the west side of the Lisbon St. Hill Monday morning to allow the preliminary paving work to begin. It actually began at midday after the weather cleared.

Police Chief At Lima Submits Resignation

Davenport said he was resigning because exception had been taken to some of his recent decisions. He did not elaborate.

Palissey St. Garages Looted By Intruders

Two Palissey St. garages were looted of tools and other items by intruders who gained entry between 11 p.m. Monday and 5:30 a.m. today, the owners told police.

Franklin Mercer of 502 Palissey St. reported an intruder broke a window on the east side of his garage and then crawled through the opening, taking a quarter-inch electric drill, three sets of drill bits, a cold chisel, a torch kit, a pair of shoes, an army duffle bag, a 50-foot electric extension cord and various tools that were in the glove compartment of his car.

Harold Dopler of 518 Palissey St. said the intruder gained entry to his garage by raising a window and then stole various small tools worth a total of $5.

The practicing of negotiating treaties began as early as 3000 B.C., when ancient rulers signed treaties with neighboring kingdoms. Some treaties ended wars and others settled boundary disputes.

Kennedy's Explanation

The heart-clutching drama of Massachusetts Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's confession and supplication to the people of his state and nation was almost Shakespearean.

Millions of Americans, in a sad and depressing follow-up to the glorious moon odyssey, hung on every word of the handsome young senator whom misfortune had cast in the lead role of the tragedy.

The blood-drained whiteness of his clenched fingers indicating the tension under which he spoke, the senator flagellated himself for his "indefensible" conduct in the hours following the drowning of Miss Mary Jo Kopechne.

But he concluded by suggesting hopefully to his constituents and the millions of Americans beyond the borders of his state that they would encourage him to continue in political life.

THE STATEMENT AS READ by Sen. Kennedy came across as the work of the top professional writers employed by the Kennedy machine. It was expertly done and went a long way to make the best of a very bad political situation.

It was adroitly worded in such a way that its final thrust tended to put the responsibility on the shoulders of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Citizen of Massachusetts for cutting short the political life of Sen. Kennedy if that, indeed, should occur.

Actually, however, the senator's statement left unanswered several questions which disturb the average American. He failed to mention, for example, why he drove along a dead-end dirt road to the bridge instead of along the main paved road to the ferry.

In one brief sentence he dismissed the possibility that he was under the influence of alcohol.

But, accepting every word that he said as truth, the picture that the young senator painted of himself at the time of the drowning, and for some hours afterward was one of a man completely disintegrating under pressure.

Admitting numerous irrational thoughts and describing out-of-his-head behavior in which he re-endangered his own life by jumping into the water and swiming 150 yards across a channel, the Senate whip outlined a series of actions which seem incredible when associated with a member of the United States Senate.

Although many Americans, in a great outpouring of sympathy for the charismatic Teddy, will respond emotionally to his plight and wish to help him, a sober look at his conduct should clearly indicate that he is definitely lacking in some of the major qualities required in a president of the United States, and office to which he most certainly has aspired.

Pilot candidates in the Air Force who reacted to a crisis situation as Sen. Ted Kennedy did to his personal crsis would have been "washed out" immediately. For the lives of other men would be in their hands.

If any man needs steel within him, control under the most distressing conditions and great strength when the going is toughest, it is the president of the United States whose actions can drastically affect the lives, safely and welfare of all of us.

WE ALL ARE HUMAN, all have faults. But even the average hit-skipper incurs the special enmity of society although he, too, usually is overcome by a jumble of emotions.

Sen. Kennedy's comportment in a crisis situation was a far cry from what would be expected of a man of presidential timber.

It is hard to visualize any of the imediate past presidents performing, as did Sen. Kennedy, if such a tragedy had struck them. If the senator had been under the influence of alcohol, his behavior might be more readily understood.

The people of Massachusetts may not "wash him out." THAT IS THEIR BUSINESS. But he should abandon any idea he may have of becoming president of the United States.

Filling The Vacuum

An offer by Pennsylvania officials to assist Ohio, West Virginia and three other states in solving environmental problems might just be the spur to solving some of the air and water pollution problems which have assumed serious proportions.

A three - day meeting at New Castle ended Sunday with the offer and the acceptance of aid. Although one Pennsylvania legislator said he feared the Keystone State might be accused of interfering with other states' affairs, John Tyler, president of the Virginia Wildlife Federation, said the question would never arise.

"We have not been about to carry out the vast program of research and development you have done in Pennsylvania, and we can use your knowledge."

David Branter, president of the Weset Virginia Wildlfie Federation, told the meeting his states' problems are the same as Pennsylvania's. "We are looking forward to working with you."

Wesley Gilbertson, Pennsylvania Deputy Secretary of Health for Environment, declared a mutual assistance program among the states was "a splendid idea. "I think we're eventually going to have to work out our environmental problems through interstate cooperation, because I don't think the federal government is going to be much help."

Certainly the East Liverpool district is aware of the need for greater cooperation among states in connection with air pollution and water pollution. The discharges which come down the Ohio River from Beaver County, Pa., and the dust and fumes which drift from the Toronto power plant over Hancock County, W. Va., are only a few examples of this need.

State officials and local officials are becoming increasingly impressed with the legal and administrative vacuum which exists along their borders at times, and if the residents of our states are to be protected properly from some of the offenses which trouble us, this gap must be filled.

Playing Safe

So far there is no evidence that the astronauts were accompanied back to earth by "moon bugs."

Dr. William Carpentier, who is staying with the three space travelers in their quarantine trailer, reports there is no sign of moon contamination.

We have our fingers crossed that the same report will be forthcoming at the end of the 21-day quarantine period.

We sympathize with Neil Armstrong's father who is irritated that the isolation is interfering with family welcomes for the astronauts.

However, this is a first-time thing and it is important to be careful.

Such elaborate precautions will no doubt prove unnecessary in the future but since we are new at the moon-hike-and-return game, it is essential to play it safe.

And Beyond The Moon?

The United States is assured of a continuing space program as a legacy from the successful Apollo moon landing.

Big questions surrounding America's Space future right now are how big a program and what should be its direction.

PROPONENTS OF A "full-speed-ahead" policy are now riding a triumphant crest and will continue to do so for some time. When the enthusiasm wears down and the hard appropriation decisions have to be made, practical considerations will be in the limelight.

At this point, the thrilling, knowledge-gaining and beneficial spin off from the space program will be weighed against domestic realities, economic stability and, ultimately, what Russia does.

Members of Congress, who will be responsible for determining how much money will be allotted to space, must not be misled into believing that a drastic reduction in space spending will automatically bring progress in other areas.

Neither should they keep their eyes so focused on the stars that they overlook other areas of need to the detriment of the nation.

Money alone cannot solve our ills. Allocation of money does not guarantee the success of a program nor that the funds will be properly administered.

On the other hand, judicious spending on the part of the government will demonstrate where a nation puts its values, and build badly needed confidence in the integrity of the government from the standpoint of national priorities and fiscal soundness.

It will be a tough decision for Congress and will be debated at length.

The final judgment, if we read the stuation correctly, will be in favor of a continuing but limited space effort combined with an on-going program aimed at solving pressing domestic issues without an excessive jump in spending.

RIGHT NOW it is imperative that the economy of the United States get on solid footing for if it collapses no one knows what the outcome will be.

If the economy can be steadied, private capital can be channeled into spending areas that are of concern to the government—housing and city improvement projects.

National, world and space spending has merit but without economic stability there won't be any funds to divide up.

'Looks Like You're Due For A Change!'

VICTOR RIESEL

Informed Labor

WASHINGTON — There is firm belief deep inside labor's inner sanctum that President Nixon will withdraw virtually all American troops from South Vietnam by next March or April. These sources rarely have been wrong.

Victor Riesel

Regardless of administration they have rad the most intimate and confidential relations with the White House and State Department. Mr. Nixon's regime is no different. American labor chiefs — albeit a tight handful of them — always are kept informed of vital moves since, officially, they do speak for almost 14 million members working the inner gut of U.S. production for war and peace.

There is evidence of the close and easy relationship between Richard Nixon and George Meany — an odd couple, indeed.

Recently, the President of the U.S. put in a transatlantic telephone call to the president of the AFL-CIO when the latter was in Geneva, Switzerland, along with Pope Paul at the International Labor Organization's global congress. The two men talked for quite awhile.

They did discuss foreign policy. This call was not merely Mr. Nixon's way of extending greetings to His Holiness. The President already had sent along a personal letter to the Pope.

MR. NIXON and Mr. Meany did discuss the antiballistic missile crisis. It can be presumed that the President, during the conversation, did thank Mr. Meany for the AFL-CIO's, forceful support of the administration's Safeguard System program. Fact is that the AFL-CIO is Mr. Nixon's most powerful backing on the boondocks and on the Hill.

He is being politically lacerated by the Teamster-Auto Workers coalition — another odd couple. Apparently Walter Reuther, who has been known never to permit a coma to escape him, now is ghostwriting for the combine, meaning the Teamsters' Frank (Fitz) Fitzsimmons who, as acting head of the Brotherhood, now is distributing James Hoffa Scholarships like mad.

On July 15, Messrs. Reuther and Fitzsimmons dispatched what appears to be a 10,000-word letter in the name of the new Alliance for Labor Action to all U.S. Senators flaying Mr. Nixon, his policies and the ABM in a literary style to which "Fitz" is unaccustomed.

Countering this, the AFL-CIO distributed an article by William R. Kintner entitled "The Sane Case for U.S. Safeguard ABM Deployment." And, most certainly, the labor federation has let many of its senatorial friends know how the AFL-CIO feels — it wants those ABM sites, its technicians are ready to supply the technical labor and it believes that Messrs. Reuther and Fitzsimmons are paper tigers.

BUT ALL THIS doesn't insinuate that the odd couple will continue to live happily after the ABM Senate vote — which is expected to back President Nixon. Influential labor leaders are unhappy over the absence of any union official from Mr. Nixon's diplomatic troupe.

For this they blame White House foreign policy adviser Henry Kissinger. They've a strong feeling they should not have been ignored. They believe they have contacts in Asia and Europe which no government official has.

Meanwhile, back here, no one is sulking. But the word has gone out that Henry Kissinger would do well to take lessons in how to win friends and influence people who influence people — not to mention senators.

Odd Facts

The Hall of Fame of Great Americans has honored 12 U. S. Presidents. At its first election in 1900, the Hall of Fame elected five presidents — George Washington, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and Ulysses S. Grant. In elections since, elected were James Madison, John Quincy Adams, Andrew Jackson, James Monroe, Grover Cleveland, Woodrow Wilson, and Theodore Roosevelt. One of the qualifications for election is that 25 years must have passed between the death of the nominee and his election.

Although life impriosnment may be imposed instead of death as the maximum penalty for first - degree murder in all the states of the U. S., the states in which there is no capital punishment are Alaska, Hawaii, Iowa, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Oregon, Rhode Island, West Virginia and Wisconsin—also in Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

On the ceiling of the famous Sistine Chapel, in the palace of the Vatican at Rome, are painted magnificent Bible stories by the great artist Michelangelo in the 1500's. It took him four and a half years to complete this ceiling, whose stories tell of the creation of the world, the fall of man and the flood. And on the wall above the altar is the "Last Judgment," a painting 60 feet high and 30 feet broad, which Michelangelo began when he was 60 and worked on for eight years.

The number of different local community governments within a major metropolitan area in the United States often exceeds several hundred. In New York City's metropolitan area, for example, there are more than a thousand separate governments, in Chicago there are more than 960 and in Philadelphia more than 700 local governments.

A Plaque For Mars

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON—As I watched the two American astronauts on television go through their paces on the moon, I couldn't help thinking:

Art Buchwald

Suppose two Martians named Neil and Bu made a space trip to thi world and by accident landed in one of our city's parks.

"Yeah, well I don't care what you call it. You're not supposed to put up nutty sculpture in the park."

"We're only going to be here two hours and 40 minutes," Buzz says. "It's very important that we get earth samples for our scientists to study."

COPS ASKS SUSPICIOUSLY, "What kind of samples?"

"Earth samples," Neil says. "You see, I take this little scoop with the plastic bag on the end and dig it into the surface like this, and then I put the bag in the pocket of my space suit."

"You're pushing pot!" the cop yells.

"We don't know what pot is," Buzz says. "But we're supposed to pick up rocks and put them in a box."

"And then," the cop says, "after you put the rocks in the box, you're going to take off in that crazy piece of sculpture?"

"AFFIRMATIVE," says Neil. "But first we have to put the plaque up."

"What kind of plaque?" the cop asks as he takes out his notebook.

"It's a plaque which says, 'We came in peace for all Marskind.' "

"I get it. You're a bunch of anti-Vietnam peaceniks. Where are the rest of the creeps?"

"Well, Mike ain't the only one. Let me ask you a question, and I wish to precede it with a warning that you may have the service of an attorney and that I am apprising you of your constitutional rights. Are you guys on a trip?"

"Of course we are," says Neil. "Why else would we be here?"

"Wait a minute, wait a minute," the cop says. "What kind of flag is that you're sticking up?"

"It's our national flag."

"No flag flies in this park but the American flag. Now you take down that flag this minute or I'll knock those crazy motorcycle helmets off your heads."

"But we have to put the flag up or our parliament won't give us any future monies for our space program."

"What are you doing with the camera?"

"We have to take pictures of the earth's surface, so we can pinpoint where we've been."

"Of course," the cop says. "There's no sense taking a trip if you can't remember where you've been. Now listen to me, you blankety blanks. Don't either one of you move until I tell you to. Stay right where you are."

"But we have to set up the sun experiments."

THE COP GETS out his gun. "I said stay where you are." He picks up the microphone in his car. "Hello, gimme the Chief.. .Hello, Chief. This is Pulanski here. What would you say if I told you I've got two hippies dressed in silver motorcycle suits and goggles with packs on their backs, picking up rocks and dirt in the park and sticking them in their pockets?. . .That's what I thought you'd say. . .No, No, everything's fine. . .it's just a quiet Monday morning.. .yeah, I'll speak to you later.

"All right, you two weirdos," the cop says, "I'm going to drive around the park and then I'm coming back; and if you and that piece of junky sculpture ain't out of the park when I return you'll be picking up the rest of your rock samples in the yard of the county jail."

The DOCTOR Says

Choose Sunglasses With Caution

Every year, over $100 million is spent in this country on sunglasses of various kinds. Some are worn just for show, some to reuce glare and some to hide corneal scars or other blemishes. The normal eye does very well in the sunlight without sunglasses but, if you are one of those in whom bright daylight causes watering of the eyes or squinting, sunglasses may help you.

Dr. Brandstadt

In selecting a pair, it is important to get a type that does not reduce your vision or your ability to distinguish colors, especially if you us them for driving. They should never be worn for night driving or for reading indoors, with or without artificial light.

THE BELIEF that the world looks better through rose-colored glasses is more fanciful than factual. Neutral gray or smoke-colored glasses that filter out 70 to 80 per cent of the intensity of the light are best, with green a close second. The constant use of sunglasses may cause you to develop too great a dependence on them and reduce your natural ability to tolerate bright light.

There are three types of sunglasses — light-absorbing, polarizing and coated. Absorptive lenses are made by adding certain chemicals to the lenses to remove ultraviolet and infrared rays. Polarizing lenses are specially valuable in reducing glare, which is not the same as intensity. This is a boon to motorists who must drive facing the sun and to fishermen who want to see beneath the water's surface but can't because of the reflected glare.

Coated or reflectorized sunglasses have a thin metallic film over the front or back surface. They are a boon to persons who must wear glasses all the time and prefer to have their sunglasses incorporate their prescription instead of wearing clip-ons.

SO CHOOSE the type best suited to your individual needs but avoid cheap sunglasses. In the long run, they are no bargain. No matter what type you wind up with, never use them to look directly at the sun. The danger of permanent damage to your eyes is less when the sun is near the horizon but, even then, it is still present.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Action Set On Bills

Ohio General Assembly Plans For Adjournment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 108th General Assembly begins mopping up operations tonight with optimistic plans for adjournment by the end of next week.

Both houses go into session at 8 p.m.

Conference committees are expected to be appointed by both houses to iron out differences over the administration's $2.27 billion education package.

The Senate added 85 amendments to the House version of the bill. Rep. Mark C. Schinnerer, R-49 Lakewood, chairman of the House Education Committee, said he finds two of the amendments "distressing."

One would allow supplemental contracts for teachers who perform additional duties such as coaching and band directing.

The other would set standards for teacher aides but let the classroom instructor determine how they are used.

Both amendments were earlier offered as bills by the Ohio Education Association but reportedly stood little chance of passage.

The Senate is to take up in floor action tonight a bill to implement the $500 million highway bond issue provided by the voters last year.

Still facing Senate attention are bills for Sunday liquor sales and the administration's Department of Public Safety proposal.

Both bills have passed the House but have been tied up in Senate committees.

Legislators backing the bills feel if they don't make it out of committee this week they will have little chance of passage before adjournment.

Of the two, the liquor bill which would permit municipalities to decide if they want Sunday sales, appears to have the better chance.

The Department of Public Safety measure sailed through the House but ran into trouble in the Senate where several voiced fears it would concentrate too much power in the governor's office.

The department, as first outlined by Gov. James A. Rhodes Feb. 5, would take all the crime - fighting agencies from the attorney general's office and put them in a cabinet-level post under the governor.

In addition, the Highway Patrol would be placed in the same new agency. The Highway Safety Department, under which it now operates, would be abolished.

Even if the bill does make it to the floor it will undergo several amendments, sources said. The House did not basically change the bill.

Union Will Discuss Drive For More Pay

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Local leaders of a union that represents about 13 per cent of Ohio's public employes will attend a meeting here Wednesday to discuss the union' campaign fo higher wages.

Al Bilik, head of Council 21, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, said more than 100 leadders from 26 locals in Ohio will attend the emergency session.

Bilik said the union officials will review the results of last Tuesday's 24-hour protest walkout by some state employes.

He said the leaders will take whatever action they feel "the circumstances require to carry out the continuing wage drive of the union."

Woman Sues Village On Spraying Charge

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The suburban village of Fairport Harbor was sued for $100,000 Monday by a woman resident who claimed she became violently ill after eating elderberries she picked on village land.

Esther M. Suomela claimed the elderberries had bten sprayed with an arsenic-base insecticide. She claimed she suffers a continuing condition called arsenic neuritis, a painful inflammation of the nerves. Her suit also names a village employe, Neal Hilston, who allegedly did the spraying.

22 Students Plead Guilty In Takeover

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Twenty-two students who were among 34 Negroes accused of taking over the Ohio State University administration building in April 1968 pleaded guilty to misdemeanor charges Monday.

The common pleas court action came after the prosecution dropped a dozen felony charges brought against each student and dropped all charges against 10 of the original 34.

No action was taken on two students, one now in the military service and one who has not been in touch with the court recently.

The youths, allegedly members of the Black Student Union on campus, were accused of holding OSU Vice President Gordon Carson and staff mebers in the second floor of the building.

A grand jury in May 1968 indicted each of the 34 students on charges of unlawful detention, conspiracy to detain and blackmail, all felonies and a charge of menacing threat and trespassing on school property, the misdemeanor to which the 22 pleaded guilty Monday.

Among the students entering guilty pleas was John S. Evans, reported leader of the group.

Man Gets Life Term For Slaying Ex-Wife

CINCINNATI (AP) — Willie Manning, 28, Cincinnati, was sentenced to life imprisonment Monday for the slaying of his estranged wife and the wounding of her male companion in October 1968.

He earlier pleaded guilty to second - degree murder in the death of Mary Manning, 22. A common pleas court judge also sentenced him to a 1-20 year term for the wounding of Leonard Beason, 20. The two were shot outside Mrs. Manning's residence.

Going Up Or Down?

Different Opinions Given On Future Costs Of Meat

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top Nixon administration farm economist predicts consumers soon may be paying less for beef, but some industry spokesmen say the day of $1 per pound round steak is gone forever.

Dr. Don Paarlberg, chief economist for the Department of Agriculture, said he sees hope for a cooling of retail prices as the result of cattle prices dropping some from their early June peak which was an 18-year record.

"The price has come down at the farm level—and sometimes these things don't work as promptly as they should—but my anticipation would be that we'd see, and have seen, some reaction on the retail market," Paarlberg said in an interview.

Contrary forecasts came from an industry spokesman, declining to be identified, who said retailers will not drop prices significantly because of what he sees as small or short-term declines in live cattle prices.

"Really, I don't think anybody in this country can ever again expect to see $1 round steak again, and certainly not less than about $1.39 for sirloin," the industry man said.

Last December consumers paid an average of $1.20 a pound for choice sirloin steak. In June, after months of rising cattle prices, the same meat cost Mrs. Average Housewife $1.40.

Retail beef prices made their biggest jump during June when there was a 4.5 per cent gain in the cost of meats, poultry and fish. The government statistics showed a gain of six -tenthsof one per cent in the cost of living during the month.

Why the big boost in beef prices?

Economists cite inflation and the rising demand among beef-hungry consumers who ate an average of 110-pounds per person last year, compared with 85 pounds in 1960.

Paarlberg discounts what some observers believe is the heart of the beef-price situation —the failure of cattlemen to turn out as much beef as needed.

A soon-to-be-published report is expected to show beef production for the first half of 1969 at or near the level of last year despite a larger population and demand.

"This has been a factor," Paarlberg said, "but it has not been a major factor. I think the major factor is the high purchasing power, the exhuberance of the economy, and the fact that a lot of people in the lower income brackets who haven't in the past been really part of the affluent society have experienced a considerable increase in income ... and they're now in the market to buy beef, which they formerly were not."

An industry spokesman said retailers had tried to hold the price line prior to the June hike but could not absorb higher costs any longer.

"All of a sudden the pressure got too great and they had to say 'Well, let's just find out how many people want to pay $1.79 for a sirloin steak'—and they sold it. So now they've got a whole new plateau."

Fight Proposed To Changes In Black Lung Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An attorney for the United Mine Workers Union says backers of Ohio's pending black lung disease bill will launch a fight on the Senate floor to remove weakening amendments.

Donald M. Colsaurd said Monday he has lined up several senators to fight amendments put in the bill by Sen. Robin Turner, R-14 Marion, chairman of the Elections, Commerce and Labor Committee.

The amendments would require claimants in some cases to prove their cases by autopsies, biopsies or x - ray and would require miners compensated for the disease to stay out of coal mines.

Similar provisions were stricken from the bill before it passed the House.

Supporters of the bill note that autopsies are valid only after death and contend that x-rays cannot always spot black lung. They say biopsies are dangerous to persons afflicted with black lung.

Backers also contend that it is unrealistic to expect a person who has worked in the mines all his life to go into another line of work.

Colsaurd and other backers were irked because Turner amended the bill without going through normal procedures.

Bomb Threat Closes Police Lunch Room

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A telephoned bomb threat forced evacuation Monday of the crowded lunch room at Central Police Station. Police and firemen searched the building but found no bomb.

Police said the call was the latest in an abnormally high number of threats received since racial disturbances last week on the city's East Side.

Deaths and Funerals

Vance Andrews

Vance L. Andrews, 75, of 1819 St. Clair Ave., operator of the former Vance Andrews trucking firm, died Monday at 2:05 p.m. at City Hospital following a brief illness.

He was born Nov. 5, 1893 in East Liverpool, a son of the late Joseph H. and Pearl Webber Andrews. He retired in 1961. At one time he was a salesman for East Liverpool Central Service. He belonged to the First United Presbyterian Church.

Lisbon Accident Results As Door Opens On Turn

LISBON — The rear door of a station wagon flew open on a turn last midnight on the Square and struck the left front fender of a southbound car stopped for the traffic light at N. Market St. and Park Ave.

Police said the halted car was operated by Edward House Jr. of Center St., East Liverpool, and the station wagon by Eugene Tolson of 340 E. Chestnut St.

House said Tolson told him he did not know the door had swung open and did not realize what had happened when he passed the stopped car. Tolson pulled over and stopped a short distance up the street, House said.

He said the station wagon was turning from E. Lincoln Way onto N. Market when the door opened. The impact broke the fiberglass fender on House's sports car.

Road Crews Fill Chester Rd. Hole

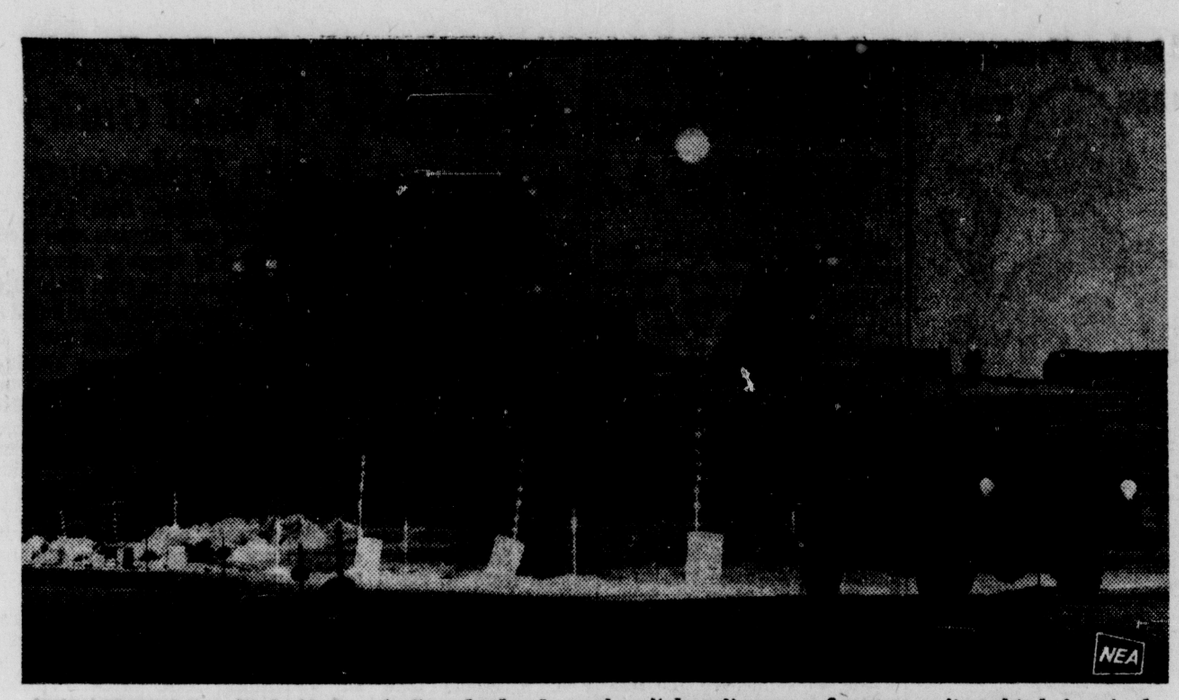

A portion of the Chester-Newell Road near Hart's fruit stand which keeps sinking, troubling the West Virginia State Road Commission and area motorists since March 1968, had to be repaired again Monday due to the heavy rains Sunday, Jack Evans, Hancock County superintendent of the SRC, said today.

Evans said the hole has been re-filled, and more materials will be used to fill and smooth the surface this week.

One of the crew members of the SRC, after being informed by Hancock County Sheriff's deputies that the spot was endangering the flow of traffic Sunday and placed in the hole a timber with a flag on it, and an oil lamp nearby to warn motorists of the danger.

The depression in the highway surface has been repaired twice this year. in each instance the repairs lasted only three days.

They were expected to urge continuance of the present U.S. strategy with no curtailment of operations.

Newsmen at the airport questioned Abrams about the lull and whether it meant a de-escalation by Hanoi. He replied the lull was "just decreased activity on the enemy's part, but what it means, I don't know."

"I don't think anyone can really say whether it is cyclic, or a lack of capability on the enemy's part, or (a de-escalation) as you suggest. I don't think anyone really knows."

Abrams' admission of inability to fathom the enemy's intentions was in marked contrast to some of his top commanders who have been insisting that the only reason for the lull was that the enemy was regrouping and building up his supplies in preparation for another offensive.

Abrams said there is "some indication of an autumn period" of enemy attacks. He did not elaborate.

"The way we run," he said, "we have to anticipate enemy high points. We have to keep in a state of readiness so if such a thing occurs, it will not cause a lot of trouble. We have to be prepared."

Responsible sources in Bangkok reported meanwhile that President Nixon would fly to Vietnam for a brief visit Wednesday and would confer with President Nguyen Van Thieu. But any arrangements being made for a presidential visit were kept secret for security reasons.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I most easily remove spilled talcum powder from a carpet?

A.—Don't try to sweep it with a broom, since that only spreads it. Instead, hold the vacuum cleaner over the powder to draw all the loose particles. Then what's left can be removed by rubbing the spot gently with a damp cloth. Rinse frequently, so that the powder that sticks to the cloth will not go back into the carpet.

Q.—How can I add new life and luster to my costume jewelry?

A.—Try soaking it for an hour or so in hot water and ammonia — half and half. Dry well, and chances are you'll be delighted with the new sparkle in your baubles.

Q.—How can I forestall unpleasant odors in my kitchen sink?

A.—If you'll drop a handful of baking soda into the sink overnight, it will purify and clean that unfragrant drain.

ELTA Airs '70 Salaries With Board

A salary increase and fringe benefits for certifiated personnel of the East Liverpool School District are being discussed in negotiations between representatives of the East Liverpool Teachers Association and board of education.

A spokesman for the association said today that meetings are being held, but that no statement as to the results of the meetings could be made without mutual agreement from the negotiation teams. This, it was explained, is part of the agreement between the East Liverpool Teachers Association and the board of education.

Members of the ELTA have signed a statement that they would back the negotiating committee to the fullest. even if it would mean a walkout, but the spokesman for the group indicated belief this will not happen.

Supt. Paul Blair confirmed that three meetings had been held. He said he talked with the group in one meeting, and two meetings had been held with the board's financial committee.

He added that the relationship between the committees was good and there was no indication that an amiable agreement would not be reached. "No reference to a walkout has been made," he asserted.

Cameras Click Away

Scientists Await Pictures Of Mars From Mariner 6

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mariner 6 has clicked its cameras at Mars, snapping and storing for transmission to earth tonight the first 33 of a long series of pictures which may show whether life can exist on the red planet.

The space probe took its first photograph at 10:26 p.m. PDT Monday. Scientists said the camera was working well.

Mariner 6 was scheduled to start transmitting the pictures more than 58 million miles to earth at 6:35 p.m. today.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who as head of the President's Space Advisory Council advocates manned exploration of Mars, arranged to be at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory to watch the photographs come in.

The same radio commands which activated the cameras also started instruments designed to measure the surface temperature of Mars and to analyze the chemical make-up of its thin atmosphere.

The quality of the initial pictures will not be known until they reach earth. A spokesman said Monday night that signals from the spacecraft indicated the camera platform was properly aimed, that light was entering the lens, and that a picture was being recorded on tape.

Mariner 6 carries a small computer which converts the light and dark areas of a scene into numbers. The numbers, representing the dots on a television screen, are stored on tape for later transmission to the laboratory here, where a computer translates them into an image.

They are expected to have little more detail than photographs made with earth telescopes, but will show all phases of the planet as it rotates during the spacecrafts approach.

Much sharper pictures, with details as small as 900 feet across, are to be taken Wednesday night as Mariner 6 flies within 2,000 miles of Mars.

Mariner 6 will require almost 20 hours to shoot the first 33 pictures—one every 37 minutes. Transmission will take less than 3 hours, with a new one received every five minutes.

Mariner 6 will take a total of 74 long-range and close-up pictures.

Its sister craft Mariner 7, launched last March—a month after Mariner 6—will snap 117 photographs beginning Friday and ending Aug. 4 when it, too, passes within 2,000 miles of Mars.

Some of these pictures should be far superior to the 21 taken by Mariner 4 when it swung past Mars at a distance of 6,000 miles in 1965.

Scientists believe the new pictures may help solve the mysteries of the planet's vast dark areas which some believe to be vegetation, the long lines which were once thought to be canals and the light polar caps which some think could be ice or frozen carbon dioxide—"dry ice."

Delhey said an attempt to trap Miss Beineman's killer Saturday by placing a department store mannequin where her body was found had been unsuccessful.

Police did not immediately announce the finding of the body and replaced it with the dummy in the hopes that the killer would return to the scene, he said.

Delhey said a man was seen walking along the road after midnight and was ordered to halt by police who had the site staked out.

"The guy was told to stop and instead ran," said Delhey. "As far as I know the guy did not actually lay eyes on it (the dummy)."

Delhey said it was possible the man was just a stroller who did not realize his challengers were police, since the officers were plainclothesmen in unmarked cars.

Using a computer printout of all the motorcycles registered at Eastern Michigan University, police checked off all that did not match the description of the one on which Miss Beineman was last seen.

"A few were left that matched," said a university spokesman. "They were checked out and cleared."

McLeaish said that Monday they discussed the lunar orbit and landing phases of the flight.

Armstrong reported the engine of the lunar module Eagle kicked up considerable dust as it settled in for a touchdown. This reduced visibility but did not jeopardize the landing.

"It was not unexpected," McLeaish said of the dust.

He also reported Armstrong and Aldrin talked about the near-landing in a rock-filled crater, which had been reported earlier. Armstrong said the automatic controls had them zeroed in on the craggy area and that he took manual control of the Eagle to steer to a smoother spot a half-mile away.

The astronauts also reported that working in the moon's one-sixth gravity field was much easier than working in zero G—or the weightless world of an orbiting ship.

"They reported one disadvantage," McLeaish said. "It tended to produce muscular laziness."

Film used by the astronauts to photograph flight and moon activities has been quarantined with them, undergoing a decontamination process.

The first pictures were expected to be released late today. They were made through the window of Eagle as it sat on the lunar surface.

members, two of them members of Congress, dissented from the majority view and said they believe states should be free to act—or not to act—as they choose in the gun-control field.

The American Rifle Association, which the commission singled out for a possible key role in a mass education program on the responsible use of firearms, disagreed with most of its conclusions and recommendations.

The commission said, however, "We can make substantial inroads on firearms violence without imposing major inconveniences on hunters and skeet and trap shooters and without impeding other legitimate activities of millions of long gun owners."

Eisenhower pressed hard for development of a nondeadly weapon. "You see," he said, "the importance of this is that an awful lot of people in this country are keeping handguns for self-defense.

"The gun is much more an incitement to murder than a protective device," he said.

His statement was echoed by the commission which indicated the belief that a gun in the home is a protection against intruders is a myth.

"The evidence is convincing," the comission said, "that the home robber most often has the advantage of surprise, and the armed segment of our population is paying a heavy price in accidents and in the shooting of family member, friends and acquaintances for whatever deterrent effect their possession of self-defense firearms may be providing."

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Cartons For Cutworms

DEAR HELOISE: You mentioned trying to grow tomatoes, and I wondered if you were ever bothered by cutworms feasting on the young plants. If so, try this:

Heloise

Cut the top off clean milk cartons (half-gallon size). Then cut the cargons in half, and place a half-carton around each plant as protection against wind, etc.

Then sprinkle a teaspoon of tobacco around the stems of each tomato plant and you will find the cutworms won't bother them at all. The carton also keeps the tobacco from scattering.

I do this with all my tender, young plants.

MRS. DeB.

Well, piddle, paddle. Now I know what's been happening to my tomato plants! They are absolutely shoulder high (which really means nothing 'cause I'm only 5 foot 2), and when they bloom, three days later all the blooms are cut off. I can't find any cutworms, but my neighbors say that they come out at night and can come from anywhere. I truly hate it when they come "calling." Especially if a plant is about to bear.

So thanks to you, Mrs. DeB., I may finally have some tomatoes.

The one thing I did was pull off the bottom leaves. (They don't need to be there, anyway, 'cause they only suck the sap from where the bloom or fruit is produced. Since my plants were large, I slit the carton down one side, and put it back together with paper clips in a triangular form. Tape or string could also be used.

Then I wet the ground thoroughly and smashed the ends of the carton down into the damp earth.

Not only did I find that your idea was the greatest, but now, instead of carrying three kettlss of water and flooding the ground, I pour the water right down inside the milk cartons.

You are a honey child to share you ridea. We all love you.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: I often take care of my little granddaughter and read to her (including your column).

The other day, after I had read your hints, she said, "Grandma, why don't people get some nylon net of their own and not use Heloise's all the time"?

I had a real good laugh and thought you might too.

MRS. E. J. CONKLIN.

And you were so right. Please give that darling little angel a big hug from me.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Just read the suggestion about freezing the grease from oven-fried chicken to use the next time for gravy.

I like that idea but have also used this method:

A (whole) frying chicken usually has a large chunk of fat on the lower back. I cut that off, trim it into three or four little pieces, fry it slowly to get out the grease and use it for making gravy.

In case I forget to save the grease from the last chicken, I can still make that wonderful chicken gravy.

MRS. JOHN ELE.

DEAR HELOISE: Since I prefer to wash dishes in half of my double sink and rinse in the other half, I had no problem. It was placing the draintray on the flat counter—no slant.

So I removed the legs of a wide paint-roller tray, turned it upside down and placed it under the drain-tray.

Success . . . I had an adjustable, tilted drain-tray that can be easily stored.

BONNIE LUETKEMEYER.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a hint from hikers and picknickers.

Did you know that you could freeze small cans of fruit juice? Nothing carbonated, of course, or it may burst.

After about three hours of hiking on a hot day, it will be thawed to just the right point for cool refreshment. The metal being very thin will cause the juice to melt just the right amount.

Scientists Use Gamma Rays In Mosquito Battle

RECIFE, Brazil (AP) — Scientists in this tropical port are using nuclear radiation in an effort to wipe out dangerous mosquitoes.

Because of this insect, Recife is one of the few places in the world where people still suffer from elephantiasis — an infection which swells their arms and legs to several times normal size.

The Federal University of Pernambuco is trying to eradicate "culex anopheles" by sterilizing male mosquitoes with gamma rays emitted by radioactive cobalt. Under "Operation Gamma," as the project is called, about 1,000 insects are captured every day in Recife, exposed to the rays and then released.

Experts believe the average male mosquito has about 25 sexual contacts a day with females. Thus, hundreds of thousands of "culex anopheles" eggs that normally would produce more mosquitoes are laid unfertilized and never hatch.

The directors of "Operation Gamma," Carlo Borgi of the University of Pernambuco, and Karamjit Ray, an Indian biologist, say the disease-bearing mosquitoes eventually can be eliminated in Recife by this method. But they caution that it might take as long as five years for any positive results to show up.

ANN LANDERS

Just Wait 'Till Birthday

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My brother died two months ago. His widow has asked me for advice and I don't know what to tell her. The question is in regard to her 19-year-old son. He wants to get married.

The boy is 4-F so he is not worried about the Army. He's been kicked out of two colleges so he's not worried about his education. (He can't get in any place). He works in his grandfather's business (when he works) so he's not worried about a job.

Here's the question: The boy wants his mother to advance him $3,000 against his inheritance so he can get married and take his bride to Honolulu on a honeymoon. His father left him $20,000 but the will states that the first payment of $5,000 is to be made on the boy's 21st birthday. The second payment comes due in 1974. Subsequent payments of $2,000 are to be made at two-year intervals.

The boy keeps badgering his mother and repeating, "I don't want a gift, all I want is an advance on what is legally mine. I'll pay you the $3,000 in 1971 when I get the $5,000.

What should she tell him? She's leaving it up to me.—KEEPER OF THE KEYS.

Dear Keeper: She should tell him NO. Her husband knew what he was doing when he wrote his will in such a way that his son would not come into any money until he was 21. All she need say is, "Sorry, we're going to leave things as Dad wanted them."

She's A Pick-Nik

Dear Ann: I have a neighbor who thinks I have the most beautiful garden in town. She can hardly wait until the flowers are in full bloom so she can ask permission to "pick a few."

This woman insists she cannot grow flowers because her children need a place to play. You should have seen the look she gave me yesterday when I refused to allow her to pick a bouquet for her company table. Her face was so full of hate it ruined my day.

It takes a great deal of patience, weeding, spraying, watering and luck to grow beautiful flowers. Am I selfish because I want to enjoy them as long as possible?

There must be countless readers in your audience who have this same problem. Will you kindly give us a word or two?—WILTED FRIENDSHIP.

Dear Friend: Some people make a living selling flowers. They are called florists. Their phone numbers are listed in the telephone directory. Enough said.

Name Trouble

Dear Ann: No lectures, please. I know right from wrong. Just tell me if a married woman can put the real father's name on the child's birth certificate instead of the name of her legal husband.

The real father is married and has several daughters. He wants a son to carry on his name. Our baby will be born next month and I'm almost certain I'm going to have a boy.

Dear Sky: Don't make the mess any messier by putting your lover's name on the baby's birth certificate. According to law your husband is the father of the child.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

WRINKLES

by Marie Davant

New York: — Chemical science has found a white substance made with quicksilver that works wonders in wrinkled, roughened face and hands. Use it one time and it is entirely possible you will see improvement next morning. In a few days dry-skin wrinkles start to vanish. Many of the small ones around the eyes and mouth have already disappeared. But that is not all! "Old - Age" (weathered) brown spots on hands and arms — brown "age" darkness on surface of face and neck fades away! Rich oils lubricate pores so blackheads can slip out without squeezing. Surface pimples and blemishes and scars outwardly caused, dry up or become less noticable! But don't take my word for it. Make a 6-day test without risking one penney. Just get a jar of Peacock's Imperial Creme at your favorite department or drug store. Use this thrilling cream for 6' days — satisfaction guaranteed by The Mitchum Company or return unused portion to retailer for full refund. No questions asked. Peacock's Imperial Creme can work wonders for wrinkles, lines, brown spots and other weathered blemishes. You may obtain Imperial Creme for $2.00 at Ogilvies.

Work Rushed For Schools And Playlots

Modernization programs at four Hancock County schools are proceeding on schedule, the board of education announced at its meeting Monday night in New Cumberland.

The Chester and New Cumberland projects are to be turned back to the board by Aug. 18 along with the Weirton Heights building. The Liberty Elementary work is nearing completion, with the turn-back to the board scheduled Aug. 11.

Bids on the conversion of a kitchen at the Chester building into four classrooms were reported "far in excess of the projection" and board members delayed action pending a decision on whether they be resubmitted early in the fall or whether the work should be handled by the maintenance department.

Board members conceded this will cause some difficulty in the placement of classrooms for September, but explained that the multi - purpose rooms at both the Chester primary and intermediate buildings can be used on a temporary basis to fill the gap.

The development of the playgrounds also is progressing smoothly, according to the board.

The playlot at the Chester primary school is scheduled to receive fencing and blacktopping the first week in August along with new equipment. The Newell basketball court also is scheduled to be resurfaced shortly.

Cookout Set By Firemen

The grills will be handled by Ray Dunn, Bob White, Lavene Seckman and Norman Neal, president. Those who attend are to bring coverdishes, salads, tea and table services.

Kenneth Schneidmiller, who is in charge of the fire school, announced that classes will begin Sept. 8 at 7 p.m. and will continue until after Christmas. The schools will be conducted by the Ohio State Instruction and training Service. There are 18 registered to date.

Plans also were announced to paint the large tanker truck and the inside of the tank.

Girl Injured Has Birthday

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A girl who suffered severe head injuries when a tree fell on her in the July 4 thunder storms that rake Northern Ohio and was given only the slimmest chance for survival celebrated her 19th birthday at St. John Hospital Monday.

Monte Adkins and his wife Linda, newlyweds of a month, were at Edgewater Park for July 4 fireworks when the storms came. They and four others were struck by the tree.

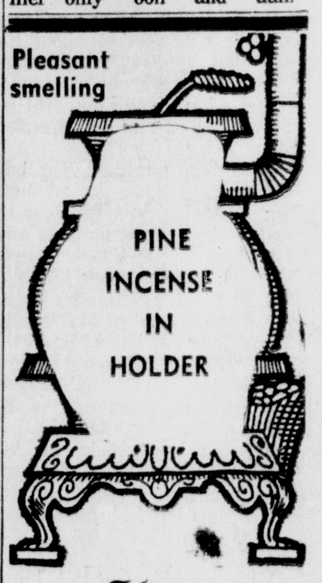

Firemen on a passing fire pumper threw away the rules and instead of calling an ambulance rushed the girl to the hospital. The quick action by the firemen helped save Linda's life, doctors said.

Doctors told the family that only a miracle could save Linda. The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kartune, told their minister. The minister told his congregation. Everyone prayed.

Physicians said they were amazed at the progress she had made.

Fast Divorce Bill Approved In California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A bill making it quicker and easier to get a divorce in California has been passed by the State Legislature over protests that it will turn the nation's most populous state into a divorce mill.

Sponsors said Gov. Ronald Reagan had told them he would sign the measure, so it appeared that the first basic change in the state's divorce law since its enactment in 1872 would become law on Jan. 1, 1970.

The main effect is to abolish the seven current grounds for divorce, such as adultery or cruelty, all of which require the court to rule one spouse to blame for a marital breakup. In their place, only two grounds would remain:

The incurable insanity of one spouse or a showing that there are "irreconcilable differences, which have caused the irremediable breakdown of the marriage." The term "divorce" would be replaced—legally with "dissolution of marriage."

A 25-8 Senate vote approving the bill Monday followed earlier Assembly ratification of the sweeping measure, adopted after three years of study and debate.

An opponent, Republican Sen. Clark L. Bradley of San Jose, contended the new law is "a step in the direction of Reno-Las Vegas type of divorce proceedings . . . We do not want California to become a divorce mill state."

The measure cuts to six months the current one-year residency requirement and the time between filing for a divorce and getting it. At present, 11 of the 50 states have residency requirements of six months or less.

Man Claimed While Being Burglarized

Police said the 87-year-old Florence K. Fawcett was trying to load a shotgun when he was overpowered by a burglar Sunday.

Fawcett contributed $84,500 to Pittsburgh's Children's Hospital under the nickname "The Old Grouch." For many years he refused to identify himself for officials of a fund that benefits Children's Hospital and the Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children.

"Just say it's from the Old Grouch who used to chase the children. And don't try to find out who I am, for if you do and I learn about it, my contributions stop," he once said.

But after his wife, Kathryn Gettman Fawcett, died in 1965, the "Grouch" made a $5,000 contribution in her memory and revealed his identity.

State police said they found the old man's body bound and gagged in an upstairs room of his home here Sunday. Officers said money and jewels, including a diamond studded Masonic ring, were missing.

Fawcett apparently heard the burglar entering the back door of the house and locked himself in his bedroom, police said. The bedroom door was forced open and an unloaded shotgun found near the body, according to police.

Fawcett, president of Penn Manufacturing Co., a valve and pipe producer, also contributed to churches in the Washington area. Officials said his contributions bought five or six church organs.

Pa. Senate Studies Big Spending Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — A $2.057 billion general spending bill, largest in the history of the Commonwealth, was under consideration in the Senate today with opponents contending its final passage would force on Pennsylvanians a personal income tax.

Supporters of the measure disagreed that an income tax was inevitable, although they freely admitted that approval of the giant - sized appropriation would commit the state to a need for more than $400 million in additional revenue.

The proposed legislation would authorize the bulk of state spending proposed in a $2.455 billion budget recommended by the House Democratic leadership as an alternative to Gov. Shafer's $2.575 billion spending program.

The bill, approved by the Senate Appropriations Committee Monday, was released to the floor for a final vote which could come on Wednesday. Unless amended, the measure would go to Gov. Shafer, since the House passed it July 16.

House Republicans, who opposed the Democratic-sponsored bill because of its size, were unhappy with the GOP-controlled Senate for allowing the measure out of committee without reductions.

Rep. H. Jack Seltzer, R-Lebanon, ranking Republican on the House Appropriations Committee, charged that a "coalition of House Democrats and Senate Republicans" were working to force passage of a statewide income tax.

Senate President Pro Tempore Robert D. Fleming, R-Allegheny, said an income tax was not inevitable, but added: "Somewhere, somehow the legislature is going to have to come up with $450 million or $500 million in new taxes."

House Democrats maintained that only $400 million in new revenues were needed to finance their budget. In addition to the general spending bill, it includes lesser appropriations for state-aided institutions and a pay increase for state employes.

Income Tax Endorsed By Pa. Chamber

HARRISBURG (AP) — A personal income tax for Pennsylvanians has been endorsed by the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce as preferable to one that would hike business taxes by more than 85 per cent.

Robert Hibbard, executive director of the chamber, said Monday his group was endorsing the personal tax as the most equitable method of solving the state's current and future fiscal problems.

"By comparison, the tax package which is presently being proposed by the House Democratic leadership would deal a severe blow to all of the efforts to develop new industry and expand employment opportunities," Hibbard said.

Hibbard said the business tax increase proposed by Democrats "is a far cry from the 70 per cent general taxes and 30 per cent corporate advocated by the governor's bipartisan Tax Study and Revision Commission."

Generally, the consumer now pays between 70 and 75 per cent of the state's taxes with business paying the rest.

Gov. Shafer proposed a general 3 per cent tax on total personal income in his 1969-70 fiscal budget and estimated it would yield about $495 million.

Grocery stores carried some 867 items in 1928, compared with 7,350 in 1967 and a predicted 10,000 by 1970.

Flood Threats Seen

Torrential Rains Taper Off In Mid-Atlantic Area

By The Associated Press

Rainfall during the night generally was light by recent standards. Four- to 6-inch downpours swamped portions of eastern Pennsylvania Sunday night and early Monday.

A state of emergency was declared Monday night in East Stroudsburg, Pa., due to local flooding. Rising flood waters from rain-fed creeks turned the Pocono Mountain resort community of Canadensis into a near ghost town. The precise number of persons evacuated was not determined.

Effects of the heavy rains ranged over most of New Jersey and across a large part of New York. Flooded basements and streets were numerous throughout Monday.

Downpours which swept the upstate New York community of Liberty sent a 3-foot flood of water through the town's main street. Sullivan County authorities declared their Catskill Mountain county a disaster area.

Days of off-and-on rain along the Eastern Seaboard left some residents determined to enjoy life despite the bad weather. A crowd of 2,000 young people sat for five hours Monday night in New York's Central Park—during an intermittent downpour—to hear a concert by the Butterfield Blues band. Only a handful bothered with umbrellas.

The storms also ranged south into Maryland and Virginia. Nearly 3 inches of rain soaked Washington, D.C., through Monday.

Farther to the south, the season's first tropical storm, Anna, was expected to intensify to hurricane force later today. The storm was more than three days away from any land area, however.

Clear and cooler weather rolled across the Midwest in the wake of the Northeastern rains. Temperatures fell into the 50s and 60s over much of the Plains, Midwest and Great Lakes region.

Conviction Upheld By Appeals Court

CINCINNATI (AP)—The 1st District Court of Appeals upheld Monday the conviction of Albert L. Lederer, 22, serving an indeterminate reformatory term for possession of narcotics.

Lederer was convicted by a common pleas court jury. More than $250,000 worth of marijuana was taken at the time of his arrest, police reported.

Whisky Removed From Stolen Truck

CINCINNATI (AP) — Thieves took a tractor - trailer loaded with whisky from the All Ohio Express Inc., storage terminal here over the weekend and abandoned it after removing 148 cases valued at $7,400.

Police said the rig was found on the city's eastern outskirts Monday and that 652 cases of whisky still were inside.

Clerk's Position Will Be Filled At Cumberland

He will fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Nedra Schlee, effective this coming Thursday.

Mayor Bartley had requested Mrs. Schlee to serve as clerk after he took office July 1. She said she would do so for a month, if given some help with the duties. No assistant was named.

Mrs. Schlee will take her second week of vacation from Aug. 1 to 7, during which time she will be in the city building to complete some unfnished business, namely the water - sewage refunds. She said that although she will be in the building, it will be closed to the public.

At the Aug. 4 session, action will be taken on a request for a salary increase for the city's two employes and on the park board which was set up at the close of former Mayor Jack Watson's administration.

Mayor Bartley reported he has requested an audit of the city books by the West Virginia Tax Department.

'Work Night' Set

St. Clair Seeks Aid With Mowing

The need for mowing equipment was discussed at a meeting of the St. Clair Township trustees Monday night.

Several requests for roadside mowing have been received, but the township mower is inoperable, and it is too late to advertise for bids and purchase a new machine.

Anyone with a tractor and mower interested in doing township work may notify Robert Simms, trustee chairman.

Street opening permits were granted to the Ohio Valley Gas Co. for Cannons Mills Rd. and Coolidge Ave. Bills totaling $3,428 were paid. The next meeting will be Monday night.

Chester Council Acts On Variety Of Matters

Among other things, the legislators gave second reading to a new franchise for the Monongahela Power Co.; took steps to set up a new insurance program; heard a complaint relative to property damage, and pressed Penn Central for repairs to its bridge on 3rd St.

—:—

A COMPLAINT by Matt Steple of Pyramus Ave. on property damage resulting from digging by Blaine Dotson on adjoining land was referred to Frank DeCaupio, street program chairman, for investigation.

Welty Vulgamore, a representative of the Nationwide Insurance Co., was asked to submit an estimate on the cost of complete coverage for the city at Council's next meeting following a general discussion last night.

The city's present policies, now with the E. G. Jackson Agency, have either expired or will expire in the near future, it was pointed out.

After an inquiry by Councilman Roy Cashdollar, City Clerk Richard Johnson said that warning signs to protect children using playgrounds will be ordered immediately.

After a discussion, Council declared that it would be up to the owner — and not the city— to cut down a tree on the Oscar Six property.

Requests for a re - cleaning of the ditch on Fairview Rd. due to the recent heavy rains and a drainage ditch for Singer Dr. were referred to the street department.

COUNCILMAN William Tuttle remarked that lumber from a house on Fairview St. being torn down has been placed on top of a fire hydrant near the house. He was asked to notify whoever is doing the demolishing to remmve the lumber.

City Solicitor John Hines informed Council that the firm of Jordan and Flowers will represent the city in three sidewalk injury suits.

He noted that a city ordinance requires owners to keep sidewalks in front of their property clean.

Hines also reported that he had sent a letter to Keith Cox instructing him to repair a broken sewer line on his propery, but has received no reply.

A letter also was sent to Albert Murphy of Charles St. instructing him to connect to the city sewage system. Hines reported that Murphy said he will do so when the lines are brought up to his property.. During a discussion on the matter, Councilman Kenny Williams said that "if a sewage line is available, he has to hook onto it." To which Cashdollar replied, "the whole issue is based on what you consider available."

According to a regulation of the city sewer board, the city is required to bring the line within 50 feet of private property.

At the present time, the sewage line does no come within 50 feet of the Murphy property, but the city will be willing to extend the line if he is willing to connect on to it, council decided.

HINES SAID that he had written a letter to the Penn Central Railroad asking that its bridge on 3rd St. be repaired, pointing out if it fails to do so the city will do the work.

He suggested that the city look into the possibilty of having the bridge condemned both above and below instead of repairing it.

"If the city repairs the bridge, it automatically will be responsible along the railroad for any accidents that may occur," Hines warned.

The matter was tabled until the railroad company had adequate time to reply to the letter.

A motion was made, and then retracted, authorizing signing a contract with the M.R.W. Asphal Co. of Hanoverton, Ohio, when it was discovered that the contract as presented by the firm did not state amounts of material to be used or yardage to be covered.

A special meeting will be called with representatives of the company before the Aug. 11 starting date of the street program in an effort to iron out the problems.

Fine, Jail Term Given Driver, 39

Meanwhile, the court granted a continuance until next Tuesday in the case of Melvin L. Harris of 1071 Pennsylvania Ave., cited early Friday on Pennsylvania Ave. on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol, resisting arrest and using indecent language and profanity.

Father Finds Young Genius Summer Job

MIAMI (AP) — Like hundreds of other college teachers, Edith Stern has a summer job. Unlike the others, however, she's working because her father got tired of having her loll about the house.

She's only 16.

"I spent the first couple of weeks of the summer doing nothing . . . just reading and relaxing," said Edith, a plump brunette. "But my father decided I had loafed long enough."

So in late June she went to work for IBM and currently is steeping herself in computer logic and language.

"Space technology is closely tied with computers and that's one big reason I'm so interested in this field, I'm a real science fiction nut," she said.

Edith, a recognized genius, graduated from college last summer—seven years early. She spent last winter teaching basic college algebra and trigonometry at Michigan State University and working part-time on her master's degree in math.

"I was scared to death that first day," she recalled. "I was petrified. I'd never lectured to a class before. But really there's nothing to it—after the first day."

She has mixed emotions about teaching.

"One can lose one's temper with those students who refuse to understand, won't do their home work and so forth," she said. "But it's also a good feeling to see the students who worked so hard finally pull through."

Edith said she had no real discipline problems. "I found a cold look and a simple statement of authority could handle it," she explained.

Several students, upon learning her age, tried to "snow me," she said, "but I quickly put that down."

Enrollment Hits Summer High At Kent State Here

King said this is the largest attendance for the summer quarter at the center. In 1968, 211 were enrolled.

Thieves Rip Siding, Steal TV And Radio

Thieves ripped a 4-by-8-foot sheet of siding from the rear of the Glenmoor auction building Sunday night and stole a $250 colored television set and a $15 transistor radio.

Owners Dan and Cecile Brand reported the burglary to the sheriff's office Monday. They said they live within 30 feet of the building and have a watchdog, but heard nothing during the night.

Sheriff's Deputy Robert Wellington investigated.

Nixon Aides Disagree On Space Issue

SEATTLE (AP) — Two members of President Nixon's cabinet have called for a lower priority for space expenditures, but Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says he still believes the nation should aim to put a man on Mars in this century.

"We should stop giving space a No. 1 priority," Secretary of Housing and Urban Development George Romney told newsmen after the opening session of the Western Governors' Conference Monday.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert Finch said space officials "will have to show much greater budgetary restraint than has been the case in the past."

"Instead of saying we will spend what it takes to put a man on a certain planet," Finch said at a news conference, "we are going to have to say to NASA (the National Aeronautics and Space Administration) 'This is your chunk of the pie.' "

Agnew, in a television interview after addressing the governors, said: "We should level in on a target that is understandable and meaningful. I think that Mars is a realistic objective."

A Columnist's Mailbag

By HAL BOYLE

American families, despite brief upturns in size, are gradually growing smaller. The average family in 1790, when the first census was made, had 5.7 members. Today it has 3.7 members.

Lack of money may limit your financial philanthropy. But until your 66th birthday you can always give blood. After that age, the Red Cross requires written consent from the donor's physician.

Men are worse litterbugs than women, a survey found. People between 21 and 35 litter twice as much as those between 35 and 49, and three times as much as people over 50. Oddly enough, the survey found that city people litter less than those in small communities.

The Swiss are among the most news-minded people on earth despite the fact few world-shaking events occur in their small country. Although Switzerland has a population of only six million, it supports more than 400 newspapers, including 100 dailies.

Expanding U.S. firms are seeking greater profits abroad. The top 100 corporations transfer 35,000 executives in and out of this country each year. The Schardl Linguistic Systems, which specializes in tutoring them in foreign languages, estimates it costs $15,000 to train and relocate a business executive.

Quotable notables: "Practical people would be a lot more practical if they were just a little more dreamy."—J. P. McEvoy.

Tooth decay has always been prevalent in England, where the diet typically contains a high percentage of carbohydrates. Among children it is so rampant that some only three years old are being fitted with dentures because so many of their milk teeth have had to be extracted.

Crowded heavens: How big is the universe? Well, the National Geographic Society estimates it contains about 100,000 million billion stars—or a star for each grain of sand on all the beaches of the world.

Looking for a career with Uncle Sam? Maybe you'd better begin by getting a law degree. About 44 per cent of the top men in government posts have a background of legal training.

Keep cool: Heat waves kill about 175 Americans a year, but in 1952 a record toll of 1,401 was exacted. You are more likely to become a victim if you get too much sun, eat too heavily, have a respiratory or circulatory disease, dress too warmly, live in the center of a city, or are elderly.

Armstrong Pleased With Museum Plans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Astronaut Neil Armstrong has expressed pleasure over Gov. James A. Rhodes' proposal to build a museum in his honor at Wapakoneta, Armstrong's home town.

"Tell the governor that I am highly honored and most pleased to accept his proposal," Armstrong told his mother in a telephone conversation shortly after he returned from the moon.

Portions of the conversation were related Monday by Daniel Porter, executive director of the Ohio Historical Society.

Porter said response to the governor's proposal has been "terrific" and construction of the $1 million museum should begin within a short time. He said it will be one of tre "finest educational museums in America."

Stokes Charges Cities Slighted In Crime Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Big cities aren't getting their share of federal aid for police protection, Cleveland Mayor Carl B. Stokes said Monday.

Stokes told the House Crime Committee that present legislation is putting too much money into small communities when the bulk of the crime problem is in metropolitan areas.

Stokes also urged Congress to tighten up existing firearms legislation.

He said efforts in Cleveland to enact gun registration laws have "encouraged stiff opposition from some of those who had been crying most loudly for law and order in our community."

The term law and order, he said, has come to mean "the suppression of protest against injustices and wrongs, the unwillingness to redress grievances, the unwillingness to attack poverty and discrimination."

This house is one in a thousand. For every one of these, 999 homes in this area can be economically converted to electric heat. That's one reason why the switch to flameless electric heat is breaking all records. People who have it are comparing their bills for electric heat against their former fuel bills and are telling their friends it cost (1) "about the same," (2) "a fraction more" or, (3) "a little less." If you're beginning to think your home could be converted and heated inexpensively with electric heat, the chances are 999 out of a thousand you're right. Let us prove it. Get a free estimate.

Charged In Shooting

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Joseph Thomas, 74, of Cleveland was charged with second-degree murder Monday by Cleveland Police for the fatal shooting Saturday of John Banks, 43, of Cleveland.

2 Offer Bids For Cruisers

Two firms filed bids Monday noon with the city government on purchase of three 1970 model sedans for use as police cruisers.

Mike Turk, Inc., submitted the apparent low offer of $5,608 net on three Chevrolet Biscayne four - door sedans.

The city will determine the best offer on the basis of the net price after deductions for trade-in of three vehicles—two 1968 model Dodge sedans and a 1968 Plymouth sedan. The city asked for alternate bids — one covering a new car with the Plymouth in trade and the other on two new autos with the two Dodges in trade.

Turk offered one new Chevrolet at $2,636 less a $700 trade-in on the Plymouth, for a net price of $1,936. It offered two new Chevrolets at a total of $5,272, less a $1,600 trade-in on the Dodges, which made a net price of $7,352 for three 1970 model Ford custom four - door sedans.

Its gross bid on the autos was $8,802, or $2,934 each. Its trade-in offer showed $550 for one of the Dodges, $500 for the other and $400 for the Plymouth, which would cut the net price for the three cars to $7,352.

Mayor George E. Willshaw, Engineer George S. Bloomgren and Auditor L. J. Zollinger represented the city government at the bid - opening. Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey was absent because he is hospitalized. He and the mayor comprise the Board of Control, which will award the contract.

Purpose of the "Hospitalk" is to strengthen communication among the more than 400 employes and to keep interested individuals and organizations informed on hospital activities.

Mrs. Mary Susan Conti, journalistic stenographer, is in charge of compiling and distributing the newspaper. The initial "Hospitalk" will be sent the hospital staff, auxiliary, clergymen, state medical and hospital organizations, service organizations and others. It will be distributed at the hospital to employees and patients.

Pope Paul Plans Visit To Uganda

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — Two days before the arrival of Pope Paul VI to honor 22 Ugandan martyrs, Kampala is throbbing with papal fever.

"You might say Uganda has gone on a pope-mania binge," said a local African prelate. "It's as if everyone was trying to outdo his neighbor."

Everywhere around Kampala, and along the more than 50 miles of roads the Pontiff will cover, every telegraph post bears either a white and yellow Vatican banner or the Ugandan flag.

In town, the local movie theater is offering a bill of fare to whet pilgrims' appetite's—"The Shoes of the Fisherman" with Anthony Quinn as a future Pope,

Enterprising Ugandans are peddling everything from books on the lives of the African martyrs to shirts and ties decorated with the figures of Pope Paul and President Milton Obote in garish colors. The government, which has monopolized the souvenir business, had them made in Hong Kong and they are on sale at $3 each.

Other items on sale include a papal medal, engravings, and specially stamped coins.

Schools are holding exhibitions of children's art and several Ugandans will offer the Pontiff a suit specially made for him out of the bark of banana trees, which provide the national staple food.

Twenty-two walkers from Vulu have set out for a trek of 200 miles on foot to Namugongon, where the Pontiff will consecrate a shrine to the first African saints of modern times.

A five-day culture festival offers a martyrs' play and other religious presentations.

Uganda radio has entered into the spirit by blaring a "Pope chachacha song" at regular intervals.

Officials, although gladdened by the display of enthusiasm, fear it might get out of control when the Pope touches down at Entebbe Airport and drives into Kampala on Thursday.

Although Uganda is about 35 per cent Catholic, some officials believe the Pope may have to fight a crush of hundreds of others wanting to touch him in scenes reminiscent of his trip to Bombay in 1964.

Although they can occur at all hours, tornados develop mostly between three and seven p.m., when maximum heating takes place.

Man Treated After Mishap

A 22-year-old East Liverpool man was treated at City Hospital following a one - car accident on the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd. about three miles west of Route 170 Monday at 3:15 p.m.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said William H. Treleven of 412 Burrows Ave. was driving a 1965 coach west when it veered off the road and struck an embankment.

A Columbiana man was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way at a stop sign as the result of an accident on Route 164 just east of Lisbon Monday at 7:50 a. m.

Stanley J. Gurney of Columbiana, driving a 1968 sedan, pulled his auto into the path of a car operated by Richard J. Dowd, 16, of Lisbon RD 5.

Neither driver was injured.

Gerald Smith, 34, of Rogers RD 1, was driving a tractor-trailer on Route 30 just east of the Stark County line Monday at 9:45 a.m. when, in an attempt to avoid an oncoming car, he left the road and struck a utility pole.

Gipp of Salem RD 2, "Solid Waste Disposal;" Lillian Schroeder of Salem, "Senate Bill 137 — Fluoridation," Frank Bezdek of Signal, "Extended Telephone Service," and Milton C. Sell, director of the County Regional Planning Commission.

Southern Local Seeks Vote On $160,000 Issue

The Southern Local School District filed a resolution with the County Election Board Monday seeking a new vote on a proposed $160,000 bond issue to finance construction of six new classrooms at its high school.

A similar issue was rejected at the May primaries. The bonds would be retired over a 16-year period with a 1.1 - mill levy on real estate, the resolution says.

Southern Local also asked a vote on renewal of an 8.8-mill levy to provide funds for current operating expenses. In effect for "a continuing period of time," the levy would begin with the tax year 1969.

Meanwhile, Franklin Township filed a proposed new 1.8-mill levy to raise money for "providing and maintaing fire apparatus." It would be in effect five years.

Crackdown Set On Restaurants

That was the word Monday from City Consumer Affairs Commissioner Bess Myerson Grant in announcing that a dozen restaurants have received summonses for adulterating hamburgers with starch, soy flower or excessive fats.

The burgers are supposed to consist of pure chopped beef, with a maximum fat content of 30 per cent.

"We intend to go out again and again until sellers of hamburgers learn that 'Thou shalt not commit adulteration,'" Mrs. Grant declared in announcing a crackdown.

Maverick gives you 10.4 cu. ft. of trunk space—nearly twice as much as the leading import. Now the whole family's luggage can go along for the ride.

It doesn't squeeze you in.
Some big people live in this country. That's why we made Maverick bigger than the imports. Lots of legroom and shoulder room.

It's great for parking, great for handling, great for zipping through traffic.

It doesn't cost a lot for maintenance.
You can do most maintenance jobs yourself, if you want. If your mechanic does it, he can do it in a lot less time. Great when time is money and the money is yours.

Maverick oil changes and chassis lubrication come less often than in the leading import. (Isn't it time you started seeing less of your mechanic and more of your car?)

Maverick gives you tough brakes, unitized body construction, rustproofing, and four coats of paint. Its 3-speed transmission is able to handle twice as much horsepower as the engine turns out.

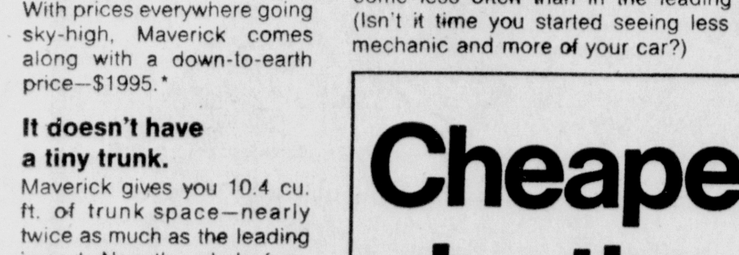

It doesn't burn a lot of gas.

Turn on the engine and turn loose 105 horses—nearly twice as much as the leading import. This means highway power, passing power. The kind of power you need.

The road might be wet and the wind strong but Maverick's tread is wider than the car is high—great for stability. (Most economy imports are higher than their tread is wide.)

Maverick's new, different. A bright idea with bold, new colors. See your Ford Dealer for the rest of the story. Find out why Maverick is the hottest selling new car to come along since Mustang.

Cards, Cubs Edge Opponents

BECKERT ERASED. Glenn Beckert of the Chicago Cubs is tagged out by San Francisco first baseman Willie McCovey in Monday's game at Wrigley Field, Chicago. Juan Marichal made the throw from the mound. Umpire Andy Olsen made the call. Cubs rallied to win the 10-inning game, 4-3.

Pinson Just 1 Game Shy Of Hit Mark

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Vada Pinson and Billy Williams attended to their private business in plenty of time to become good company men when the chips were down.

Pinson ran his hitting streak to 19 games with a fourth inning single Monday night, then came up with the deciding hit and saving defensive play in the St. Louis Cardinals' 2-1 victory over San Diego.

Williams also singled in the fourth, for a 17-game hitting skein, before stroking the winning single in a two-run 10th inning rally that sent the Chicago Cubs past San Francisco 4-3 in the day's only other game.

The action picks up in both the National and American Leagues today, with 17 games listed on the schedule.

In the NL, Houston is at New York, Atlanta at Philadelphia and Los Angeles at Pittsburgh for twi-night doubleheaders, San Diego at St. Louis and Montreal at Cincinnati for single night games and San Francisco at Chicago in the afternoon.

New York visits Oakland, Boston is at California, Washington at Seattle and Baltimore at Kansas City in AL night games while Detroit plays a twi-night twin bill at Minnesota and Chicago visits Cleveland for another pair under lights.

Pinson matched the NL's season-high hitting streaks, shared by Pittsburgh's Matty Alou and Willie Stargell, with his fourth inning single, then doubled to score Julian Javier in the sixth and give St. Louis a 2-0 lead.

Cardinals' rookie Chuck Taylor blanked the Padres until the eighth, when they scored on an error by Javier, an infield hit by Ed Spiezio and a double by Roberto Pena.

An intentional walk filled the bases with one out, but Pinson gloved Nate Colbert's foul fly down the right field line and fired to the plate to nail pinch runner John Sipin, completing a rally-killing double play.

Javier cracked a leadoff homer off loser Dick Kelley in the first inning and singled ahead of Pinson's RBI double in the sixth, helping Taylor gain his third victory without a loss.

Juan Marichal walked pinch hitter Willie Smith with two out in the 10th, and Don Kessinger, Glenn Beckert and Williams followed with singles, giving the Cubs their first Wrigley Field victory over the Giants' ace in five years.

The Giants overcame a 2-0 deficit on Willie McCovey's two-run homer off Bill Hands in the eighth and took a 3-2 lead in the top of the 10th on Willie Mays' run-scoring single.

The victory increased the Cubs' East Division lead over second place New York to five games.

AARON FINALLY WINS. Tommy Aaron accepts the Seagr am Gold Cup from Mr. Charles Bronfman, president of Seagram's after the 32-year-old Aaron won the Canadian Golf Tour nament in a playoff Monday. Aaron's playoff round of 70 was two better than Sam Snead who carded a 72.

Bests Snead In Playoff

Aaron's 70 Earns Win After Much Frustration

MONTREAL (AP) — Tommy Aaron has joined golf's establishment.

He's finally shed the stigma of the perennial also-ran by winning a tournament.

The tall, 32-year-old from Callaway Gardens, Ga., made it to the winner's circle Monday after a nine-year wait, capturing the Canadian Open Championship by two strokes in an 18-hole playoff round with veteran Sam Snead—25 years his senior.

"I guess you won't talk about the fact I've never won one now," Aaron gently chided newsmen. "You'll probably quit writing about me because there's nothing unique about me now. I've become one of the guys. I've won one."

Aaron shot a two-under-par 70 over the Pinegrove Golf Club layout while Snead had to settle for a par 72.

His victory was a big one financially as well as psychologically. He won $25,000 to Snead's $14,300 and added $4,500 as his share of the gate.

Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., also picked up $4,500 additional money from gate receipts of $18,000 from the estimated 3,000-strong gallery. Fifty per cent of playoff gates are assigned to the golfers involved, with the Royal Canadian Golf Association and the host club equally splitting the other 50 per cent.

The pair had finished the regulation 72-hole route Sunday with identical 13-under -par 275 scores, with Aaron setting a course record with a eight-under 64 in the fourth round to catch Snead.

The veteran had held a six-stroke lead over Aaron entering Sunday's round.

Aaron had registered eight second-place finishes since turning pro in 1960, but had never been able to better those performances.

However, he did his first victory up in style. Leading by one stroke going into the 18h, Aaron guided in a 25-foot putt for an eagle 3, while Snead had his eagle attempt from 40 feet miss by less than an inch and slide four feet beyond the cup.

Snead birdied the hole, but only after the excitement caused by Aaron's efforts had died down.

Snead, who previously won the Canadian title in 1938, 1940 and 1941, got off to a poor start Monday when he went one-over for a 6 on the par-5 600-yard first hole. Aaron parred that one, but the second saw the situation reversed.

They traded birdies on the third and the veteran moved one stroke up on the fourth only to have Aaron pull his 75-foot birdie putt on the fifth and then get another on the ninth to lead by one stroke at the halfway point.

Aaron was out in a two-under 34 and Snead 35.

However, the tide changed as Aaron was one-over-par on the next three holes and Snead went par-par and then one-over, to take a one-stroke lead.

Aaron evened it up on 14 and then went one up on the next hole when he birdied the short, par-3 15th. Both hit par on 16 and 17 to se the scene for Aaron's eagle finish.

Snead said it wasn't pleasant being beaten, but if he had to lose he was glad it was to a good golfer like Aaron. He had predicted early in the going that Aaron was the golfer to watch.

Eddie Blackburn and Clayton Cochran each captured one win in the redbird shoot. Jerry Cochran. Tolson and Zaplata each had one win in the high gun shoot.

The next shoot will be Wednesday at 7 p. m.

Outduels Shaw In 1-0 Win

McVay's No-Hitter Gives Riverview Series Lead

By BILL WALTZ
Review Sports Editor

Randy McVay threw a masterful no-hitter Monday night to lead Riverview to a 1-0 victory over Richmond to take the first game in the best-two-out-of-three series in the Colt League.

If Riverview, the first half league winner wins this series, it will be crowned 1969 Colt League champions. If Richmond, the second half season champs, rallies and takes the next two contests, another three-game series will be required to decide the league champion.

In Monday's game, McVay was tied up in a terrific pitchers battle with Richmond right-hander Randy Shaw. But McVay was the best of the two hurlers in the contest.

McVay, who has hurled several low-hit games this season finally got a no - hitter last night. He struck out at least one Richmond batter in each inning. In four innings, he fanned two hitters, and struck out the side in the fifth frame. He added single strikeouts in the second and third to record his 13 whiffs for the evening.

The 16-year old righthander walked three Richmond batters, and his infield committed two errors behind him, but his only anxious moments came in the third inning when McVay's own wildness got him in trouble.

He was involved in three 3-2 counts in that frame, and Richmond had two on and two out.

But McVay rared back for that little extra and fanned Richmond shortstop Greg Hickman to snuff the threat.

That was all McVay needed, and to top things off, he never allowed a hit to the opposition.

Riverview threatened to add to its one-run cushion in the sixth when it loaded the bases with two outs. But Shaw got out of the inning when Plant hit a soft liner to the Richmond shortstop.

For McVay it was a night he'll not soon forget — on the mound he gave up no hits, struck out 13, and walked only three.

But Richmond hurler Shaw pitched quite creditably, too, although in a losing cause. His evening's statistics showed two walks and six strikeouts (He struck out the side in the fourth.) He gave up five hits, and got out of two jams in the third and sixth.

But his performance just could not match that of McVay—it was the Riverview hurler's night to shine.

One interesting fact of the game that showed the effectiveness of both pitchers was that there were no putouts recorded by the outfielders of either squad.

The second game of the current series will be played Wednesday night at 6 p.m. at Richmond. A third contest if necessary, is slated for Colt Field Thursday at the same time.

Dale Baird Ranks Second In National Owner Race

Owner Dale Baird, who annually makes a shambles of the trainer standings at Waterford Park, currently stands in second place in the National Owner Rankings, according to the latest figures released from New York.

Through the first six months of 1969, the Illinois horseman had won 54 races in 255 attempts with his own horses.

Marion H. Van Berg leads the national owner standings with 203 winners, but that veteran horseman had started an amazing total of 858 horses.

Four Waterford Park jockeys were ranked among the nation's leaders in the number of races won and Roy Cave, the current leader at the track, was the local leader.

Cave was in sixth place with 124 victories to his credit.

Other Waterford riders who made the big board were Bill Sollars 11th, 109 wins; Owen Headley, 14th, 102 wins; and Ray Nakama, 19th, 96 wins.

Baird, celebrating the announcement that he stands second nationally in races won by an owner and also in number of scored a consecutive triple at Waterford Park Monday night.

Baird started his string in the sixth race when Bersea proved much the best over Mister Snow Man and Gem's Mike. In the seventh, it was Col. Vaughn and in the eighth, Yankee Go Home proved best.

Bill Sollars rode the first and third winners, but guessed wrong in the seventh race when he took the mount on Biard's Sheapard's Hope, the entrymate to Col. Vaughn. Sheapard's Hope finished a belated seventh in that race.

Brokaw Best At 9 Holes; Sons To Perform Friday

G. W. Brokaw took the Selective 9 Holes contest at East Liverpool Country Club over the weekend. Brokaw's 30 was one better than Bill Hocking, Jr. Another shot back were Ed Adkins and Dick Witherow who carded 32s.

In the second division, Grant Stover had a 31 in the same contest.

Rain washed out scheduled Club events Sunday, but officials are hoping for better weather this weekend, especially Friday when the annual Father - Son golf tournament is slated.

The duos will play nine holes in medal play by selective drives and alternate shots. There will be three divisions.

The first division will be for the sons that are 16 years and older; the second division includes those 13-15 inclusively; and the third set is made up of those 12 years of age and under.

There will be prizes available for the longest drive on the no. 1 hole in the third division, and the person that hits closest to the pin on the no. 6 hole from either the second or third division will also be the winner of a prize.

Everything gets under way at 5 p.m. Friday afternoon, and to make the golfers work a little harder on the links, the East Liverpool Country Club has arranged to have a patio dinner immediately after play is completed.

Toot Victim Of No-Hitter

Toot Trucking of Lisbon, leader of the Columbiana County Softball League, was the victim of a 1-0 no-hitter in the Youngstown District Tournament Monday night at Todd Park, Youngstown.

Tom Steele of L. & R. Sports, Youngstown City League champion, pitched the masterpiece. John Stoffer who pitched for the Truckers in their state tourney appearance last year, allowed but four hits but one was a first-inning triple which accounted for the only tally.

The Toot nine has another chance since this is a double-elimination tourney. The Truckers will play another Monday night loser at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Todd Park.

Two league games are scheduled tonight at the Salem Rd. field — Salem vs. Wellsville Appliance at 5:45 and Albco Foundry of Lisbon vs. Uncle Pete's of Wellsville at 7.

The New York Yankees have won 29 pennants, 13 ahead of runnerup San Francisco (formerly New York).

Ella May Hayman Has Birdie

By BILL WALTZ
Review Sports Editor

Several golfers were sacred off by the early morning threat of rain, but most of the 22 women that participated in the Ladies Handicap Golf Tournament at Waterford Park Monday played in the beautiful sunshine.

And the heat bothered some of the golfers, but there were some low scores turned in, and each of the three flights had a close race before the individual winners were determined.

Ella Mae Hayman, thanks to a birdie 2 on the 155-yard 15th hole, won the championship flight (12-17 handicap) with a final score of 78-17-61. That was one stroke better than Helen Hvizdak who carded a 77-15-62.

In the A flight (18-26 handicap), Jenny Lanatrice walked off with first place honors with a final score of 89-24-65. One stroke back was Dorothy M. Wargacki with a 92-26-65.

And in the B flight (27 handicap), Doris Gasaway took honors with a 96-27-69, two shots better than second place finisher Nancy Gryska whose scorecard showed a 98-27-71.

All winners and second place finishers received trophies and gift certificates, and also receiving an award was Ann Smith, who recorded the lowest number of putts for the day — 30.

Waterford Park Pro Mario Carfagno also announced two other golf events scheduled for this weekend at the course. Saturday and Sunday will be the days for two features, the second annual Waterford Open, and also at the same time, the hole-in-one contest.

The $10 entry fee for the Open includes green fees for the 36-hole medal play. Prizes will be decided by the number of entries. Last year, more than 80 golfers tried the tough par three layout, and Buster Graham, a husky West Virginia Wesleyan College student, won the tourney with a two-over-par-60. He'll try to make it two in a row this weekend.

Also this weekend, area golfers are invited to compete in the hole-in-one contest to be held on the course's driving range.

A pin will be placed a decided distance from the tee, with a six-foot circle around it. A ball nearest to the cup will mean a new set of aluminum shaft woods to its hitter, plus anyone who puts his shot in the circle will win a new golf ball.

Petrosol Advances With Win

Petrosol, whipped has Midland, 13-0 behind Tim Fenton's three-hitter. The winners banged out 15 hits, including three by Steve Baker. Fiev other Petrosol batters had two his apiece. Kent Montgomery banged a two-run homer for Petrosol.

Then, in the Monday night cap, Tad's Pontiac was on the wrong end of a 9-0 score, with Miller's Super Service getting the win. Tad's Pontiac is therefore eliminated from the tourney, but local hopes are still alive with Petrosol which will meet Super Service in a semi-final game Wednesday night. If Petrosol wins that contest, it will advance to the finals which are scheduled for Friday night in Midland.

Von Erich Heads Weirton Card

The Millsop Community Center in Weirton will be the scene Friday night of thrilling big time wrestling at 8:30 p.m.

In the headliner, Waldo von Erich, 275-pound German will team up with Crazy Luke Graham against Antonio Pugliese and the Battman in a two out of three fall Australian tag match.

Pugliese is cousin to the top wrestler internationally, Bruno Sammartino. Von Erich and Battman faced each other in a recent match in East Liverpool.

Three other matches complete the Weirton card. Ivan Koloff battles Frank Holtz, Sicillian Tony Altomare meets newcomer Tony Angelo, and the other Sicillian, Lou Albano trades grips with popular John L. Sullivan.

Tickets for the show are on sale at the Trojan Sports Center in Weirton, and at the Millsop Sport Center. The Wheel Restaurant in Steubenville, Ohio also will be selling tickets for the card.

Prices are ringside $3.00; general admission $2.00, and children under 12 $1.00.

NWU Star Released

All-Stars Elect ND Captains

CHICAGO (AP) — The College All-Stars will send a Notre Dame flavored offense and a highly regarded defense against the New York Jets Friday night in the 36th annual All-Star football game in Soldier Field.

Notre Dame quarterback Terry Hanratty and Irish tackle George Kunz Monday were named co-captains on offense, while cornerback Jim Marsalis of Tennessee State and linebacker Bob Babich of Miami of Ohio will co-captain the defense.

Head Coach Ottio Graham, who had requested the players not to make the voting a popularity contest, was pleased with the selections.

"The results prove they took this seriously," said Graham. "These four men not only are outstanding athletes, they have been the hardest workers in our training camp."

Hanratty could be the key of the All-Stars hope to whip the Jets and Joe Namath. In three years at Notre Dame, Hanratty piled up 4,738 total yards to break the offense record of George Gipp and set 15 school records.

The last times the All-Stars won was in 1963 when Ron VanderKelen hurled them to a 20-17 triumph over Green Bay. The victory before that was a 35-10 decision over Detroit on the passing of Jim Ninowski.

Graham is not concerned about his offense as much as he is the defense. He is fully aware that the pros' pass patterns usually baffle the collegians in the All-Star game.

Although he will be without the services of LeRoy Keyes of Purdue, who like O.J. Simpson of Southern California and Ron Johnson of Michigan, will be missing because of contract squabbles with their respective clubs, Graham is high on his defensive secondary.

"All the way along in training camp I have been impressed with our defensive secondary," said Graham. "As a group I think it has the speed and quickness to do the job. I'll be disappointed if the Jets get any cheap, quick touchdowns."

Nevertheless, the All-Stars figure to be somewhere around 13 points underdogs against the Jets, who defeated the Baltimore Colts 16-7 in the Super Bowl to become the first American Football League team to qualify for the All-Star game.

Campy, Stan Enter 'Hall'

By BEN DE FOREST

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Four new plaques hang on the walls of the Baseball Hall of Fame today. Two honor pitchers from the dim past, while the other two are for a couple of sluggers known even to the younged generation of fans.

Officially enshrined Monday in this village where baseball was born were pitchers Stan Coveleski and Waite Hoyt and slugging stars Roy Campanella and Stan "The Man" Musial.

Hundreds of fans jammed into Cooper Park to see the ceremony, then walked a couple of blocks to Doubleday Field for the annual Hall of Fame game. The Minnesota Twins thrashed the Houston Astros 7-2 on homers by Frank Quilici, Tony Oliva and Graig Nettles before the game was called after five innings because of rain.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn introduced the new Hall of Fame members at the ceremony and read the inscriptions on their plaques.

Campanella, in a wheelchair since an auto crash in 1958 ended his catching career with the Brooklyn Dodgers, said, "Regardless of my being here today in a wheelchair this is one of the greatest days in my life. Today means so much to me."

Musial, who played 22 years for the St. Louis Cardinals and still holds a host of batting records, almost broke up when he recalled his boyhood in the steel town of Donora, Pa.

"My father," he said, "was a Polish imigrant and a great baseball fan. I always remember him talking about Babe Ruth. The Musials were poor then, and my first toy was a baseball."

He also reminisced about playing against Campanella and the Dodgers. "Campy was always trying to distract me," he said. "It wasn't the Brooklyn pitchers who got me. It was Campy."

Coveleski, now white haired and bent with age, won 216 games in a 14-season career in the majors in the early 1900s. He choked up, too, when it was his turn to be officially inducted, but he managed to go on.

He told of working for $3.75 a week in the coal mines around his native Shamokin, Pa., and of chunking stones at a tin can dangling from a tree—a past-time that sharpened his pitching skills.

Several openings still remain for this year's Martins Ferry Slo-Pitch Softball Tournament which is scheduled to open this Saturday.

Deadline for entries, according to tourney director Ed Zeroski, is this Thursday night. Entry fee is $25. A drawing will be held shortly after the entry deadline to decide the pairings.

Fourteen teams are now entered, according to Zeroski, with room for 20 or 24. Twenty teams participated in 1968, with Murphy's construction of Wellsburg winning the title.

Interested teams are asked to call Zeroski at (614) 633-9036 after 3 p.m.

Junior Editors Quiz on OYSTERS

QUESTION: How does an oyster make a pearl, and where does the luster come from?

* * *

ANSWER: Pearls are spoken of as gems, but they are very different from other gems. Most gems are minerals, stones; their surfaces are hard, their colors usually sharp, glittering. In contrast, the pearl has a unique, soft, irridescent quality. You see partly into it. You see soft rainbow colors which seem to shimmer and move but you can't tell exactly what they are. It is the elusive, mysterious character of the pearl which fascinates you, and it is this quality which gives pearls their great value. Pearls begin when some foreign body, such as a grain of sand, works its way between the shells of a pearl oyster. The soft mollusk between the shells can't stand anything gritty, so it coats the sand particle with a smooth, hard, lustrous substance called nacre. In middle left of our picture, we see a pearl forming, with layer after layer of nacre coating the inside particle. Each layer has tiny crystals which break the light into colors. It is the many layers of such color-producing crystals which give the completed pearl its haunting, shimmering beauty.

(Becky Mooney of Auberry, Calif., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)
